Dock Strike Violence Feared

Second Riot Of Anti-Red POWs Quelled

Repatriation Body And UN Command In Angry Exchange

By GEORGE McARTHUR

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission yesterday stamped out the second bloody anti-Red prisoner riot in two days, then engaged in an angry exchange with the Allies.

The exchange took place shortly after Indian guards killed two Chinese prisoners and wounded five others in a mass breakout attempt. A North Korean was killed and five wounded in a similar riot Thursday.

The compounds still seethed. One observer said the Chinese marched about, shouting and beating on tin cans.

Blamed On Organized Groups

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the commission, charged in a statement that that camp violence was the result of "well organized groups" formed before the prisoners were given over to Indian custody.

Thimayya had just received a letter from Brig. Gen. A. L. Hamblen, who handles prisoner matters for the United Nations Command, charging the commission would violate armistice rules if it forced anti-Red prisoners to listen to explanation teams from the Communist side.

Thimayya did not accuse the U. N. Command of organizing the groups. It is known, however, that the U, N. Command had encouraged the prisoners to form strong anti-Communist cores among the 7,800 Koreans and 14,500 Chinese resisting return to Red rule.

Formal Protest

Thimayya also asserted the prisoners "appeared to be misinformed by some interested party"—obviously the Allied side.

He said they had been told while in South Korean camps that they would go to Nationalist Formosa at the end of their detention but under the truce terms they will go to a "neutral country."

Hamblen's letter was a formal protest to the rules of explanations which the commission unanimously adopted. Under these rules, prisoners must listen to repeated arguments from Communist explanation teams.

Hamblen referred Thimayya to the truce rules which provide "no force or threat of force shall be used against the prisoners of war . . . to prevent or effect their repatriation."

The U.N. Command argues that prisoners may refuse to listen to the explanations. Indian officials have refused to discuss the possibility that force will be used on prisoners who have announced they will not listen. But that is implied in the commission rules.

Winds Blow Over "Dangerous" School

MANCHESTER, Ky., Oct. 2 (AP)—A small school building in rural Clay County, closed since Monday by a strike of students protesting that it was "dangerous," was blown over by high winds last night.

Wilk Collet, leader of a group of parents demanding a new school building, said the frame structure was blown off of props supporting it on a hillside and it tumbled about 15 or 20 feet into a creek.

Dewey Demands An Explanation

Acting Lt. Governor Visited Extortionist At Sing Sing Prison

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today demanded a "complete and satisfactory explanation" of his acting lieutenant governor's visits to a labor extortionist in Sing Sing Prison—and Arthur H. Wicks at once denied "any wrongdoing."

Wicks declared his calls on Joseph S. (Joey) Fay were "a public service . . . to avoid labor troubles" in his state senatorial district. Dewey's fellow-Republican said "I personally resent any implication of wrongdoing on my part."

Wicks' Health Poor

The governor reacted swiftly to a State Correction Department report listing the Senate majority leader and acting lieutenant governor among 88 persons, including labor and political figures, who have visited Fay since he went to the prison in 1948.

The exchange—on the day after Wicks took over the duties of former Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore—prompted newsmen to ask whether Dewey had any thought of calling for Wicks' resignation.

Harry O'Donnell, the governor's press secretary, replied the governor would have no further comment at this time. Wicks, 65, has been in poor health recently.

Wicks said at Kingston, where he operates a laundry, that he had visited Fay four or five times in efforts to secure the felon's help in preventing labor disputes on "large public construction projects."

Dewey had declared in a statement:

"I thoroughly disapprove of any public officer calling upon a convicted extortionist, except in the course of his official duties. Public officials who have visited Fay owe the people a complete and satisfactory explanation for their visits."

Clemency Asked

Dewey said "hundreds of requests for clemency and for release on parole" had been received in Fay's behalf.

The New York World-Telegram and the Sun reported today that Paul L. Troast, Republican candidate for governor of New Jersey, once had appealed for commutation of Fay's sentence.

Wicks replied in a statement that his visits "were open and were known to everyone."

Pole Says War Is Only Way To Free Satellites

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—A 28-year-old Pole who fled communism to seek freedom in the United States, said today there is only one way to liberate the Soviet-dominated countries of Europe—by war.

Jan Hajdukiewicz, former member of a Red inspection team in Korea who bolted to the Allies on Sept. 9, said Poland is 99 per cent anti-Communist, but he declared:

"We by ourselves cannot overthrow the Communist regime."

It would be suicide to try it alone, he said, adding:

"We cannot become free without help from abroad."

"Without war there cannot be any liberation of countries subjugated by the Communists," he said.

Hajdukiewicz arrived here by plane from Korea via San Francisco and promptly recorded a Polish-language broadcast to his countrymen for use on the State Department's Voice of America.

In halting English, he told a news conference:

"We (Poles) dream of the moment when the Moscow-made dictatorship in Poland will come to an end and when the Kremlin agents, now lolling behind government desks, will be driven where they first came from—that is, to Moscow.

"The Poles wait anxiously for this moment and place their faith in the United States, straining their hope to the utmost that the longed for help and liberation will come from the American people."

Asked how he expected this country to free the Poles from their Soviet bondage, Hajdukiewicz said it would be disastrous for his countrymen to try an uprising alone. Then he remarked that the only solution is war.

Hajdukiewicz, who had never left Poland until he was unexpectedly chosen as an interpreter for duty in Korea, said he had been encouraged to escape by broadcasts of the Voice of America and Radio Free Europe.

"After hearing them, I knew well that America is truly a land of freedom," he said.

"If I didn't believe it was a land of freedom, I would never have come over."

Jet Aces Ask To Pilot MIG

DES MOINES, Oct. 2 (AP)—Two American jet aces said here today they had asked permission to fly the MIG15 that a North Korean pilot recently flew into United Nations hands.

Maj. James Hagerstrom of Waterloo, Ia., and Capt. Manuel Fernandez of Miami, Fla., told a Chamber of Commerce luncheon they made the request after hearing the plane was to be sent to the United States for test flights.

Since, the United States has offered to return the Russian-built jet airplane, saying it is an old type.

"The only accurate way to compare our F86 Sabre jet and the MIG15 is to fly them against one another with a gun camera, Hagerstrom said.

"I'd like to fly that MIG against any of our pilots who thinks the F86 can compare."

British Plan Moves To End Peace Barrier

Cabinet Proposals Still Secret; Lloyd Called To London

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's Cabinet agreed today on new moves, secret for the present, to break the East-West deadlock over a Korean peace parley.

A few hours after the Cabinet met, the Foreign Office significantly announced Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd had been called back from United Nations headquarters in New York for consultations with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Lloyd has been the British spokesman in negotiations with the United States and other U. N. countries trying to get the Korean peace conference started by Oct. 28—the deadline under the armistice agreement.

Lloyd Due Today

The Russians, presumably representing the Red Chinese point of view, have warned the conference may never take place unless the U. N. adopts their proposal that certain Asian nations such as India, Burma and Pakistan sit in. The U. N. majority has voted against it.

Lloyd is due to arrive here tomorrow.

Another Commonwealth leader, Australian Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey, arrived by plane from New York today for similar consultations. Casey has arranged to meet Churchill Tuesday.

One sure subject of discussion is the Australian stand against the admission of "neutral" nations to the Korean peace conference. In this, Casey has strongly backed the United States position.

No Agreement Reached

Diplomatic officials reported this British proposal has been put to the United States and other U. N. countries planning to attend the Korean peace conference:

That the peace conference as a whole—the Communist side as well as the U. N. side—should agree to invite certain neutrals, including India, to join the deliberations.

This idea implies that the Communists would have to be assured before the peace talks begin that the parley will be broadened.

The informants said the British "understand" the United States is ready to go along with the idea. They stressed no hard and fast agreement has yet emerged.

Police Raid Nets Spinster's Body

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP)—Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Chicago's health director, led a police raid with drawn pistol today to recover the body of an elderly spinster who had been described as fearful of being buried alive.

The police pried open the door of a North Side flat and seized David Corbin, 60, on a charge of keeping a dead person beyond the legal 72-hour limit.

He was a cousin of the woman, Miss Carrie Jackson, 88, who died Tuesday of a heart ailment.

Dr. Bundesen said Corbin barricaded himself in the flat with the body shortly after his cousin's death, telling neighbors through the closed door that the woman's will specified her body remain unburied for two days.

Stories had circulated in the neighborhood that Corbin was trying to resuscitate the body. It was taken to the county morgue.

Erskine Is Given Hero's Hoist

Fear For Boy's Life Mounts; No Clues Found Yet

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 2 (AP)—Fear for the life of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease mounted today even as a spokesman for the wealthy parents denied published reports they had been in contact with the kidnapers through a newspaper want ad and $500,000 ransom had been demanded.

'We have not been in contact with the kidnaper," said Robert Ledterman of Tulsa, a close business and personal associate of the multi-millionaire father.

But Ledterman, who because of his close ties with the family might be used as an intermediary, added:

"We feel that something has to happen today or tonight."

Drawn, tired faces of friends of the family left no doubt that the anxiety over little Bobby was at its peak today—the fifth day since he was abducted from a private Catholic school by a plump woman who posed as his aunt.

The 71-year-old father, Robert C. Greenlease, has said he would go to any length to get his son back. But today Ledterman in denying reports of a possible $500,000 ransom demand said "no figure has been mentioned."

Several newspapers in other cities have published reports the family has been in touch with the kidnapers since Monday night and that a half million dollars had been demanded.

The one line advertisement appeared in the personal column of the Kansas City Star Wednesday and again in its Thursday morning's edition of the Times.

"M—Will meet you in Chicago Sunday—G."

Ledterman denied any knowledge of the ad saying, "I haven't seen it."

Young Messenger Thwarts Holdup With "Nuts To You"

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—A valiant "Nuts to you" today saved a $4,260 payroll for a young messenger on busy 46th street, between Fifth and Madison avenues.

Donald Juers, 18, payroll in hand, was heading for his office when a man came up from behind shoved something into his back and demanded the money.

"What?" the youth asked.

"Give me the payroll. You won't get hurt. I don't want to hurt you," came the reply from the rear.

"Get out of here. Nuts to you," Juers retorted and began struggling with the bandit.

Voting Raises Jury Question

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The question of whether residents of the voteless District of Columbia who maintain voting residences elsewhere may serve on grand juries was argued today in an effort to throw out an indictment against Rep. Ernest K. Bramblett (R-Calif).

Bramblett's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, contended that exclusion from the jury panel of persons who voted outside the district invalidated Bramblett's indictment on 18 counts of false representations in connection with payments to two women on his office payroll.

Frank English, clerk of the jury commission for 21 years, testified that prospective jurors claiming legal residence outside of the District of Columbia and admitting to voting outside the district within the previous four years were automatically excluded from jury service.

Asst. U. S. Atty. William Hitz told Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts that the validity of the same grand jury was challenged in another case before another judge last March and was upheld. Letts will hear further arguments next Tuesday on the motion to dismiss Bramblett's indictment.

Trial of Bramblett is fixed tentatively for Oct. 19.

Seven Killed In Crash

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Oct. 2 (AP)—Seven persons were killed and 16 injured today when a bus collided with a truck near Santo Andre.

Today's Chuckle

The landlady brought in a plateful of extremely thin slices of bread which dismayed her hungry men boarders.

"Did you cut these, Mrs. Brown?" asked one.

"Yes, I cut them" was the stern reply.

Communist Led French Strikes Fizzle Quickly

PARIS, Oct. 2 (AP)—Communist labor unions called two 24-hour flash strikes today, one on southwestern France's railroads and the other in the central telegraph office of Paris, but both fizzled out before noon without seriously affecting services.

Trains were delayed at nearly all the main points on lines between Paris and Marselle when the Communist General Confederation of Labor (CGT) called out station workers. But the strike order was rescinded at Lyon, the key rail center, early in the day.

In the Paris telegraph office, several dozen workers left their jobs at midnight, causing a brief interruption in some services, but there was no general walkout and operations were normal by 9 a.m.

Although unsuccessful, the strikes were regarded in some official circles and by newspapers as an ominous foretaste of what might be in store for the country when the National Assembly reconvenes next Tuesday, Oct. 6.

The CGT, the newspapers reported, has made an agreement with the Catholic Christian Workers Confederation (CFTC) to appeal to all employes in the electric and gas industries next week to unite in demands on the government, including work stoppages if necessary.

Commentators saw this program as continuation of organized labor harassment of Premier Joseph Laniel's government, which the union leaders call rightist and reactionary.

Today's rail strike was billed as a protest of disciplinary action being taken against four CGT union members for failing to heed government orders to return to their jobs during the nation-wide strike against the government-owned railroads in August. Firing has been recommended for two of these men and transfer for the other two.

Police Guard Rival Leaders From Danger

Gunmen Reported On Way To Shoot President Of ILA

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Rumors of impending murder and mayhem swept the strikebound East Coast waterfront today and rival longshore leaders in New York were put under protective police guard.

The docks themselves from Maine to Virginia were quiet in the second day of an International Longshoremen's Association strike for higher wages. An estimated 60,000 dockers were idle.

The New York Herald Tribune said tonight that John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers had invited the beleagured ILA into its fold. The report could not immediately be confirmed, either here or in Washington.

About 100 ships were caught in the strike which began at midnight Wednesday. The first passenger liner to become a strike casualty was the American Export Line's Constitution, laid up in New York indefinitely.

Working Military Ships

Military ships were being worked.

In New York, the FBI tipped local police to a report that two gunmen were on their way here from Oregon to kill Joseph P. Ryan, president of the orphaned ILA. His union was kicked out of the AFL last week for failure to rid itself of racketeers.

A 24-hour police guard was placed on the private hospital room, where the 69-year-old Ryan has been confined with an illness for several days.

An unofficial police guard also was placed on John Dwyer, a leader in a grim struggle to drive Ryan's ILA off the docks. Dwyer is an organizer for a new AFL longshoremen's association.

Dwyer and his ILA Local 895 seceded from the old union before the strike began.

He was up and down the waterfront during the day, exhorting ILA pickets to bolt the union and join the new AFL setup. Two detectives were by his side.

Tension Overrides Developments

In Baltimore, where 18 ships are tied up by the strike, police were alerted on a tip that machine guns and rifles were moved from one car to another near the waterfront. Rushed to the area, police found nothing.

The dangerous tension of the two factions fighting for control of the piers overshadowed developments in the strike itself.

President Eisenhower yesterday named a board of inquiry to pave the way for a strike-ending Taft-Hartley law injunction. The three-man board meets tomorrow and its report must be at the White House no later than midnight Monday.

ILA leaders have promised a return to work if and when a court injunction is issued—but not before. An injunction would provide an 80-day cooling off period before the strike could be resumed.

The ILA is seeking a 13 cents an hour wage and welfare package from 170 East Coast shippers. The employers have offered 8½ cents. Present base wage on the docks is $2.27.

Patrick J. Connolly, executive vice president of the ILA, reported 12 ports from Portland, Me., to Hampton Roads, Va., "100 per cent tied up."

"Nothing is moving," he added.

The customs collector said 72 ships were idled in New York—32 at piers and 40 at anchor in the stream.

White House Compiles Box Score On Ike's "Busy" Week In Office

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The White House compiled a box score today on what it described as one of President Eisenhower's busiest weeks in office—but denied it was because of any criticism that the chief executive has been away from his desk too much.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, also disclosed that Eisenhower is carrying on his duties with a "painful and annoying" condition in his right elbow.

The elbow was injured early in August and has been bothering the President off and on ever since. But Hagerty said it was nothing to be alarmed about.

Asked about published reports that an operation might be necessary to correct the trouble, Hagerty replied:

"I am not even going to answer that. I am not a medical authority, and that (apparently his reply) doesn't mean one thing or the other."

In telling reporters about Eisenhower's busy week, Hagerty said the White House plans to put out a similar summary each week in the future.

From Monday through today, the secretary said, the President:

Had 31 official appointments and 6 meetings with official committees or commissions,

Greeted 341 persons and made 7 speeches, formal and informal,

Attended 2 evening functions, 2 luncheons and posed for 20 photographs,

Was at his desk as early as 7:40 a.m. and not later than 8:25 a.m., and Breakfasted one morning with members of the White House staff.

When Hagerty was asked whether the recapitulation was made because of any criticism that Eisenhower might be spending too much time away from his desk, Hagerty said: "Not at all."

Norfolk Youngster Makes Heroic Try To Save His Pony

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—Jimmy Howell, 10, had wanted a pony since he was just a little boy.

He saved his money. His parents helped by opening a savings account for him. Last Christmas, Jimmy bought a pony.

His mother, Mrs. R. C. Howell, said today the family had moved from the city to the country so that Jimmy could have a place for the pony.

Last night, fire unaccountably broke out in the pony's stall. The parents were away, but Jimmy and his older sister, aided by neighbors, sought to rescue the animal.

Bystanders had to restrain Jimmy from entering the burning building.

Ford Glad Of Red Decision To Aid Backward Countries

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—Henry Ford II said today in his first U.N. speech that he was encouraged by the decision of Russia to contribute to the U.N. program of technical aid to backward countries. He pledged the continued support of the United States for the program.

There was an unusual display of harmony in the speeches of Ford and Soviet Delegate G. P Arkadyev, who has often attacked the United States. Addressing the 60-nation Economic Committee, both spoke of the recent Soviet decision to make a first donation of four million rubles—one million dollars by Soviet evaluation—to the U.N. fund for raising the world's living standards.

"We note this indication of their interest in the program," Ford said, "and trust that it will prove to be a really constructive and positive aid to our efforts."

And he dropped this sentence from his prepared text:

"Let us hope there will be no thorn in this rose."

Arkadyev opened his speech by thanking the delegates who had noted the Soviet action with approval.

"The government of the Soviet Union," he said, "has always looked with favor on the U.N. technical assistance program."

He went on to say that Russia was always glad to see U.N. money going into such aid and had helped work out the rules for distributing it. He made no reference to the fact that Russia has not contributed to the fund in the past, and has often criticized its work.

Soviet participation, he said, will make it certain that the fund really helps international co-operation and the development of poorer nations.

Physician Who Treated Sen. Taft For Cancer Reports On Disease

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The first public statement on the probable origin of the widespread cancer that killed the late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) was given today by one of the physicians who treated him.

"The weight of the evidence," said Dr. Cornelius P. Rhoads of New York, one of the nation's leading cancer authorities, "is that the cancer arose in the pancreas, a small organ located below the stomach and one which secretes digestive juices." He said that organ is occasionally the source of a cancer that is "very hard to control by surgical and other means."

And, said Rhoads, the late Republican leader fell into the category of the "50 per cent" of cancer victims who now have little chance of being cured—those patients whose disease has already spread before diagnosis of cancer is made.

It is for such patients, Dr. Rhoads told a congressional committee, that "we must develop something like a penicillin for cancer."

The doctor said that when Taft's case was diagnosed as cancer in June at a Cincinnati hospital (the senator had first become ill in late April), he already had developed cancerous "lumps" which were "highly malignant, rapidly growing, and widely scattered through the body."

At the time of Taft's death, it was disclosed he had died of cancer which had spread widely through the body, but that its specific origin had not been determined.

A post-mortem examination was conducted, and it was as a result of this, said Rhoads, that the evidence pointed to the pancreas as the organ of origin.

Dewey Demands An Explanation

Acting Lt. Governor Visited Extortionist At Sing Sing Prison

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today demanded a "complete and satisfactory explanation" of his acting lieutenant governor's visits to a labor extortionist in Sing Sing Prison—and Arthur H. Wicks at once denied "any wrongdoing."

"The only accurate way to compare our F86 Sabre jet and the MIG15 is to fly them against one another with a gun camera, Hagerstrom said.

"I'd like to fly that MIG against any of our pilots who thinks the F86 can compare."

Norfolk Youngster Makes Heroic Try To Save His Pony

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—Jimmy Howell, 10, had wanted a pony since he was just a little boy.

He saved his money. His parents helped by opening a savings account for him. Last Christmas, Jimmy bought a pony.

His mother, Mrs. R. C. Howell, said today the family had moved from the city to the country so that Jimmy could have a place for the pony.

Last night, fire unaccountably broke out in the pony's stall. The parents were away, but Jimmy and his older sister, aided by neighbors, sought to rescue the animal.

Bystanders had to restrain Jimmy from entering the burning building.

The pony died in the flames.

British Plan Moves To End Peace Barrier

Cabinet Proposals Still Secret; Lloyd Called To London

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's Cabinet agreed today on new moves, secret for the present, to break the East-West deadlock over a Korean peace parley.

A few hours after the Cabinet met, the Foreign Office significantly announced Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd had been called back from United Nations headquarters in New York for consultations with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Lloyd has been the British spokesman in negotiations with the United States and other U. N. countries trying to get the Korean peace conference started by Oct. 28—the deadline under the armistice agreement.

Lloyd Due Today

The Russians, presumably representing the Red Chinese point of view, have warned the conference may never take place unless the U. N. adopts their proposal that certain Asian nations such as India, Burma and Pakistan sit in. The U. N. majority has voted against it.

Lloyd is due to arrive here tomorrow.

Another Commonwealth leader, Australian Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey, arrived by plane from New York today for similar consultations. Casey has arranged to meet Churchill Tuesday.

One sure subject of discussion is the Australian stand against the admission of "neutral" nations to the Korean peace conference. In this, Casey has strongly backed the United States position.

No Agreement Reached

Diplomatic officials reported this British proposal has been put to the United States and other U. N. countries planning to attend the Korean peace conference:

That the peace conference as a whole—the Communist side as well as the U. N. side—should agree to invite certain neutrals, including India, to join the deliberations.

This idea implies that the Communists would have to be assured before the peace talks begin that the parley will be broadened.

The informants said the British "understand" the United States is ready to go along with the idea. They stressed no hard and fast agreement has yet emerged.

Police Raid Nets Spinster's Body

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP)—Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Chicago's health director, led a police raid with drawn pistol today to recover the body of an elderly spinster who had been described as fearful of being buried alive.

The police pried open the door of a North Side flat and seized David Corbin, 60, on a charge of keeping a dead person beyond the legal 72-hour limit.

He was a cousin of the woman, Miss Carrie Jackson, 88, who died Tuesday of a heart ailment.

Dr. Bundesen said Corbin barricaded himself in the flat with the body shortly after his cousin's death, telling neighbors through the closed door that the woman's will specified her body remain unburied for two days.

Stories had circulated in the neighborhood that Corbin was trying to resuscitate the body. It was taken to the county morgue.

Ford Glad Of Red Decision To Aid Backward Countries

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—Henry Ford II said today in his first U.N. speech that he was encouraged by the decision of Russia to contribute to the U.N. program of technical aid to backward countries. He pledged the continued support of the United States for the program.

There was an unusual display of harmony in the speeches of Ford and Soviet Delegate G. P Arkadyev, who has often attacked the United States. Addressing the 60-nation Economic Committee, both spoke of the recent Soviet decision to make a first donation of four million rubles—one million dollars by Soviet evaluation—to the U.N. fund for raising the world's living standards.

"We note this indication of their interest in the program," Ford said, "and trust that it will prove to be a really constructive and positive aid to our efforts."

And he dropped this sentence from his prepared text:

"Let us hope there will be no thorn in this rose."

Arkadyev opened his speech by thanking the delegates who had noted the Soviet action with approval.

"The government of the Soviet Union," he said, "has always looked with favor on the U.N. technical assistance program."

He went on to say that Russia was always glad to see U.N. money going into such aid and had helped work out the rules for distributing it. He made no reference to the fact that Russia has not contributed to the fund in the past, and has often criticized its work.

Soviet participation, he said, will make it certain that the fund really helps international co-operation and the development of poorer nations.

Erskine Is Given Hero's Hoist

Fear For Boy's Life Mounts; No Clues Found Yet

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 2 (AP)—Fear for the life of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease mounted today even as a spokesman for the wealthy parents denied published reports they had been in contact with the kidnapers through a newspaper want ad and $500,000 ransom had been demanded.

"We have not been in contact with the kidnaper," said Robert Ledterman of Tulsa, a close business and personal associate of the multi-millionaire father.

But Ledterman, who because of his close ties with the family might be used as an intermediary, added:

"We feel that something has to happen today or tonight."

Drawn, tired faces of friends of the family left no doubt that the anxiety over little Bobby was at its peak today—the fifth day since he was abducted from a private Catholic school by a plump woman who posed as his aunt.

The 71-year-old father, Robert C. Greenlease, has said he would go to any length to get his son back. But today Ledterman in denying reports of a possible $500,000 ransom demand said "no figure has been mentioned."

Several newspapers in other cities have published reports the family has been in touch with the kidnapers since Monday night and that a half million dollars had been demanded.

The one line advertisement appeared in the personal column of the Kansas City Star Wednesday and again in its Thursday morning's edition of the Times.

"M—Will meet you in Chicago Sunday—G."

Young Messenger Thwarts Holdup With "Nuts To You"

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—A valiant "Nuts to you" today saved a $4,260 payroll for a young messenger on busy 46th street, between Fifth and Madison avenues.

Donald Juers, 18, payroll in hand, was heading for his office when a man came up from behind shoved something into his back and demanded the money.

"What?" the youth asked.

"Give me the payroll. You won't get hurt. I don't want to hurt you," came the reply from the rear.

"Get out of here. Nuts to you," Juers retorted and began struggling with the bandit.

Voting Raises Jury Question

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The question of whether residents of the voteless District of Columbia who maintain voting residences elsewhere may serve on grand juries was argued today in an effort to throw out an indictment against Rep. Ernest K. Bramblett (R-Calif).

Bramblett's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, contended that exclusion from the jury panel of persons who voted outside the district invalidated Bramblett's indictment on 18 counts of false representations in connection with payments to two women on his office payroll.

Frank English, clerk of the jury commission for 21 years, testified that prospective jurors claiming legal residence outside of the District of Columbia and admitting to voting outside the district within the previous four years were automatically excluded from jury service.

Asst. U. S. Atty. William Hitz told Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts that the validity of the same grand jury was challenged in another case before another judge last March and was upheld. Letts will hear further arguments next Tuesday on the motion to dismiss Bramblett's indictment.

Trial of Bramblett is fixed tentatively for Oct. 19.

Seven Killed In Crash

Today's Chuckle

The landlady brought in a plateful of extremely thin slices of bread which dismayed her hungry men boarders. "Did you cut these, Mrs. Brown?" asked one.

"Yes, I cut them" was the stern reply.

Communist Led French Strikes Fizzle Quickly

PARIS, Oct. 2 (AP)—Communist labor unions called two 24-hour flash strikes today, one on southwestern France's railroads and the other in the central telegraph office of Paris, but both fizzled out before noon without seriously affecting services.

Trains were delayed at nearly all the main points on lines between Paris and Marselle when the Communist General Confederation of Labor (CGT) called out station workers. But the strike order was rescinded at Lyon, the key rail center, early in the day.

In the Paris telegraph office, several dozen workers left their jobs at midnight, causing a brief interruption in some services, but there was no general walkout and operations were normal by 9 a.m.

Although unsuccessful, the strikes were regarded in some official circles and by newspapers as an ominous foretaste of what might be in store for the country when the National Assembly reconvenes next Tuesday, Oct. 6.

The CGT, the newspapers reported, has made an agreement with the Catholic Christian Workers Confederation (CFTC) to appeal to all employes in the electric and gas industries next week to unite in demands on the government, including work stoppages if necessary.

Commentators saw this program as continuation of organized labor harassment of Premier Joseph Laniel's government, which the union leaders call rightist and reactionary.

Today's rail strike was billed as a protest of disciplinary action being taken against four CGT union members for failing to heed government orders to return to their jobs during the nation-wide strike against the government-owned railroads in August. Firing has been recommended for two of these men and transfer for the other two.

Police Guard Rival Leaders From Danger

Gunmen Reported On Way To Shoot President Of ILA

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Rumors of impending murder and mayhem swept the strikebound East Coast waterfront today and rival longshore leaders in New York were put under protective police guard.

The docks themselves from Maine to Virginia were quiet in the second day of an International Longshoremen's Association strike for higher wages. An estimated 60,000 dockers were idle.

The New York Herald Tribune said tonight that John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers had invited the beleagured ILA into its fold. The report could not immediately be confirmed, either here or in Washington.

About 100 ships were caught in the strike which began at midnight Wednesday. The first passenger liner to become a strike casualty was the American Export Line's Constitution, laid up in New York indefinitely.

Working Military Ships

Military ships were being worked.

In New York, the FBI tipped local police to a report that two gunmen were on their way here from Oregon to kill Joseph P. Ryan, president of the orphaned ILA. His union was kicked out of the AFL last week for failure to rid itself of racketeers.

A 24-hour police guard was placed on the private hospital room, where the 69-year-old Ryan has been confined with an illness for several days.

An unofficial police guard also was placed on John Dwyer, a leader in a grim struggle to drive Ryan's ILA off the docks. Dwyer is an organizer for a new AFL longshoremen's association.

Dwyer and his ILA Local 895 seceded from the old union before the strike began.

He was up and down the waterfront during the day, exhorting ILA pickets to bolt the union and join the new AFL setup. Two detectives were by his side.

Tension Overrides Developments

In Baltimore, where 18 ships are tied up by the strike, police were alerted on a tip that machine guns and rifles were moved from one car to another near the waterfront. Rushed to the area, police found nothing.

The dangerous tension of the two factions fighting for control of the piers overshadowed developments in the strike itself.

President Eisenhower yesterday named a board of inquiry to pave the way for a strike-ending Taft-Hartley law injunction. The three-man board meets tomorrow and its report must be at the White House no later than midnight Monday.

ILA leaders have promised a return to work if and when a court injunction is issued—but not before. An injunction would provide an 80-day cooling off period before the strike could be resumed.

The ILA is seeking a 13 cents an hour wage and welfare package from 170 East Coast shippers. The employers have offered 8½ cents. Present base wage on the docks is $2.27.

Patrick J. Connolly, executive vice president of the ILA, reported 12 ports from Portland, Me., to Hampton Roads, Va., "100 per cent tied up."

"Nothing is moving," he added.

The customs collector said 72 ships were idled in New York—32 at piers and 40 at anchor in the stream.

Physician Who Treated Sen. Taft For Cancer Reports On Disease

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The first public statement on the probable origin of the widespread cancer that killed the late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) was given today by one of the physicians who treated him.

"The weight of the evidence," said Dr. Cornelius P. Rhoads of New York, one of the nation's leading cancer authorities, "is that the cancer arose in the pancreas, a small organ located below the stomach and one which secretes digestive juices." He said that organ is occasionally the source of a cancer that is "very hard to control by surgical and other means."

And, said Rhoads, the late Republican leader fell into the category of the "50 per cent" of cancer victims who now have little chance of being cured—those patients whose disease has already spread before diagnosis of cancer is made.

It is for such patients, Dr. Rhoads told a congressional committee, that "we must develop something like a penicillin for cancer."

The doctor said that when Taft's case was diagnosed as cancer in June at a Cincinnati hospital (the senator had first become ill in late April), he already had developed cancerous "lumps" which were "highly malignant, rapidly growing, and widely scattered through the body."

At the time of Taft's death, it was disclosed he had died of cancer which had spread widely through the body, but that its specific origin had not been determined.

A post-mortem examination was conducted, and it was as a result of this, said Rhoads, that the evidence pointed to the pancreas as the organ of origin.

GE Ordered To End Monopoly On Patents For Light Bulbs

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 2 (AP)—The General Electric Co., a giant of American industry, was ordered today in federal court to give rights to existing patents on incandescent lamps and their parts to the public.

Federal Judge Phillip Forman ordered the patents turned over to the public in a judgment that enforces his 1949 conviction of GE on charges of monopolizing the incandescent lamp industry in the United States.

Forman told a reporter after filing the 105-page opinion he believed "it is the first time in a contested anti-trust case that dedication of patents has been ordered."

The order also applied to six other lamp supply manufacturers who were among eight firms convicted in 1949 by Forman of aiding GE to maintain a monopoly in the nation.

Blueprints Must Be Released

However, the judge turned down a U. S. government plea to force GE to divest itself of half its facilities for producing electric light bulbs and their parts.

Forman said "divestiture of General Electric is neither feasible nor in the public interest."

In other provisions of the judgment, GE was ordered to make available to the industry its blueprints for lamp machinery. Forman also decreed that GE and the other defendants must end contracts and agreements with each other in the making of the lamps.

Another provision restrains GE or International General Electric Co., Inc., from preventing their "partially owned foreign companies from entering into competition in the lamp industry in the United States."

Keep Foreign Firms

But Forman rejected a government proposal that GE and IGE be divested of the foreign companies they partially own.

On the question of GE's future patents, Forman directed the huge firm to:

"Grant, to the extent that it has the power to do so, to any applicant making written request therefor in connection with the manufacture by the applicant in the U. S. of lamps, lamp parts or lamp machinery, a non-exclusive license under any, some or all of said GE's future patents."

Discussing his order for dedication of patents in the opinion, Forman said:

Public Duty Cited

"In view of the fact that General Electric achieved its dominant position in the industry and maintained it in great measure by its extension of patent control, the requirement that it contribute its existing patents to the public is only a jusified dilution of that control made necessary in the interest of free competition in the industry."

The eight other incandescent lamp supply firms convicted in 1949 of aiding GE were:

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co.; Corning Glass Works of Corning, N. Y.; International General Electric Co., Inc., of New York; N. V. Philips' Gloeilampenfabrieken of Holland; Consolidated Electric Co., of Danvers, Mass.; Hygrade Sylvania Corp., of Salem, Mass.; Chicago Miniature Lamp Works of Chicago; and Tung-Sol Lamp Works of Newark, now known as Tung-Sol Electric Co.

50 Persons Clubbed In Melee At Madras

MADRAS, India, Oct. 2 (AP)—Police charged black-shirted anti-Nehru demonstrators here, injuring 50 with clubs, as Prime Minister Nehru toured the city today. Seven demonstrators were arrested.

The demonstrators, members of Dravida Kazhagam, an organization of Tamils, ancient inhabitants of South India, are demanding an independent Tamil state free from the New Delhi government.

Pro-Communist, they waved black flags and black banners and screamed abuse as Nehru drove through the city in an open car to address Congress party workers. A welcoming group of Congress party workers clashed with the demonstrators and stones flew. Police quickly clubbed their way through the melee.

Music Of Snake Charmer May Lure Hooded Cobras

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 2 (AP)—The music of an Indian Hindu snake charmer will be used by the city fathers in an effort to lure into the open any more hooded cobras hiding in the city.

Already nine of the snakes, definitely not native to this area, have been killed in a six square block area.

Today city officials auditioned a recording of a snake charmer's music, straight from India, the native land of the hooded serpents.

They were impressed with the idea of a cobra concert. So next Monday they'll put the record on a sound truck and tour the section where the cobras have appeared.

The record is one made by the Rev. Luther Meinzen, a Lutheran missionary. It was cut while a Hindu snake charmer piped three cobras from a thicket around the minister's home in India.

After listening to the recording, D. E. Caywood, city health director, said he was willing to try anything.

Dallas Police Triple Guard In Hunt For Phantom Killer

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 2 (AP)—Fearful Dallas residents waited behind locked doors tonight as the police doubled, then tripled its patrol strength in an effort to catch a phantom rapist-killer.

More than $6,000 reward was offered for the slayer of Mrs. H. C. Parker, 29, last Wednesday night. Before she died she gasped that she had been raped and stabbed by a Negro man.

The slaying of the pretty variety store employe, coupled with numerous recent rape and atempted rape reports, has created one of the highest periods of unrest in recent Dallas history.

Police Chief Carl Hansson said his force would be supplemented tonight by 40 radio-equipped cars manned by civil defense personnel. Officers will ride with the civil defense workers in quick investigation of all prowler reports.

Officers complained last night that groups of armed white men interfered with their investigation of prowler reports. Sporting good stores sold out of pistols and guns—many of them to scared women—despite police warnings that innocent persons might be killed by unauthorized prowler hunters. Hardware stores told of greatly increased sales of locks, flashlights, and yard flood lights.

The Dallas Society for Prevention of Cruelty of Animals reported a boom in requests for dogs—big dogs, vicious dogs, watch dogs.

Lights blazed in all sections of this North Texas city last night. Even in bright daylight hours there was a feeling of fear. Women hurried straight home from work and women living alone moved in with friends or relatives. Neighbors made plans to go to each other's aid in case of a prowler report.

One housewife reported last night she saw a nude Negro standing about 20 feet outside her bedroom window. He vanished in the bright moonlight before officers arrived.

A nurse at Bradford Memorial Hospital said she saw a nude Negro outside a ground floor window. Officers found no one, but said there were bare footprints beneath the window.

Boy, 14, Shot

Paper Warfare Will Be Renewed

FT. MEADE, Md., Oct. 2 (AP)—The Second Army said today an imaginary campaign pitting mythical invaders against theoretical defenders will be renewed in its seven-state area Oct. 24, exactly where it left off last year.

Known as Exercise Tobacco Leaf III, it will be "an all-out assault to recapture Philadelphia and drive a theoretical invader from the northeastern United States," officials said.

The exercise involves no direct movement of troops. It is a test of staff functioning and communications in which commanders are called on to solve—on paper—a succession of tactical problems that might occur during the course of such a campaign.

Primarily it is to test the Army's latest defense against chemical, biological and radiological warfare and give commanders and staffs of Army Reserve and Guard units in the area practice in national defense planning.

The exercise will be launched simultaneously from Ft. Meade and Ft. Knox, Ky. It will employ the I and II Army Corps, including eight divisions, two armored cavalry regiments and one regimental combat team. About 50 officers and 100 enlisted men will make up each division for the exercise.

Air support and naval underwater demolition teams will also be employed to "force" a crossing of the Susquehanna River.

Strikers Break Lines For Veteran's Burial

DETROIT, Oct. 2 (AP) — Picket lines of striking CIO gravediggers and groundskeepers parted yesterday in respect to a Korean veteran's burial.

The pickets broke ranks, stood at attention and then joined a cortege in a march to the grave of Cpl. Joseph Meyer, 18. They told the American Legion they would co-operate in all military burials.

The strike is at Grand Lawn Cemetery. The strikers say management refuses to recognize the union. Management has not commented.

Attlee Predicts Party's Return To Power Soon

MARGATE, England, Oct. 2 (AP)—Former Prime Minister Clement Attlee told cheering Laborites today the Labor party "expects to have charge of the government in a very short time."

Winding up the party's annual conference, the 70-year-old Socialist leader called on Laborites to close ranks with "unity of aim and unity of action" for the next general election.

In a clear appeal to Aneurin Bevan's leftist followers to pull with the rest of the party, Attlee said "there might be people who want more, but unless they are prepared to work with everybody else they will get nothing."

Most Laborite leaders appear to believe there will be a new general election next spring or in early summer. Their optimism prevails despite the 16-seat overall majority now held by Prime Minister Churchill's Conservatives in the House of Commons. The Conservatives have yet to give any sign they will call for a new election. They will hold their yearly conference here next week.

The last election was held in 1951 resulting in defeat for Attlee's Laborites after six years in power.

The Labor conference approved with only scattered dissent today a domestic policy statement called "Challenge to Britain." It avoids committing the party to any new nationalization scheme but suggests, instead, that present state controls over British production be strengthened.

The document said the iron and steel industry and the trucking industry—both nationalized by the old Labor government and subsequently returned to private ownership by the Conservatives—will be brought under state ownership again if the Labor party wins the next election.

More than $6,000 reward was offered for the slayer of Mrs. H. C. Parker, 29, last Wednesday night. Before she died she gasped that she had been raped and stabbed by a Negro man.

The slaying of the pretty variety store employe, coupled with numerous recent rape and atempted rape reports, has created one of the highest periods of unrest in recent Dallas history.

Police Chief Carl Hansson said his force would be supplemented tonight by 40 radio-equipped cars manned by civil defense personnel. Officers will ride with the civil defense workers in quick investigation of all prowler reports.

Officers complained last night that groups of armed white men interfered with their investigation of prowler reports. Sporting good stores sold out of pistols and guns—many of them to scared women—despite police warnings that innocent persons might be killed by unauthorized prowler hunters. Hardware stores told of greatly increased sales of locks, flashlights, and yard flood lights.

The Dallas Society for Prevention of Cruelty of Animals reported a boom in requests for dogs—big dogs, vicious dogs, watch dogs.

Lights blazed in all sections of this North Texas city last night. Even in bright daylight hours there was a feeling of fear. Women hurried straight home from work and women living alone moved in with friends or relatives. Neighbors made plans to go to each other's aid in case of a prowler report.

One housewife reported last night she saw a nude Negro standing about 20 feet outside her bedroom window. He vanished in the bright moonlight before officers arrived.

A nurse at Bradford Memorial Hospital said she saw a nude Negro outside a ground floor window. Officers found no one, but said there were bare footprints beneath the window.

Boy, 14, Shot

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP)—A 14-year-old youth was shot in the head in a high school class today, police said, after giving a pistol to a girl sitting behind him and telling her to pull the trigger because it was "only a toy."

Paper Warfare Will Be Renewed

FT. MEADE, Md., Oct. 2 (AP)—The Second Army said today an imaginary campaign pitting mythical invaders against theoretical defenders will be renewed in its seven-state area Oct. 24, exactly where it left off last year.

Known as Exercise Tobacco Leaf III, it will be "an all-out assault to recapture Philadelphia and drive a theoretical invader from the northeastern United States," officials said.

The exercise involves no direct movement of troops. It is a test of staff functioning and communications in which commanders are called on to solve—on paper—a succession of tactical problems that might occur during the course of such a campaign.

Primarily it is to test the Army's latest defense against chemical, biological and radiological warfare and give commanders and staffs of Army Reserve and Guard units in the area practice in national defense planning.

The exercise will be launched simultaneously from Ft. Meade and Ft. Knox, Ky. It will employ the I and II Army Corps, including eight divisions, two armored cavalry regiments and one regimental combat team. About 50 officers and 100 enlisted men will make up each division for the exercise.

Air support and naval underwater demolition teams will also be employed to "force" a crossing of the Susquehanna River.

Strikers Break Lines For Veteran's Burial

DETROIT, Oct. 2 (AP) — Picket lines of striking CIO gravediggers and groundskeepers parted yesterday in respect to a Korean veteran's burial.

The pickets broke ranks, stood at attention and then joined a cortege in a march to the grave of Cpl. Joseph Meyer, 18. They told the American Legion they would co-operate in all military burials.

The strike is at Grand Lawn Cemetery. The strikers say management refuses to recognize the union. Management has not commented.

Attlee Predicts Party's Return To Power Soon

MARGATE, England, Oct. 2 (AP)—Former Prime Minister Clement Attlee told cheering Laborites today the Labor party "expects to have charge of the government in a very short time."

Winding up the party's annual conference, the 70-year-old Socialist leader called on Laborites to close ranks with "unity of aim and unity of action" for the next general election.

In a clear appeal to Aneurin Bevan's leftist followers to pull with the rest of the party, Attlee said "there might be people who want more, but unless they are prepared to work with everybody else they will get nothing."

Most Laborite leaders appear to believe there will be a new general election next spring or in early summer. Their optimism prevails despite the 16-seat overall majority now held by Prime Minister Churchill's Conservatives in the House of Commons. The Conservatives have yet to give any sign they will call for a new election. They will hold their yearly conference here next week.

The last election was held in 1951 resulting in defeat for Attlee's Laborites after six years in power.

The Labor conference approved with only scattered dissent today a domestic policy statement called "Challenge to Britain." It avoids committing the party to any new nationalization scheme but suggests, instead, that present state controls over British production be strengthened.

The document said the iron and steel industry and the trucking industry—both nationalized by the old Labor government and subsequently returned to private ownership by the Conservatives—will be brought under state ownership again if the Labor party wins the next election.

Development Starts At Historical Intersection

The intersection of U. S. Route 40 and the Winchester Road, reputed to be one of the busiest traffic spots in the state, has four projects underway within the immediate vicinity.

James H. Linn, local businessman, has purchased the property on the southern side of Route 40 across from the Six Mile House. The owners were the Market Buildings, Inc. Located on the tract is a large brick residence.

The property is being graded and a number of motels will be erected. The dwelling is being remodeled and it is reported Linn will use the upper floor as a residence and the lower part for motel units. From 16 to 20 motel units are in the project. D. B. McGill, contractor, is doing the work on the dwelling.

Road Work Advances

Relocation, improving and surfacing work on the Winchester Road, which runs from Route 40 to Cresaptown is also underway. Grading and drainage work is being done. This project will cost almost $500,000.

On the Braddock Road, several hundred yards from the busy intersection, the State Roads Commission is having a new district office building and garage erected by the George F. Hazelwood Company. This project has been underway for some time and the contractor has completed the foundation for the big structure to house almost 50 pieces of road equipment and trucks.

The district offices of the State Roads Commission will be moved from the present location on Decatur Street to the Braddock Road building as soon as the headquarters are finished. The building alone will cost in excess of $250,000. The property includes a tract of several acres which is enclosed by a high wire fence.

Home Activity

Not far from the SRC project a large ranch style residence is being erected. Two other homes were built in this section recently.

Henry Gehauf, who has operated a drive-in restaurant at the point where the Braddock Road, Winchester Road and Route 40 converge, has recently completed a motel development.

The Route 40 intersection was rumored several years ago to have been selected for the site of a Howard Johnson restaurant.

Reports are current in real estate circles that the old Six Mile House on the northern side of Route 40 at the intersection has been leased by a former Cumberland man who resides in the Midwest.

Magazine Will Feature History Of Area

The third issue (due in late November) of Tableland Trails, a quarterly published by Felix G. Robinson, Oakland, will be devoted to the Cumberland area, according to Robinson who is here assembling material and advertising for the next edition. The first issue covered the Tucker County area of West Virginia; the second was about Somerset, Pa., and the fourth will have Preston County, W. Va., as the main topic. The quarterly averages 80 pages.

Appearance of the Cumberland edition will approximate the Bicentennial of young George Washington's famous trek to the French headquarters on the Ohio. With Christopher Gist, Washington left here on November 15, 1753.

Described as a story book of the Tableland area of the Allegany Mountains, the quarterly includes folklore, history, personality sketches and pictures.

A former pastor of the Lutheran Church in Keyser, Robinson founded and directed the Mountain Choir Festival which was a Mountain Lake Park fixture for a number of years and then transferred to Arthurdale, Preston County. Hamilton Owens, editor of the Baltimore Sun, was principal speaker at the launching of the new publication last May in Somerset.

The subscription list, Robinson said, includes people from 23 states, and also libraries, schools, news agencies and book shops.

In addition to articles, some by local writers, the November issue will be profusely illustrated with area pictures and other illustrations.

Romney Has First Davis Art Exhibit

The first American showing of oils and water colors by Fenton Davis, Frostburg native who has a Baltimore studio on Cathedral street, has opened at the New Century Hotel, Romney, and will continue through tomorrow. The exhibition is open from 2 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Hostesses at the opening were Mrs. M. M. Mansberger, Mrs. S. R. Pancake, Mrs. A. C. Loy, Mrs. J. A. Stump and Misses Isabella Miller and Beryl Smith.

Davis had a one-man show in Paris before returning to the U. S. in June.

Spanish Missionaries To Speak At SA

Rev. Ramon Blanco and Esther, his wife and daughter, Yolanda Lynn, will speak at the Tri-State Youth for Christ meeting today in the Salvation Army Citadel.

Mrs. Blanco will be dressed in native costume, wearing wooden shoes as in North Spain and they will be playing native instruments. The Blanco's are working under the United World Missions, as missionaries to Spain. They will show a film and slides depicting their mission work.

County Audit Is Completed

The report of James P. Rogers, certified public accountant of Baltimore, on the audit of the county's books and finances was presented to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

Figures listed show the county's financial position to be strong. The balance sheet on uncollected taxes for the years ending June 30, 1952 and June 30, 1953 shows that only one-tenth of one per cent and two and one-half per cent, respectively, of taxes not yet paid. Rogers said this is an excellent financial position.

Some Bonds Retired

The bonded indebtedness of the county is listed at $5,452,000 and bonds in the principal amount of $316,000 were retired during the past fiscal year. Interest payments on bonds amounted to $141,405 during the year.

Rogers said in his statement that unpaid taxes for the years 1950 and 1951 should be cleared up as soon as possible. Most of these unpaid taxes are listed for the Georges Creek section, according to the discussion today at the commissioners' meeting.

Rogers told the commissioners that he found the accounts and records in excellent condition and this was a material aid in conducting the audit.

Capital Outlay

There was a capital outlay of $122,460 during the year with most of this for repairs and improvements to county buildings. The county has assets of $12,763,893 in buildings and land. Interest gained from treasury notes the county has on deposit in local banks amounted to $12,000.

Taxes receivable for the years 1950 through 1953 total $75,844.86. The largest amount is $65,611.06 for 1953. For 1950 the amount due is $3,308.60; in 1951, $4,866.77; in 1952, $2,058.42. For the years 1950, 1951 and 1952 the percentage of taxes collected from the levy made was 99.85 per cent, 99.79 per cent and 99.92 per cent respectively.

First County Lay Health Worker Feted

The pioneer Lay Health worker in Allegany County was honored by the Cresaptown and Potomac Valley Lay Health Group at a meeting Thursday night at the Cresaptown Lay Health Center.

The pioneer health worker, Mrs. N. S. Yoder of Pinto, helped organize the first mid-wifery class in the county, and her home was used for the initial Baby Clinic held in the county.

The mid-wifery class was organized to help in the delivery of children. Members of the first class, besides Mrs. Yoder, were Mrs. Edgar Hounshell and the late Mrs. Edward McKenny.

The first health center in Allegany County was formed by the Potomac Valley Group, and was composed of Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, Mrs. Harry Barton, Mrs. Thomas Miller and the late Mrs. Frank Hutson.

Participating in the program was Miss Margaret L. Morrissey, the first Public Health nurse in Allegany County, who conducted the original Baby Clinic held at Mrs. Yoder's home.

The Cresaptown and Potomac Valley Lay Health Group is now composed of approximately 30 members. Mrs. Lester McGill has been chairman of the unit for the past three years. Other officers are Mrs. James Armstrong, secretary, and Mrs. Odes Chaney, treasurer.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, was a guest.

Cresaptown Firemen Plan Demonstration

The Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Department will conduct a demonstration tomorrow at 2 p. m. to mark the opening of Fire Prevention Week.

Fires of various types will be demonstrated in a building located in the rear of the residence of Joseph McKenzie, Winchester Road.

Joseph Wenrick, fire chief, stated that movies will be shown nightly at the Cresaptown Theater and that an inspection will be conducted at the schools. Wenrick will also address the students of Cresaptown. He will be assisted by Arthur Winters, assistant chief.

A series of false alarms have occurred in Cresaptown recently and Wenrick stated that steps have been taken to prevent them in the future.

Commissioner Holmes Suffers Broken Wrist

County Commissioner James Holmes suffered a fractured right wrist Tuesday night in a fall on the bottom step of a stairway at his home in Lonaconing.

He attended the session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday with his arm in a sling. The veteran county official said the bones in his wrist went back into place of their own accord and this alleviated the pain somewhat.

Strange Light Seen By Magistrate Dick

Another strange light in the sky has been observed in this area. Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick yesterday morning said he saw a blue flame surrounded by red lights for a few moments early Wednesday evening. Magistrate Dick was outside his Potomac Park home at the time and he said the light was also seen by a young girl next door.

Youth Is Injured When Hit By Truck

A five-year-old youth was admitted to Memorial Hospital Thursday with a broken collarbone suffered when he darted into the path of a truck operated by an Oldtown resident.

The youth, Ronald Mease, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo H. Mease, 112 Seymour Street, was taken to the hospital by Mrs. Margaret Blubaugh, the operator of the vehicle involved.

Hospital attaches reported his his condition as "good," the youth being able to sit up in bed.

Police report the youth ran from behind a parked car in front of Pennsylvania Avenue School and into the path of the truck operated by Mrs. Blubaugh.

The mishap was unavoidable, according to a police report, and no charges have been preferred.

First recorded eclipse was noted in China back about 2158 B. C.

Youngsters In Trouble

FBI Director Hoover foresees a crime wave of "greater overall proportions than anything heretofore known" unless effective action is taken to check the rise in unwholesome activity among young people. He will be the leading witness at an investigation of juvenile delinquency to be opened in November by a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The investigating panel is under Senate instruction to study and report by next February 1 on the present extent of juvenile delinquency, reasons for its increase during recent years, the adequacy of existing legal controls, and the part played in teen-age crime by narcotic addiction. Hearings will be held in a dozen cities with high delinquency rates, starting with the national capital. Testimony is expected to shock the country, much as did facts disclosed by witnesses in the earlier Senate crime investigation under Senator Kefauver.

Delinquency rates reached successive new highs during the war years, declined after V-day, and in 1949 began a new climb which is still in progress. It is estimated by the U. S. Children's Bureau that one million children are arrested each year and that 350,000 youngsters are taken before juvenile courts as delinquents. Court cases increased 12 per cent last year while the number of youngsters in the juvenile-court age group was increasing only about three per cent.

The country will learn from the forthcoming investigation that a very large proportion of all offenses against property are committed by adolescents. Last year youngsters under 17 were responsible for 37 per cent of the larcenies, 48 per cent of the burglaries, 53 per cent of the auto thefts. Nearly half of all persons booked for crimes against property had not yet reached their 21st birthdays.

In the category of "crimes against persons" the figures are less striking, although 15 per cent of the arrests for rape in 1952, five per cent of those for assault, and four per cent of the murder arrests were of youths under 17.

Experts do not agree on the causes of youthful misbehavior, but an FBI study lists the following as conditions which appear "with regularity" in juvenile cases:

Poor home conditions, availability of salacious literature, lack of religion, physical and mental defects, youth gang activities, and failure to provide prompt detection and punishment.

In recent years there has been a tendency to class the delinquent as a troubled youngster, rather than a bad one. However, J. Edgar Hoover has repeatedly warned against the "maudlin sentimentality" which excuses delinquents because of their tender years and is responsible for regulations which hamper the police in dealing with hardened teen-agers.

Law enforcement authorities have the responsibility of protecting society and are apt to demand that the punishment fit the crime. Social welfare agencies have the responsibility of protecting children and are more interested in getting them back on the right track than in seeing that they are adequately punished for their offenses. Present control measures represent a compromise between these objectives.

Newer legislation in some of the states seeks to iron out the conflict of aims by dividing minors who break the law into two groups. The younger delinquents continue to receive paternalistic handling in the juvenile courts. The older or more hardened adolescents are classed as "wayward minors" or "misdemeanants" and given sterner treatment. Although still protected against the stigma of criminal conviction, they may be held for indefinite terms in institutions that will work for their rehabilitation.

Chronic Diseases

The major chronic diseases—cancer, arthritis, heart attacks, tuberculosis, a dozen others—that afflict Americans are being surveyed by the House Commerce committee. The committee wants to know, in particular, what more the government could and should do in curbing illness and its economic impacts.

Chronic diseases now account for three out of every four deaths in the United States. These diseases vary widely in their origin, their nature and their effects, but they have one point in common—they require medical treatment for an extended period.

Also, most of them call for recognition and supervision in their earliest stages. The campaign against tuberculosis, for instance, reduced it from second place in the causes of death to seventh place over 50 years. And most Americans have now been made aware that much of cancer can be eradicated if recognized and treated in time.

It's a matter of national defense as well as of individual health. Hundreds of thousands of men called up under Selective Service were ineligible for the Army because of physical disability, including mental disease.

On the industrial side of the defense picture, on a typical day in mid-winter more than four million workers are absent from their jobs because of temporary or prolonged disability. The average worker loses 17 days of work every year because of illness. Older workers stay away for longer periods, but younger workers are apt to stay away more often.

Dealing With Spain

Defense, like politics, makes strange bedfellows. The United States and Britain joined up with Soviet Russia to make common cause against Hitler's Nazis and Mussolini's Fascists during World War II. Both Hitler and Mussolini contributed to the victory of Francisco Franco over the Spanish Republicans.

Now, when the world's greatest fear is of aggression by the Russian totalitarians, Washington, which in the past had shared in condemnation of Franco, makes a deal with the Spanish dictator for military bases in return for financial aid.

It is an arrangement that few on this side relish. But what has been regarded largely a moral issue gives way to practical considerations.

Spain's geography makes it a highly strategic location for bases from which to carry air war to Russia should the Kremlin make that necessary. Franco is firmly established in Spain, and there is no one else to deal with to obtain the facilities for an essential outpost in the defense perimeter.

The agreement signed in Madrid makes it clear that this is not an acceptance of the Franco regime as pure. It is wholly an accommodation for mutual defense against "the danger that threatens the Western world." On the Western side, that is. From Franco's viewpoint, the proffered money was a powerful argument.

How To Keep Well

Teamwork Needed With Diabetic Child

Rearing a diabetic child is no picnic because a strict diet and insulin are needed. The task is made easier when the youngster appreciates the seriousness of his condition and makes a good adjustment to the handicap. On the other hand, the boy or girl who rebels is a real trouble maker. He refuses to take insulin and will not stick to the diet. As might be expected, many of these uncooperative children often are found in coma or their system is damaged irreparably, which causes them to age prematurely.

At the turn of the century it was the exception rather than the rule for a little one with diabetes to reach adulthood. The change came after the discovery of insulin. But physicians soon discovered that unless the disease is kept under perfect control, the diabetic develops hardening of the arteries early in life. For this reason, meticulous care is essential. From the practical point of view, this is more easily said than done as children are children and the mental attitude requires as much attention as the disease.

There is no magic formula that works in all cases, but the best results are obtained in those whose families have learned all they can about diabetes. Knowing about the diet, for example, means a wider choice of menus and how to calculate substitute meals for school and picnic lunches as well as kiddies' parties. This is important because it allows the little patient more freedom.

The diet and insulin requirements need revision as the youngster grows, because young people are more active than adults. Twenty years ago there was only one type of insulin, which had to be administered three or four times a day. Now there are five different types so that most diabetics are able to get along on one injection per day. This is a real break because it simplifies management of the disease.

Despite the advantages of modern treatment, however, many boys and girls refuse to cooperate. This usually begins during adolescence when the teen-ager acquires a mind of his own. He is tired of being picked on and singled out as being different. He resents the fact that his companions can sit around the old hangout eating cheeseburgers and drinking cokes. This situation is easier to prevent than to handle after it develops. Another point is that parents often have been too strict or have given the son or daughter the impression that his disease has been successfully managed only through a great sacrifice on their part. Still others have spent too little time showing him how to lead a normal life so that he might be one of the crowd.

Every diabetic also should know what occurs when too much insulin is taken. Reactions of this kind are most likely to arise when eating is delayed or a double dose of insulin has been injected by mistake. Moreover, physical activity has a tendency to lower the blood sugar level.

Early signs of too much insulin in the system are a feeling of faintness dizziness, nervousness, weakness, breaking out into a cold sweat, or seeing double. Others develop headache and feel "sick to the stomach." The effect must be nullified with a lump of sugar, candy, sweetened coffee or tea, ginger ale, or fruit juice. All diabetics should carry a piece of candy for such emergencies as well as an identification card to explain the need for sugar should the occasion arise.

DENTAL DECAY

Mrs. Y. writes: What causes my boy to have all kinds of cavities even though he brushes his teeth every day?

REPLY

We do not have the answers on dental caries but the current belief is that the use of starches and sugars plays an important role. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this topic.

BLACKOUTS

S. D. writes: Could nervous exhaustion cause blackouts that last several hours? During this period, the person does not know what is happening?

REPLY

"Nervous exhaustion" is a lay term used to describe a variety of nervous disorders. There are many causes of blackouts, including hysteria, epilepsy, low blood sugar, and hyperventilation.

ELASTIC NYLON HOSE

Mrs. J. writes: Do you approve of nylon elastic stockings for varicose veins?

REPLY

The use of elastic stockings is a well established treatment of varicose veins. Those made of nylon have their advantages and disadvantages but so long as they fit I can see no objection.

COFFEE FOR OLDSTER

T. B. writes: Will drinking two cups of strong coffee at breakfast harm my arthritis? I'm 75 years old and enjoy my coffee.

REPLY

No. Long time habits are hard to change and because you like coffee go to it.

Gov. Earl Warren Proves That Modest Politics Can Pay Off; New Chief Justice Began Life As Roundhouse Call-Boy; Father Was Murdered

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson today awards the brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, to Earl Warren of California, new chief justice of the United States.)

WASHINGTON — Most politicians figure that the political fates take care of those who help themselves. The new chief justice of the United States is a notable exception. Never has he reached out in the political sense to help himself: yet the highest award in the American judiciary has just been handed him.

In 1948, friends urged Gov. Earl Warren to get out and stump the country, let people get better acquainted with him. "I'm not very good at that," he replied. "If I'm qualified for the presidency, I guess people eventually will find out."

They didn't find it out in 1948. Tom Dewey, who did get out and beat the hustings, was nominated but defeated. And four years later, in 1952, Herbert Hoover, who disagrees with Warren on many policies, told General MacArthur that he considered Warren the best-qualified candidate in the Republican party. But again Warren refused to beat the hustings.

And in Chicago last year I sat with him in his room at the Blackstone Hotel as the votes piled up for the opposition GOP candidates and as it became obvious he would be snowed under. Warren was a bit sad but also philosophic.

"It takes so much money to line up delegates," he mused. "And when you raise all that money you put your political soul in hock for the rest of your life. I don't think it pays."

So Earl Warren went home from Chicago, back to the job of being a good governor of California.

And he had no idea, when he announced a few weeks ago that he would not run again, that the highest judicial post in the U.S.A. would be offered him. Obviously he could not have known. For no one knew that Chief Justice Vinson was to pass away tragically in his sleep.

Warren merely felt, when he made his announcement, that he had been governor long enough, and that it was only fair that the people of California have time to pick a new man.

Father Murdered

The new chief justice began life as a call-boy in a locomotive roundhouse. His father was a master car-builder, and it was Earl's job to ride a bicycle to the homes of locomotive engineers and trainmen to notify them when they were called for the next trip. One night a housebreaker entered the Warren home, murdered his father, and young Earl was left to support his mother.

Possibly that explains his great sympathy for the workingman, his trend toward social-minded, New Deal projects. His family suffered considerable sickness in Warren's youth, and he knew what it was to struggle to pay the doctor's bill. That was one reason he fought for a health program that aroused the doctors of California to a white-hot pitch of opposition.

It may also be why Warren stood up for low-cost public housing, for rent control, and fought the big land-owners when it came to the 160-acre limitation on irrigated land under federal reclamation.

Yet, despite his liberal leanings, the governor of a state which has seen the rise and fall of funny money, ham-and-eggers, and all sorts of fringe movements, never jumped on a hallelujah bandwagon. Frequently it would have seemed good politics to do so. When he was a rising young politician in Oakland, the Ku Klux Klan swept the state like wildfire and many a politician put on the pillow case. But not Warren.

Ike Vs. Warren

And when the rage for loyalty oaths came along, Warren failed to lead the professional patriots and put his right hand on the Bible. Asked if there would be a purge of California employes, he replied: "No, we never hired any Reds in the first place."

His stand was unpopular, especially with his Republican friends on the board of regents of the University of California. It even inspired some luncheon remarks by another prominent personage — no less than the man in the White House who has just appointed Warren to the Supreme Court.

General Eisenhower was being wined and dined in San Francisco in 1952, and delivered two off-the-cuff talks, before the San Francisco Press Club and the Bohemian Club, during which he took an indirect crack at Governor Warren by saying he didn't know of any loyalty oath that he wouldn't be willing to stand up and swear to.

Naturally, the remark got back to Warren.

"It's interesting," commented the governor to a friend, "that the president of Columbia University made his remark off-the-record so it would not be quoted in the East. For he and President Conant of Harvard were the first to take a public stand against loyalty oaths. Furthermore," Warren continued, "it happens that the university Ike heads has more Communists and Reds than any other in the country."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Spanish Agreement

In the period when a distinction was made between good and bad dictators, a world-wide propaganda was accelerated by Russia and the Communist agencies throughout the world against Spain. Of all countries, Spain was categorized as the worst and Franco was made the symbol of all that is wrong in government.

The propaganda was so effective that Spain became the pariah among nations and Franco an outcast. This attitude did not weaken Franco among his own people. He managed to survive the isolation. And Spain managed to continue to exist.

With our experience with Stalin, Malenkov, Tito and all the other masters of men, the light dawned that Franco surely is no worse than these others and that Spain is needed by the United States as an ally. For 17 months the United States conducted negotiations with Spain for air and naval bases and an agreement was finally consummated last week by which the United States gets the bases and Spain gets $226,000,000 which had already been granted and not yet delivered.

This transaction has been soundly arranged, perhaps because no emotional factors of friendship were involved. There was a quid pro quo and a meeting of the minds, as the lawyers say. It is the application of intelligent self-interest on both sides and is expected to last for 10 years.

The Iberian peninsula is one of the principal gateways to the continent of Europe. From the standpoint of logistics in the present situation, which has as its target Soviet Russia, it is a more secure gateway than any in northwestern Europe because it might survive a speedy Russian thrust.

Should either Great Britain or France become neutralist, our peril will not be so great once our bases in Spain and North Africa are fully developed. The agitation of Clement Attlee and Aneurin Bevan to make Great Britain neutralist has been launched with full vigor as part of an election campaign for the British Labour party to unseat Sir Winston Churchill, whose situation is becoming difficult because of his waning health and the general anti-Americanism which is developing in his country.

This anti-Americanism needs to be correctly appraised in this country. The British people realize that in a war between the United States and Soviet Russia, their islands would be like sitting ducks. They have been bombed in two wars and they know what it means in deaths, in broken homes and in the destruction of property.

There is little use repeating the American arguments, that we got into this mess because we hoped to save Britain, first from the kaiser and then from Hitler; that we have expended vastly of our wealth and sons; that we assisted Great Britain magnificently after each war.

The British people counter by saying that they stood for 12 months alone, taking the most terrifying bombing, and that they want no more of it, if they can help it. Simply stated—they do not want another war and most of them believe that is American stiff-neckedness which is making a compromise impossible. In addition, the British believe that they can free themselves from economic dependence upon the United States if East-West trade is permitted to flourish unhampered by American restrictions.

It is possible to say that the British do not like the Russians or the Chinese Communists any more than we do, but they take the position that nations do not live by general moral principles but by the facts of life, as unpleasant as they may be. They are prepared to cut their losses.

This attitude is so general in Great Britain that it becomes difficult for a politician there to hold his own against it. Therefore, the United States must assume that allies are needed elsewhere. Greece and Turkey stand firm; Iran is likely to be rehabilitated as an American ally; the Arab states will probably move into our orbit; Spain is with us.

Thus, a stepping stone defense is being organized in southern Europe, in the Mediterranean and in the Middle East, supported by bases in North Africa. This bastion could be made effective with the unconventional weapons at our disposal.

Bluntly stated, our defense in the Atlantic and the Pacific will be most effective if kept distant from continental United States. And if our defenses are strong, there may be no war.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Adlai Stevenson made what looks like a curious suggestion to President Eisenhower. The former presidential candidate says he would like to see the United States sign a non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia.

Does this mean that Mr. Stevenson believes it necessary for the United States to make a pledge that hereafter it will not commit acts of aggression against Soviet Russia? Has the United States ever been guilty of aggression heretofore? In the eyes of Stalin, Vishinsky, Mao and the rest of the Communists, the United States crossed the 38th Parallel in Korea with other members of the United Nations and committed acts of aggression against the so-called people's government in North Korea.

Mr. Stevenson says the objective of the proposed non-aggression pact would be "to deprive Soviet Russia of the peace propaganda it now has and put them on the spot as to their intentions." But if the United States agrees "not to commit acts of aggression any more"—as the Soviet propaganda will phrase it—the step will be tantamount to pleading guilty, of course, to an absurd accusation.

Acute H-Bomb Problem

The former Illinois governor isn't quite sure whether his suggested pact of non-aggression would include just Great Britain, France, the United States and Soviet Russia, or whether it would include all the countries behind the iron curtain as well as such hypothetical aggressors as now are known as members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The President is reported to have shown an interest in what Mr. Stevenson proposed and also to have listened intently to the story of what the former presidential nominee found on his trip around the world. It is natural for Mr. Eisenhower to be polite about such things and to do so in the interest of a bipartisan front in handling foreign policy.

But at the same time the nation is getting a rather confused impression as to what the Eisenhower administration really has in mind in the matter of world policy, especially as it relates to Soviet Russia.

There is a feeling that the President has been unable to formulate a definite policy about what to do as a consequence of the development of the hydrogen bomb by Soviet Russia. From Mr. Eisenhower's press conference on Wednesday came the following official information:

1. The knowledge that the Russians have the bomb is, of course, an acute problem for the Defense Department.

2. This is causing more earnest study than anything which has happened lately.

3. When the President can get sorted out in his own mind and with his advisers exactly how the government here should approach this whole subject and its interrelationship with the international situation, the relief of tension in the world and the growing destructiveness of the world's armament—when he can get that all straightened out—he expects to go before the American people and tell them about it. He will be very frank in telling them the facts on which his studies have been based and the conclusions which he and the administration have reached.

The foregoing doesn't sound as if the American government has any plan or program to deal with the Communist menace except to deal with each new situation as it arises. The President feels he should not say anything in his forthcoming speeches that might produce adverse reactions. His reasons as he gave them to the press are these:

1. We have friends abroad and must be very careful that they understand always that we have one intention—namely, peace. We don't want war, and anyone with his war experience would put war at the very last of any possible solutions to the world's difficulties.

Threat And Counterthreat

2. The President thinks the only possible tragedy greater than winning a war would be losing it. Just war should be ruled out of the calculations of all of us and we should proceed from there.

3. Now America wants all her allies to understand thoroughly that, because we have to take rudimentary precautions for our own security, we will not quail from any sacrifice necessary to provide that security. If you don't look out, these intentions are misunderstood, and badly misunderstood.

4. Some of our friends say we are pugnacious and impulsive or we have lost faith in the conference table. Those things are far from the truth.

5. Another thing is that you don't want to frighten anyone to death in the world. Frightened people cannot make good decisions. So you have to understand the strength of the free world and the strength of America at the very same time that you are weighing also our dangers and our risks.

This is but another way of saying that talk about the destructiveness of the H-bomb could frighten European peoples and drive them into appeasement policies. Likewise, if too much emphasis is placed on what might happen to our side, it may be overlooked that the free world can deliver retaliatory blows as well.

The formula is still one of threat and counterthreat.

Here And Now

Swearing

Today ends "Christian Education Week." There is a growing conviction that if our youth are to be fully equipped for life, they must be trained religiously.

At the same time we are being reminded of the possibility of all of us being suddenly wiped off the face of the earth.

Civil Defense has alerted us to this possibility, and issued instructions what to do in case of a bombing attack.

A prior alert comes richocheting down the centuries from Mt. Sinai, with instructions telling what to do and what not to do to avert calamities.

Nuclear fission is featuring a 3-D projection of the Ten Commandments for the benefit of saints and sinners, making it clear that if we want to remain on God's footstool, we had better tie up in some intimate fashion with God's laws.

Some of the "operation checkup" instructions have analogies to the ancient "tables of the law" handed down from God through Moses to our generation.

Safer Without Traffic

In the event of a surprise attack and we are in the open spaces, we are to "drop to the ground." Automobiles are to stand stock still. It will be easier for those who genuflect to accomplish this feat. When we are on our knees with no traffic hazard, we can shrive our souls, and be ready for eventualities.

There may be some pretext for violating some of the Commandments—some fancied gain or personal satisfaction; but when a man wilfully profanes the name and attributes of God he sells his birthright for a mess of pottage.

The Catholic Church has taken the matter seriously and is trying to curb the widespread violation of the Third Commandment, through its "Holy Name Society," with its membership of 1,500 here and 10 million in the national organization.

Ministers are not so aware of the prevalent use of profanity, for when their presence is noted in a group there is a hush-hush alert.

Swearing occurs in all walks of life. "Uncle Joe" Cannon was for 46 years a congressman from Illinois, eight of which he was speaker of the House. He was genial and capable, but an inveterate swearer. He had a wonderful vocabulary of cuss words which he used on the slightest provocation; yet he said to a constituent he had "never sworn an oath in his life." It was purely reflexive.

Fills Air Pocket

If one has something to say that he can't say without an oath, he is either too lazy to think, or he had better leave it unsaid. Profanity is an attempt to fill an air pocket in the brain.

If one gets "so mad he can swear," what can be done about it? A judge can swear a witness, but a higher tribunal forbids his swearing at him.

"It would make a preacher swear," is sometimes heard in justification of an outburst of spleen.

How does a preacher swear? It is his duty on occasion to be "righteously indignant," but if profane swearing with him becomes a habit he may be unfrocked, and rightly so.

He would be out of character if he attempted to parrot the cliches of conventional stupidity, but listen to a distinguished apostle as he poured out a vitriolic barrage upon the head of an offender:

"You son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, full of deceit and villany, will you not stop making crooked the straight paths of the Lord?" (See Acts 13-10).

If anyone tells you to "go to hell," thank him for the invitation and ask what part of that sulphurous region he comes from, but tell him you don't expect to go.

Here is a classic example of how three boys were cured of swearing:

Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucretia Mott, Susan B. Anthony and other distinguished women were pioneers in the woman's rights movement that gave us the 19th Amendment to the Constitution.

Elizabeth' three boys had acquired the habit of swearing, much to her embarrassment, for she was a cultured and careful mother. She talked over with Susan and Lucretia a plan to cure the practice.

Lucretia suggested that at the next meal they all swear, to see if that would shame the boys.

Boys Were Shocked

Elizabeth was a great entertainer and had trained her boys to wait on the table when she had company. They were paid for serving, and, dressed in their white suits, took great pains in doing it well.

Two distinguished guests were present that day and they were let in on the plan in advance. The boys were serving in their best style, when suddenly Lucretia Mott, trim and proper in her Quaker cap and kerchief, said to Elizabeth, "May I give you some of this damned chicken?"

The boys gasped, and whenever the women spoke a profane word, the guests looked horrified but said nothing.

That night when the boys could get their mother alone, they exclaimed, "What will the Senator and cousin Gerrit think of you, swearing like that?"

"Well," she replied, "you boys do it. Don't you like to hear it?" "Oh, no, Mother," they chorused. "Very well, then," said she, "if you boys will stop swearing, I will also." It worked.

Youngsters In Trouble

FBI Director Hoover foresees a crime wave of "greater overall proportions than anything heretofore known" unless effective action is taken to check the rise in unwholesome activity among young people. He will be the leading witness at an investigation of juvenile delinquency to be opened in November by a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The investigating panel is under Senate instruction to study and report by next February 1 on the present extent of juvenile delinquency, reasons for its increase during recent years, the adequacy of existing legal controls, and the part played in teen-age crime by narcotic addiction. Hearings will be held in a dozen cities with high delinquency rates, starting with the national capital. Testimony is expected to shock the country, much as did facts disclosed by witnesses in the earlier Senate crime investigation under Senator Kefauver.

Delinquency rates reached successive new highs during the war years, declined after V-day, and in 1949 began a new climb which is still in progress. It is estimated by the U. S. Children's Bureau that one million children are arrested each year and that 350,000 youngsters are taken before juvenile courts as delinquents. Court cases increased 12 per cent last year while the number of youngsters in the juvenile-court age group was increasing only about three per cent.

The country will learn from the forthcoming investigation that a very large proportion of all offenses against property are committed by adolescents. Last year youngsters under 17 were responsible for 37 per cent of the larcenies, 48 per cent of the burglaries, 53 per cent of the auto thefts. Nearly half of all persons booked for crimes against property had not yet reached their 21st birthdays.

In the category of "crimes against persons" the figures are less striking, although 15 per cent of the arrests for rape in 1952, five per cent of those for assault, and four per cent of the murder arrests were of youths under 17.

Experts do not agree on the causes of youthful misbehavior, but an FBI study lists the following as conditions which appear "with regularity" in juvenile cases:

Poor home conditions, availability of salacious literature, lack of religion, physical and mental defects, youth gang activities, and failure to provide prompt detection and punishment.

In recent years there has been a tendency to class the delinquent as a troubled youngster, rather than a bad one. However, J. Edgar Hoover has repeatedly warned against the "maudlin sentimentality" which excuses delinquents because of their tender years and is responsible for regulations which hamper the police in dealing with hardened teen-agers.

Law enforcement authorities have the responsibility of protecting society and are apt to demand that the punishment fit the crime. Social welfare agencies have the responsibility of protecting children and are more interested in getting them back on the right track than in seeing that they are adequately punished for their offenses. Present control measures represent a compromise between these objectives.

Newer legislation in some of the states seeks to iron out the conflict of aims by dividing minors who break the law into two groups. The younger delinquents continue to receive paternalistic handling in the juvenile courts. The older or more hardened adolescents are classed as "wayward minors" or "misdemeanants" and given sterner treatment. Although still protected against the stigma of criminal conviction, they may be held for indefinite terms in institutions that will work for their rehabilitation.

Chronic Diseases

The major chronic diseases—cancer, arthritis, heart attacks, tuberculosis, a dozen others—that afflict Americans are being surveyed by the House Commerce committee. The committee wants to know, in particular, what more the government could and should do in curbing illness and its economic impacts.

Chronic diseases now account for three out of every four deaths in the United States. These diseases vary widely in their origin, their nature and their effects, but they have one point in common—they require medical treatment for an extended period.

Also, most of them call for recognition and supervision in their earliest stages. The campaign against tuberculosis, for instance, reduced it from second place in the causes of death to seventh place over 50 years. And most Americans have now been made aware that much of cancer can be eradicated if recognized and treated in time.

It's a matter of national defense as well as of individual health. Hundreds of thousands of men called up under Selective Service were ineligible for the Army because of physical disability, including mental disease.

On the industrial side of the defense picture, on a typical day in mid-winter more than four million workers are absent from their jobs because of temporary or prolonged disability. The average worker loses 17 days of work every year because of illness. Older workers stay away for longer periods, but younger workers are apt to stay away more often.

Dealing With Spain

Defense, like politics, makes strange bedfellows. The United States and Britain joined up with Soviet Russia to make common cause against Hitler's Nazis and Mussolini's Fascists during World War II. Both Hitler and Mussolini contributed to the victory of Francisco Franco over the Spanish Republicans.

Now, when the world's greatest fear is of aggression by the Russian totalitarians, Washington, which in the past had shared in condemnation of Franco, makes a deal with the Spanish dictator for military bases in return for financial aid.

It is an arrangement that few on this side relish. But what has been regarded largely a moral issue gives way to practical considerations.

Spain's geography makes it a highly strategic location for bases from which to carry air war to Russia should the Kremlin make that necessary. Franco is firmly established in Spain, and there is no one else to deal with to obtain the facilities for an essential outpost in the defense perimeter.

The agreement signed in Madrid makes it clear that this is not an acceptance of the Franco regime as pure. It is wholly an accommodation for mutual defense against "the danger that threatens the Western world." On the Western side, that is. From Franco's viewpoint, the proffered money was a powerful argument.

How To Keep Well

Teamwork Needed With Diabetic Child

Rearing a diabetic child is no picnic because a strict diet and insulin are needed. The task is made easier when the youngster appreciates the seriousness of his condition and makes a good adjustment to the handicap. On the other hand, the boy or girl who rebels is a real trouble maker. He refuses to take insulin and will not stick to the diet. As might be expected, many of these uncooperative children often are found in coma or their system is damaged irreparably, which causes them to age prematurely.

At the turn of the century it was the exception rather than the rule for a little one with diabetes to reach adulthood. The change came after the discovery of insulin. But physicians soon discovered that unless the disease is kept under perfect control, the diabetic develops hardening of the arteries early in life. For this reason, meticulous care is essential. From the practical point of view, this is more easily said than done as children are children and the mental attitude requires as much attention as the disease.

There is no magic formula that works in all cases, but the best results are obtained in those whose families have learned all they can about diabetes. Knowing about the diet, for example, means a wider choice of menus and how to calculate substitute meals for school and picnic lunches as well as kiddies' parties. This is important because it allows the little patient more freedom.

The diet and insulin requirements need revision as the youngster grows, because young people are more active than adults. Twenty years ago there was only one type of insulin, which had to be administered three or four times a day. Now there are five different types so that most diabetics are able to get along on one injection per day. This is a real break because it simplifies management of the disease.

Despite the advantages of modern treatment, however, many boys and girls refuse to cooperate. This usually begins during adolescence when the teen-ager acquires a mind of his own. He is tired of being picked on and singled out as being different. He resents the fact that his companions can sit around the old hangout eating cheeseburgers and drinking cokes. This situation is easier to prevent than to handle after it develops. Another point is that parents often have been too strict or have given the son or daughter the impression that his disease has been successfully managed only through a great sacrifice on their part. Still others have spent too little time showing him how to lead a normal life so that he might be one of the crowd.

Every diabetic also should know what occurs when too much insulin is taken. Reactions of this kind are most likely to arise when eating is delayed or a double dose of insulin has been injected by mistake. Moreover, physical activity has a tendency to lower the blood sugar level.

Early signs of too much insulin in the system are a feeling of faintness dizziness, nervousness, weakness, breaking out into a cold sweat, or seeing double. Others develop headache and feel "sick to the stomach." The effect must be nullified with a lump of sugar, candy, sweetened coffee or tea, ginger ale, or fruit juice. All diabetics should carry a piece of candy for such emergencies as well as an identification card to explain the need for sugar should the occasion arise.

DENTAL DECAY

Mrs. Y. writes: What causes my boy to have all kinds of cavities even though he brushes his teeth every day?

REPLY

We do not have the answers on dental caries but the current belief is that the use of starches and sugars plays an important role. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this topic.

BLACKOUTS

S. D. writes: Could nervous exhaustion cause blackouts that last several hours? During this period, the person does not know what is happening?

REPLY

"Nervous exhaustion" is a lay term used to describe a variety of nervous disorders. There are many causes of blackouts, including hysteria, epilepsy, low blood sugar, and hyperventilation.

ELASTIC NYLON HOSE

Mrs. J. writes: Do you approve of nylon elastic stockings for varicose veins?

REPLY

The use of elastic stockings is a well established treatment of varicose veins. Those made of nylon have their advantages and disadvantages but so long as they fit I can see no objection.

COFFEE FOR OLDSTER

T. B. writes: Will drinking two cups of strong coffee at breakfast harm my arthritis? I'm 75 years old and enjoy my coffee.

REPLY

No. Long time habits are hard to change and because you like coffee go to it.

Gov. Earl Warren Proves That Modest Politics Can Pay Off; New Chief Justice Began Life As Roundhouse Call-Boy; Father Was Murdered

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson today awards the brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, to Earl Warren of California, new chief justice of the United States.)

WASHINGTON — Most politicians figure that the political fates take care of those who help themselves. The new chief justice of the United States is a notable exception. Never has he reached out in the political sense to help himself; yet the highest award in the American judiciary has just been handed him.

In 1948, friends urged Gov. Earl Warren to get out and stump the country, let people get better acquainted with him. "I'm not very good at that," he replied. "If I'm qualified for the presidency, I guess people eventually will find out."

They didn't find it out in 1948. Tom Dewey, who did get out and beat the hustings, was nominated but defeated. And four years later, in 1952, Herbert Hoover, who disagrees with Warren on many policies, told General MacArthur that he considered Warren the best-qualified candidate in the Republican party. But again Warren refused to beat the hustings.

And in Chicago last year I sat with him in his room at the Blackstone Hotel as the votes piled up for the opposition GOP candidates and as it became obvious he would be snowed under. Warren was a bit sad but also philosophic.

"It takes so much money to line up delegates," he mused. "And when you raise all that money you put your political soul in hock for the rest of your life. I don't think it pays."

So Earl Warren went home from Chicago, back to the job of being a good governor of California.

And he had no idea, when he announced a few weeks ago that he would not run again, that the highest judicial post in the U.S.A. would be offered him. Obviously he could not have known. For no one knew that Chief Justice Vinson was to pass away tragically in his sleep.

Warren merely felt, when he made his announcement, that he had been governor long enough, and that it was only fair that the people of California have time to pick a new man.

Father Murdered

The new chief justice began life as a call-boy in a locomotive roundhouse. His father was a master car-builder, and it was Earl's job to ride a bicycle to the homes of locomotive engineers and trainmen to notify them when they were called for the next trip. One night a housebreaker entered the Warren home, murdered his father, and young Earl was left to support his mother.

Possibly that explains his great sympathy for the workingman, his trend toward social-minded, New Deal projects. His family suffered considerable sickness in Warren's youth, and he knew what it was to struggle to pay the doctor's bill. That was one reason he fought for a health program that aroused the doctors of California to a white-hot pitch of opposition.

It may also be why Warren stood up for low-cost public housing, for rent control, and fought the big land-owners when it came to the 160-acre limitation on irrigated land under federal reclamation.

Yet, despite his liberal leanings, the governor of a state which has seen the rise and fall of funny money, ham-and-eggers, and all sorts of fringe movements, never jumped on a hallelujah bandwagon. Frequently it would have seemed good politics to do so. When he was a rising young politician in Oakland, the Ku Klux Klan swept the state like wildfire and many a politician put on the pillow case. But not Warren.

Ike Vs. Warren

And when the rage for loyalty oaths came along, Warren failed to lead the professional patriots and put his right hand on the Bible. Asked if there would be a purge of California employes, he replied: "No, we never hired any Reds in the first place."

His stand was unpopular, especially with his Republican friends on the board of regents of the University of California. It even inspired some luncheon remarks by another prominent personage — no less than the man in the White House who has just appointed Warren to the Supreme Court.

General Eisenhower was being wined and dined in San Francisco in 1952, and delivered two off-the-cuff talks, before the San Francisco Press Club and the Bohemian Club, during which he took an indirect crack at Governor Warren by saying he didn't know of any loyalty oath that he wouldn't be willing to stand up and swear to.

Naturally, the remark got back to Warren.

"It's interesting," commented the governor to a friend, "that the president of Columbia University made his remark off-the-record so it would not be quoted in the East. For he and President Conant of Harvard were the first to take a public stand against loyalty oaths. Furthermore," Warren continued, "it happens that the university Ike heads has more Communists and Reds than any other in the country."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Spanish Agreement

In the period when a distinction was made between good and bad dictators, a world-wide propaganda was accelerated by Russia and the Communist agencies throughout the world against Spain. Of all countries, Spain was categorized as the worst and Franco was made the symbol of all that is wrong in government.

The propaganda was so effective that Spain became the pariah among nations and Franco an outcast. This attitude did not weaken Franco among his own people. He managed to survive the isolation. And Spain managed to continue to exist.

With our experience with Stalin, Malenkov, Tito and all the other masters of men, the light dawned that Franco surely is no worse than these others and that Spain is needed by the United States as an ally. For 17 months the United States conducted negotiations with Spain for air and naval bases and an agreement was finally consummated last week by which the United States gets the bases and Spain gets $226,000,000 which had already been granted and not yet delivered.

This transaction has been soundly arranged, perhaps because no emotional factors of friendship were involved. There was a quid pro quo and a meeting of the minds, as the lawyers say. It is the application of intelligent self-interest on both sides and is expected to last for 10 years.

The Iberian peninsula is one of the principal gateways to the continent of Europe. From the standpoint of logistics in the present situation, which has as its target Soviet Russia, it is a more secure gateway than any in northwestern Europe because it might survive a speedy Russian thrust.

Should either Great Britain or France become neutralist, our peril will not be so great once our bases in Spain and North Africa are fully developed. The agitation of Clement Attlee and Aneurin Bevan to make Great Britain neutralist has been launched with full vigor as part of an election campaign for the British Labour party to unseat Sir Winston Churchill, whose situation is becoming difficult because of his waning health and the general anti-Americanism which is developing in his country.

This anti-Americanism needs to be correctly appraised in this country. The British people realize that in a war between the United States and Soviet Russia, their islands would be like sitting ducks. They have been bombed in two wars and they know what it means in deaths, in broken homes and in the destruction of property.

There is little use repeating the American arguments, that we got into this mess because we hoped to save Britain, first from the kaiser and then from Hitler; that we have expended vastly of our wealth and sons; that we assisted Great Britain magnificently after each war.

The British people counter by saying that they stood for 12 months alone, taking the most terrifying bombing, and that they want no more of it, if they can help it. Simply stated—they do not want another war and most of them believe that is American stiff-neckedness which is making a compromise impossible. In addition, the British believe that they can free themselves from economic dependence upon the United States if East-West trade is permitted to flourish unhampered by American restrictions.

It is possible to say that the British do not like the Russians or the Chinese Communists any more than we do, but they take the position that nations do not live by general moral principles but by the facts of life, as unpleasant as they may be. They are prepared to cut their losses.

This attitude is so general in Great Britain that it becomes difficult for a politician there to hold his own against it. Therefore, the United States must assume that allies are needed elsewhere. Greece and Turkey stand firm; Iran is likely to be rehabilitated as an American ally; the Arab states will probably move into our orbit; Spain is with us.

Thus, a stepping stone defense is being organized in southern Europe, in the Mediterranean and in the Middle East, supported by bases in North Africa. This bastion could be made effective with the unconventional weapons at our disposal.

Bluntly stated, our defense in the Atlantic and the Pacific will be most effective if kept distant from continental United States. And if our defenses are strong, there may be no war.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Adlai Stevenson made what looks like a curious suggestion to President Eisenhower. The former presidential candidate says he would like to see the United States sign a non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia.

Does this mean that Mr. Stevenson believes it necessary for the United States to make a pledge that hereafter it will not commit acts of aggression against Soviet Russia? Has the United States ever been guilty of aggression heretofore? In the eyes of Stalin, Vishinsky, Mao and the rest of the Communists, the United States crossed the 38th Parallel in Korea with other members of the United Nations and committed acts of aggression against the so-called people's government in North Korea.

Mr. Stevenson says the objective of the proposed non-aggression pact would be "to deprive Soviet Russia of the peace propaganda it now has and put them on the spot as to their intentions." But if the United States agrees "not to commit acts of aggression any more"—as the Soviet propaganda will phrase it—the step will be tantamount to pleading guilty, of course, to an absurd accusation.

Acute H-Bomb Problem

The former Illinois governor isn't quite sure whether his suggested pact of non-aggression would include just Great Britain, France, the United States and Soviet Russia, or whether it would include all the countries behind the iron curtain as well as such hypothetical aggressors as now are known as members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The President is reported to have shown an interest in what Mr. Stevenson proposed and also to have listened intently to the story of what the former presidential nominee found on his trip around the world. It is natural for Mr. Eisenhower to be polite about such things and to do so in the interest of a bipartisan front in handling foreign policy.

But at the same time the nation is getting a rather confused impression as to what the Eisenhower administration really has in mind in the matter of world policy, especially as it relates to Soviet Russia.

There is a feeling that the President has been unable to formulate a definite policy about what to do as a consequence of the development of the hydrogen bomb by Soviet Russia. From Mr. Eisenhower's press conference on Wednesday came the following official information:

1. The knowledge that the Russians have the bomb is, of course, an acute problem for the Defense Department.

2. This is causing more earnest study than anything which has happened lately.

3. When the President can get sorted out in his own mind and with his advisers exactly how the government here should approach this whole subject and its interrelationship with the international situation, the relief of tension in the world and the growing destructiveness of the world's armament—when he can get that all straightened out—he expects to go before the American people and tell them about it. He will be very frank in telling them the facts on which his studies have been based and the conclusions which he and the administration have reached.

The foregoing doesn't sound as if the American government has any plan or program to deal with the Communist menace except to deal with each new situation as it arises. The President feels he should not say anything in his forthcoming speeches that might produce adverse reactions. His reasons as he gave them to the press are these:

Threat And Counterthreat

1. We have friends abroad and must be very careful that they understand always that we have one intention—namely, peace. We don't want war, and anyone with his war experience would put war at the very last of any possible solutions to the world's difficulties.

2. The President thinks the only possible tragedy greater than winning a war would be losing it. Just war should be ruled out of the calculations of all of us and we should proceed from there.

3. Now America wants all her allies to understand thoroughly that, because we have to take rudimentary precautions for our own security, we will not quail from any sacrifice necessary to provide that security. If you don't look out, these intentions are misunderstood, and badly misunderstood.

4. Some of our friends say we are pugnacious and impulsive or we have lost faith in the conference table. Those things are far from the truth.

5. Another thing is that you don't want to frighten anyone to death in the world. Frightened people cannot make good decisions. So you have to understand the strength of the free world and the strength of America at the very same time that you are weighing also our dangers and our risks.

This is but another way of saying that talk about the destructiveness of the H-bomb could frighten European peoples and drive them into appeasement policies. Likewise, if too much emphasis is placed on what might happen to our side, it may be overlooked that the free world can deliver retaliatory blows as well.

The formula is still one of threat and counterthreat.

Here And Now

Swearing

Today ends "Christian Education Week." There is a growing conviction that if our youth are to be fully equipped for life, they must be trained religiously.

At the same time we are being reminded of the possibility of all of us being suddenly wiped off the face of the earth.

Civil Defense has alerted us to this possibility, and issued instructions what to do in case of a bombing attack.

A prior alert comes richocheting down the centuries from Mt. Sinai, with instructions telling what to do and what not to do to avert calamities.

Nuclear fission is featuring a 3-D projection of the Ten Commandments for the benefit of saints and sinners, making it clear that if we want to remain on God's footstool, we had better tie up in some intimate fashion with God's laws.

Some of the "operation check-up" instructions have analogies to the ancient "tables of the law" handed down from God through Moses to our generation.

Safer Without Traffic

In the event of a surprise attack and we are in the open spaces, we are to "drop to the ground." Automobiles are to stand stock still. It will be easier for those who genuflect to accomplish this feat. When we are on our knees with no traffic hazard, we can shrive our souls, and be ready for eventualities.

There may be some pretext for violating some of the Commandments—some fancied gain or personal satisfaction; but when a man wilfully profanes the name and attributes of God he sells his birthright for a mess of pottage.

The Catholic Church has taken the matter seriously and is trying to curb the widespread violation of the Third Commandment, through its "Holy Name Society," with its membership of 1,500 here and 10 million in the national organization.

Ministers are not so aware of the prevalent use of profanity, for when their presence is noted in a group there is a hush-hush alert.

Swearing occurs in all walks of life. "Uncle Joe" Cannon was for 46 years a congressman from Illinois, eight of which he was speaker of the House. He was genial and capable, but an inveterate swearer. He had a wonderful vocabulary of cuss words which he used on the slightest provocation; yet he said to a constituent he had "never sworn an oath in his life." It was purely reflexive.

Fills Air Pocket

If one has something to say that he can't say without an oath, he is either too lazy to think, or he had better leave it unsaid. Profanity is an attempt to fill an air pocket in the brain.

If one gets "so mad he can swear," what can be done about it? A judge can swear a witness, but a higher tribunal forbids his swearing at him.

"It would make a preacher swear," is sometimes heard in justification of an outburst of spleen.

How does a preacher swear? It is his duty on occasion to be "righteously indignant," but if profane swearing with him becomes a habit he may be unfrocked, and rightly so.

He would be out of character if he attempted to parrot the cliches of conventional stupidity, but listen to a distinguished apostle as he poured out a vitriolic barrage upon the head of an offender:

"You son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, full of deceit and villany, will you not stop making crooked the straight paths of the Lord?" (See Acts 13-10).

If anyone tells you to "go to hell," thank him for the invitation and ask what part of that sulphurous region he comes from, but tell him you don't expect to go.

Here is a classic example of how three boys were cured of swearing:

Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucretia Mott, Susan B. Anthony and other distinguished women were pioneers in the woman's rights movement that gave us the 19th Amendment to the Constitution.

Elizabeth' three boys had acquired the habit of swearing, much to her embarrassment, for she was a cultured and careful mother. She talked over with Susan and Lucretia a plan to cure the practice.

Lucretia suggested that at the next meal they all swear, to see if that would shame the boys.

Boys Were Shocked

Elizabeth was a great entertainer and had trained her boys to wait on the table when she had company. They were paid for serving, and, dressed in their white suits, took great pains in doing it well.

Two distinguished guests were present that day and they were let in on the plan in advance. The boys were serving in their best style, when suddenly Lucretia Mott, trim and proper in her Quaker cap and kerchief, said to Elizabeth, "May I give you some of this damned chicken?"

The boys gasped, and whenever the women spoke a profane word, the guests looked horrified but said nothing.

That night when the boys could get their mother alone, they exclaimed, "What will the Senator and cousin Gerrit think of you, swearing like that?"

"Well," she replied, "you boys do it. Don't you like to hear it?"

"Oh, no, Mother," they chorused.

"Very well, then," said she, "if you boys will stop swearing, I will also." It worked.

Allegheny Line Reports $72,109 Profit In Year

Total Amounts To 14 Cents Per Share

A net profit of $72,109 for the year which ended June 30 was announced by Leslie O. Barnes, president of Allegheny Airlines in its 15th annual report.

This profit is equal to 14 cents per share and compares with a loss of 28 cents per share last year. At the close of the year there were no bonds, debentures or loans of any kind outstanding.

Airline revenues for fiscal 1952-53 increased $167,624 over the previous year. During the last quarter non-mail revenues gained $61,816 over the same period last year while mail payments were reduced $8,585. "This is a most important development", Barnes stated "in that it supports Allegheny's objective of steadily reducing mail revenues to the extent the company will become increasingly less dependent on subsidy mail pay."

In spite of generally increasing cost levels in the industry Allegheny effected economies resulting in a decrease in operating expenses of $8,062.

President Barnes reported that Allegheny had again received the National Safety Council Award in 1952 for its unbroken safety record of 91,381,000 passenger miles.

Commenting on the long range plans of Allegheny, President Barnes, who joined the company in February of this year, said "At least five years and possibly more must elapse before helicopters or equipment embodying the rotary-wing principle may be considered as replacement for fixed-wing aircraft—yet the rotary-wing type of vehicle is vital to the development of the company and will be the type of equipment which will permit large scale penetration into the mass low-cost travel market". In view of the importance of this market to the future of Allegheny, the company is actively participating in the development of the helicopter.

Allegheny Airlines was recertificated by the Civil Aeronautics Board through 1956 and now operates schedule services to 45 cities in the Middle Atlantic Area.

TV Company To Correct Cable Interference

KEYSER — The Federal Communications Commission has informed Mayor John C. Freeland that interference with television reception here is due to incomplete shielding of a cable serving the city.

A number of residents recently complained to the Mayor and Council that operations of a TV cable firm were causing interference with their reception of Station WJAC in Johnstown, Pa., on Channel 6.

In a letter to Mayor Freeland this week, H. A. Cohen, FFC engineer at Baltimore, said this was due to the fact that the cable company recently had switched channels and that the system has not yet been completely shielded and realigned.

A. T. Patrick, official of the cable firm, said the work is being completed.

Dinner Event Planned By Boys 4-H Federation

The Allegany County Boys 4-H Federation has scheduled a dinner meeting November 13 in the LaVale Fire Hall, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

Dale White, Leo Carder, and Wendell Long were named to the arrangements committee. Gerald Lancaster, Gary Mace, and Bernard Gross are on the program committee.

Grand Jury Will Meet Monday

Twenty-three representative citizens, five of them women, will report in Allegany County Circuit Court at 10 a. m. Monday to hear their charge as the Grand Jury begins its investigation into county crime.

Arthur P. Hoffa, mayor of Barton, will serve as Grand Jury foreman.

The investigative body is expected to conclude its activities Wednesday or Thursday as witnesses have been summoned only for three days next week. A number of cases originally planned for investigation have been settled with the filing of criminal informations by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

Brother Louis Reported In Good Condition

The condition of Brother Louis, O.F.M., Cap., 24, who was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Thursday for X-rays and observation following a fall at the foot of Wills Mountain, was reported as good last night today by hospital attaches.

The Capuchin friar suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and possible head and internal injuries following a 40-foot plunge down a steep rocky cliff at the foot of Wills Mountain on the outskirts of Cumberland.

W. Va. Motorist Dies In Mishap

A 42-year-old West Virginia motorist died on his way to a hospital early yesterday after the ambulance in which he was riding was involved in a minor collision.

Hampshire County Sheriff Merle Buckbee said Grant Swiger, Morgantown, was dead on arrival at Winchester (Va.) Memorial Hospital.

Sheriff Buckbee said Swiger's death was attributed to severe chest injuries which he received in a collision a short time earlier on U. S. Route 50 at Schaffnaker Mountain, just east of Capon Bridge, W. Va.

West Virginia State Police Sgt. R. E. Schnell and Trooper C. D. Austin reported that a station wagon which Sliger was driving collided headon with a truck driven by Willard Webster of Winchester at about 1:30 a.m.

The Gore (Va.) Volunteer Fire Company ambulance picked up Sliger and James Ridgeway, Morgantown, a passenger in the station wagon who had escaped injury, and started for the Winchester hospital.

Near Hayfield, Va., the ambulance was involved in a minor collision and Ridgeway sustained chest injuries. Sliger was dead on arrival at the hospital, but Ridgeway was admitted for observation and treatment.

Forest Fires Blaze In W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 2 (AP) — Conservation officials looked at the forest fire situation with guarded optimisim today—but at the same time were keeping their fingers crossed.

A mid-afternoon report compiled by radio listed 33 fires burning in scattered parts of the state. Only one, in Pendleton County, was known to be of a serious nature.

That was a blaze on North Fork Mountain in the general Goshen area, and also in the same locality where a major fire burned across about 2,000 acres last fall.

Five fires, four of which were under control, were reported in Nicholas County this afternoon. There were three in Boone, two in each of Pendleton, Clay, Randolph, Webster and Kanawha.

Tyler, Doddridge, Preston, Logan, Grant and Wayne each reported one blaze. There were nine others in a large southern area for which Beckley is district headquarters, but they were not listed by counties.

New Deputy Sheriff Receives His Oath

Louis T. Helman, 742 Gephart Drive, new deputy sheriff appointed earlier this week by Sheriff Edward R. Muir, received his oath of Office Thursday from Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Allegheny Line Reports $72,109 Profit In Year

Total Amounts To 14 Cents Per Share

A net profit of $72,109 for the year which ended June 30 was announced by Leslie O. Barnes, president of Allegheny Airlines in its 15th annual report.

This profit is equal to 14 cents per share and compares with a loss of 28 cents per share last year. At the close of the year there were no bonds, debentures or loans of any kind outstanding.

Airline revenues for fiscal 1952-53 increased $167,624 over the previous year. During the last quarter non-mail revenues gained $61,816 over the same period last year while mail payments were reduced $8,585. "This is a most important development", Barnes stated "in that it supports Allegheny's objective of steadily reducing mail revenues to the extent the company will become increasingly less dependent on subsidy mail pay."

In spite of generally increasing cost levels in the industry Allegheny effected economies resulting in a decrease in operating expenses of $8,062.

President Barnes reported that Allegheny had again received the National Safety Council Award in 1952 for its unbroken safety record of 91,381,000 passenger miles.

Commenting on the long range plans of Allegheny, President Barnes, who joined the company in February of this year, said "At least five years and possibly more must elapse before helicopters or equipment embodying the rotary-wing principle may be considered as replacement for fixed-wing aircraft—yet the rotary-wing type of vehicle is vital to the development of the company and will be the type of equipment which will permit large scale penetration into the mass low-cost travel market". In view of the importance of this market to the future of Allegheny, the company is actively participating in the development of the helicopter.

Allegheny Airlines was recertificated by the Civil Aeronautics Board through 1956 and now operates schedule services to 45 cities in the Middle Atlantic Area.

TV Company To Correct Cable Interference

KEYSER — The Federal Communications Commission has informed Mayor John C. Freeland that interference with television reception here is due to incomplete shielding of a cable serving the city.

A number of residents recently complained to the Mayor and Council that operations of a TV cable firm were causing interference with their reception of Station WJAC in Johnstown, Pa., on Channel 6.

In a letter to Mayor Freeland this week, H. A. Cohen, FFC engineer at Baltimore, said this was due to the fact that the cable company recently had switched channels and that the system has not yet been completely shielded and realigned.

A. T. Patrick, official of the cable firm, said the work is being completed.

Dinner Event Planned By Boys 4-H Federation

The Allegany County Boys 4-H Federation has scheduled a dinner meeting November 13 in the LaVale Fire Hall, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

Dale White, Leo Carder, and Wendell Long were named to the arrangements committee. Gerald Lancaster, Gary Mace, and Bernard Gross are on the program committee.

Grand Jury Will Meet Monday

Twenty-three representative citizens, five of them women, will report in Allegany County Circuit Court at 10 a. m. Monday to hear their charge as the Grand Jury begins its investigation into county crime.

Arthur P. Hoffa, mayor of Barton, will serve as Grand Jury foreman.

The investigative body is expected to conclude its activities Wednesday or Thursday as witnesses have been summoned only for three days next week. A number of cases originally planned for investigation have been settled with the filing of criminal informations by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

Brother Louis Reported In Good Condition

The condition of Brother Louis, O.F.M., Cap., 24, who was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Thursday for X-rays and observation following a fall at the foot of Wills Mountain, was reported as good last night today by hospital attaches.

The Capuchin friar suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and possible head and internal injuries following a 40-foot plunge down a steep rocky cliff at the foot of Wills Mountain on the outskirts of Cumberland.

"Walk-ins" according to Red Cross officials, are welcome at both stops and those who have made appointments are urged to keep them. Quota for each day is 150 pints of productive blood.

W. Va. Motorist Dies In Mishap

A 42-year-old West Virginia motorist died on his way to a hospital early yesterday after the ambulance in which he was riding was involved in a minor collision.

Hampshire County Sheriff Merle Buckbee said Grant Swiger, Morgantown, was dead on arrival at Winchester (Va.) Memorial Hospital.

Sheriff Buckbee said Swiger's death was attributed to severe chest injuries which he received in a collision a short time earlier on U. S. Route 50 at Schaffnaker Mountain, just east of Capon Bridge, W. Va.

West Virginia State Police Sgt. R. E. Schnell and Trooper C. D. Austin reported that a station wagon which Sliger was driving collided headon with a truck driven by Willard Webster of Winchester at about 1:30 a.m.

The Gore (Va.) Volunteer Fire Company ambulance picked up Sliger and James Ridgeway, Morgantown, a passenger in the station wagon who had escaped injury, and started for the Winchester hospital.

Near Hayfield, Va., the ambulance was involved in a minor collision and Ridgeway sustained chest injuries. Sliger was dead on arrival at the hospital, but Ridgeway was admitted for observation and treatment.

Ada Louise Ford To Become Bride Of Hugh F. Maffett

Ceremony To Be In Trinity Lutheran Church

Miss Ada Louise Ford, daughter of Mrs. Mary L. Ford, 517 Lowell Avenue, and the late C. G. Ford, is to become the bride of Hugh Fink Maffett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Maffett, Oakland, today.

The double ring, candle light ceremony is being solemnized at 2 o'clock in Trinity Lutheran Church with Rev. G. A. Wagner, pastor, officiating; assisted by Rev. John H. C. Albohm, New York City, who officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents and her own christening. Vases of white chrysanthemums and candelabra of lighted tapers are being used in the decorations of the altar while baskets of white chrysanthemums decorate the chancel and white satin bows mark the pews.

Miss Marie Hutson is to be the bride's maid of honor and only attendant, while William R. Maffett, Oakland is his brother's best man; Elwood Sanders, Oakland; and Earl Moyer, Willoughby, Ohio; are the ushers.

A program of nuptial music is being played by Mrs. Paul Gilford, organist. It will include Schuman's "Tramari," and Chopin's "Etude in E," as well as the traditional wedding march from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional.

Given in marriage by Paul Gilford, intimate friend of the family, the bride is wearing a gown of nylon lace over taffeta. It is fashioned with a full floor length skirt with modified train and the bodice, scalloped at the waistline, has a scalloped yoke, long pointed sleeves and is buttoned down the back. Her fingertip length veil of illusion is edged with lace and held by a cap of taffeta and lace matching the gown. Completing her costume, she is carrying a bridal bouquet of pink rosebuds encircled with white pompons and tied with a shower of white satin streamers.

Her maid of honor's gown is of light green taffeta, made similar to the bride's with a full length gathered skirt, scalloped bodice and short scalloped sleeves. Her headdress and bouquet are of yellow rosebuds and pompons.

Mrs. Ford has selected a royal blue dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. With it she is wearing a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Maffett has a Navy blue suit with black accessories and is wearing a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School and is active in 4-H Club work. She is a member of the Cumberland 4-H Club, Maryland 4-H Chapter of All Stars and represented the state at the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago in 1943. Until her recent resignation, she was employed in the construction office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Oakland High School and served with the Air Force from 1944 until 1946, with duty in Germany. He is engaged in dairy and poultry farming in Garrett county.

Immediately following the ceremony Mrs. Ford is entertaining with a wedding reception for her daughter and her bridal party. It will be in the parish hall, which is decorated with pastel colored fall flowers and candelabra of lighted tapers at either end of the table. The three tiered wedding cake is adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Alvin Davis is cutting the cake and Mrs. Earl Moyer, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Phyllis Barncord and Mrs. Richard Broome are assisting at the punch bowl.

For her traveling costume on their wedding trip east, the bride has chosen an Air Force blue suit with black accessories and her corsage of pink rosebuds.

Upon their return Mr. Maffett and his bride will reside on Route 1, Oakland.

A rehearsal party was held last evening at the home of the bride, which was decorated with fall flowers. Besides the bridal party, intimate friends also attended.

Tastes like it's right out'a my oven no more'n 5 minutes back... Tastes like that batch a' gold-crusty loaves I make every Saturday. Why, when I looked out the back door last time, they was a whole flock of small boys reachin' right back to my petunia bed. Seein's they didn't harm nary a one of my "Fire Chiefs" (such a nice red) I gave 'em a slice each. Seems they wuz over to a Cub Scout meetin' at Skippy Green's and smelt it a'baking.

You can't tell me children and grown ups ain't pretty much alike all over—that's why I went ahead and give your good bakery my County Fair prize-winning receipt. I want everybody who knows what good bread is like once they taste it, to try my bread. It ain't nothin' Scientific-like—just good honest AUNT FANNY. Next time you buy bread, be sure it's AUNT FANNY'S ENRICHED BREAD. You'll see for yourself why my kitchen is packed full a' hungry smilin' kids of a Saturday mornin'.

Ada Louise Ford To Become Bride Of Hugh F. Maffett

Ceremony To Be In Trinity Lutheran Church

Miss Ada Louise Ford, daughter of Mrs. Mary L. Ford, 517 Lowell Avenue, and the late C. G. Ford, is to become the bride of Hugh Fink Maffett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Maffett, Oakland, today.

The double ring, candle light ceremony is being solemnized at 2 o'clock in Trinity Lutheran Church with Rev. G. A. Wagner, pastor, officiating; assisted by Rev. John H. C. Albohm, New York City, who officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents and her own christening. Vases of white chrysanthemums and candelabra of lighted tapers are being used in the decorations of the altar while baskets of white chrysanthemums decorate the chancel and white satin bows mark the pews.

Miss Marie Hutson is to be the bride's maid of honor and only attendant, while William R. Maffett, Oakland is his brother's best man; Elwood Sanders, Oakland; and Earl Moyer, Willoughby, Ohio; are the ushers.

A program of nuptial music is being played by Mrs. Paul Gilford, organist. It will include Schuman's "Tramari," and Chopin's "Etude in E," as well as the traditional wedding march from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional.

Given in marriage by Paul Gilford, intimate friend of the family, the bride is wearing a gown of nylon lace over taffeta. It is fashioned with a full floor length skirt with modified train and the bodice, scalloped at the waistline, has a scalloped yoke, long pointed sleeves and is buttoned down the back. Her fingertip length veil of illusion is edged with lace and held by a cap of taffeta and lace matching the gown. Completing her costume, she is carrying a bridal bouquet of pink rosebuds encircled with white pompons and tied with a shower of white satin streamers.

Her maid of honor's gown is of light green taffeta, made similar to the bride's with a full length gathered skirt, scalloped bodice and short scalloped sleeves. Her headdress and bouquet are of yellow rosebuds and pompons.

Mrs. Ford has selected a royal blue dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. With it she is wearing a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Maffett has a Navy blue suit with black accessories and is wearing a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School and is active in 4-H Club work. She is a member of the Cumberland 4-H Club, Maryland 4-H Chapter of All Stars and represented the state at the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago in 1943. Until her recent resignation, she was employed in the construction office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Oakland High School and served with the Air Force from 1944 until 1946, with duty in Germany. He is engaged in dairy and poultry farming in Garrett county.

Immediately following the ceremony Mrs. Ford is entertaining with a wedding reception for her daughter and her bridal party. It will be in the parish hall, which is decorated with pastel colored fall flowers and candelabra of lighted tapers at either end of the table. The three tiered wedding cake is adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Alvin Davis is cutting the cake and Mrs. Earl Moyer, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Phyllis Barncord and Mrs. Richard Broome are assisting at the punch bowl.

For her traveling costume on their wedding trip east, the bride has chosen an Air Force blue suit with black accessories and her corsage of pink rosebuds.

Upon their return Mr. Maffett and his bride will reside on Route 1, Oakland.

A rehearsal party was held last evening at the home of the bride, which was decorated with fall flowers. Besides the bridal party, intimate friends also attended.

Tastes like it's right out'a my oven no more'n 5 minutes back... Tastes like that batch a' gold-crusty loaves I make every Saturday. Why, when I looked out the back door last time, they was a whole flock of small boys reachin' right back to my petunia bed. Seein's they didn't harm nary a one of my "Fire Chiefs" (such a nice red) I gave 'em a slice each. Seems they wuz over to a Cub Scout meetin' at Skippy Green's and smelt it a'baking.

You can't tell me children and grown ups ain't pretty much alike all over—that's why I went ahead and give your good bakery my County Fair prize-winning receipt. I want everybody who knows what good bread is like once they taste it, to try my bread. It ain't nothin' Scientific-like—just good honest AUNT FANNY. French Drive Remnants Of Vietminh Rebels Toward Sea

HANOI, Indochina, Oct. 2 (AP)—Remnants of a Vietminh brigade that once numbered 5,000 men maneuvered frantically in the Red River Delta tonight to avoid extinction by French Union forces. A 10-day-old French drive appeared to be paying off.

A little Dunkerque may develop as the Communist-led rebels work their way eastward, village by village, from their old stomping ground in the Hung Yen area, 30 miles southeast of Hanoi, toward the Gulf of Tonkin.

With flight routes inland cut off by advancing French columns, the Vietminh appeared to have no alternative but to pull back to the coast—still 20 or 30 miles away for most of the group. There, they may try to get away in any native sea-going craft they can seize.

Their chances, however, seemed dim. Fifteen thousand French Union troops are in the fight. French infantrymen are hard on their heels as the detachments zigzag over an area nearly 400 miles square. French warplanes are almost constantly overhead and French warships are on watch in the gulf.

The French high command estimated today that about half the enemy force had been killed or captured since the first trap was sprung Sept. 23 in this latest drive of a series to clear the strategic delta.

Barkley Won't Say About Candidacy

DETROIT, Oct. 2 (AP)—Former Vice President Alben Barkley acknowledged yesterday that Democratic circles were mentioning him as a possible candidate for Kentucky's U. S. senator, but he wouldn't make an announcement "at the present time."

He spoke at an Israel bond drive.

U. S. Mines Director May Stay On Job

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Under Secretary of Interior Ralph A. Tudor said today it has been agreed that Director J. J. Forbes of the Bureau of Mines may remain in office until he retires, which could be until Nov. 11, 1955.

Tudor told newsmen that President Harry M. Moses of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn. suggested earlier this week that Forbes be permitted to stay on the job pending his retirement and that Secretary McKay agreed to the suggestion.

Moses and President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers conferred with McKay on Wednesday.

Forbes will be 68 Nov. 11. Under federal law, retirement is mandatory at age of 70 unless the President grants an exemption.

The Eisenhower administration made plans soon after taking office to replace Forbes, a hold-over from the Truman administration.

French Drive Remnants Of Vietminh Rebels Toward Sea

HANOI, Indochina, Oct. 2 (AP)—Remnants of a Vietminh brigade that once numbered 5,000 men maneuvered frantically in the Red River Delta tonight to avoid extinction by French Union forces. A 10-day-old French drive appeared to be paying off.

A little Dunkerque may develop as the Communist-led rebels work their way eastward, village by village, from their old stomping ground in the Hung Yen area, 30 miles southeast of Hanoi, toward the Gulf of Tonkin.

With flight routes inland cut off by advancing French columns, the Vietminh appeared to have no alternative but to pull back to the coast—still 20 or 30 miles away for most of the group. There, they may try to get away in any native sea-going craft they can seize.

Their chances, however, seemed dim. Fifteen thousand French Union troops are in the fight. French infantrymen are hard on their heels as the detachments zigzag over an area nearly 400 miles square. French warplanes are almost constantly overhead and French warships are on watch in the gulf.

The French high command estimated today that about half the enemy force had been killed or captured since the first trap was sprung Sept. 23 in this latest drive of a series to clear the strategic delta.

Barkley Won't Say About Candidacy

DETROIT, Oct. 2 (AP)—Former Vice President Alben Barkley acknowledged yesterday that Democratic circles were mentioning him as a possible candidate for Kentucky's U. S. senator, but he wouldn't make an announcement "at the present time."

He spoke at an Israel bond drive.

U. S. Mines Director May Stay On Job

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Under Secretary of Interior Ralph A. Tudor said today it has been agreed that Director J. J. Forbes of the Bureau of Mines may remain in office until he retires, which could be until Nov. 11, 1955.

Tudor told newsmen that President Harry M. Moses of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn. suggested earlier this week that Forbes be permitted to stay on the job pending his retirement and that Secretary McKay agreed to the suggestion.

Moses and President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers conferred with McKay on Wednesday.

Forbes will be 68 Nov. 11. Under federal law, retirement is mandatory at age of 70 unless the President grants an exemption.

The Eisenhower administration made plans soon after taking office to replace Forbes, a hold-over from the Truman administration.

Probe Of Ticket-Fixing Charge To Be Deepened

PIKESVILLE, Md., Oct. 2 (AP) — The head of Maryland's State Police promised today he would dig deeper into the complaint by one of his troopers about the dropping of a case in Prince Georges county against a man arrested for speeding.

"If there is any grounds for his complaint we will try to find out," declared Col. Elmer F. Munshower. "It may take some time, but I am going to see if there is any basis for the trooper's action."

The State Police commander earlier had issued a reprimand against Trooper Warren Roy Carpenter for "talking out of turn" to a newspaper reporter.

Carpenter had complained Grover Small, assistant state's attorney for Prince Georges County, tried to get him to "fix" the speeding ticket and then dropped the case when it came up.

Carpenter wrote on a report to State Police headquarters:

"Small is continuously calling various officers requesting they do something on tickets after they have issued them. Something should be done to straighten out this matter and decrease the number of dismissals and nol prosses in the county."

The report was on a speeding ticket issued to Albert Isella, 38-year-old Baltimore man who twice has been convicted and fined on gambling charges.

Small today denied Trooper Carpenter's charges but refused to discuss the case further. He referred questions to Carlyle J. Lancaster, the state's attorney for Prince Georges county.

Lancaster said he had a four-hour conference with Small after Carpenter's charges became public. He reported Small, a nephew of Rep. Frank Small, had concluded the Isella case should not be prosecuted "to satisfy the best ends of justice."

Lancaster said Small reached this conclusion on the basis of information given him by Carpenter. Lancaster said he did not know what this information was.

Isella was arrested on a charge of going 50 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone on the Washington-Baltimore Boulevard in Laruel.

Col. Munshower said he had not found any grounds on which the state's attorney's office in Prince Georges County should decline to prosecute Isella.

Cowboy Drivers To Be Punished

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 2 (AP) — Magistrate Wiliam Kreykenbom threatened heavy fines or long jail terms for any young motorists caught "horse playing" or "cowboying" on Washington County roads.

He issued the warning in fining 17-year-old Richard K. Mohn of Waynesboro,Pa., $100 for reckless driving and $100 for driving on a revoked license.

When the youth was unable to pay, Kreykenbom sent him to the county jail for 200 days, or a day for each $1 fine.

Mohn was arrested on the complaint of a Leitersburg motorist that the youth had deliberately forced him off the road by cutting sharply in front of his car.

State Police reported numerous complaints of motorists in the northern part of the county being harassed by young drivers who raced with them, sideswiped them and engaged in other equally dangerous driving tactics.

Former State Auditor Dies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Edmund R. Stewart, 71, appointed Maryland state auditor by Gov. Ritchie in 1929, died today of cancer.

Stewart's appointment followed discovery of irregularities in the Maryland Roads Commission. He played a leading part in subsequent examinations and prosecutions.

He was a native of Baltimore, and at various times served as an accountant for the Interstate Commerce Commission, investigator of ocean freight rates for President Wilson, and an employe of the Social Security Board and the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

He was a descendant of the Mason and Grafflin families whose original home and textile mill were on the present site of Woodlawn cemetery in Baltimore where he will be buried.

Support Of Navy Football Urged

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 2 (AP)—Mayor Arthur G. Ellington today expressed concern at local lack of interest in Navy football games, pointing out that less than 150 tickets were purchased by Annapolitans for last week's game.

He urged townspeople to attend the Navy-Dartmouth game tomorrow, calling the Middies "our team."

He said that of the 6,159 tickets sold for last week's William and Mary game, less than 150 were sold to Annapolitans, 897 went to officers living outside the reservation, 690 were bought by midshipmen for guests and 4,426 went to out-of-towners.

Serviceman Best Anti-Red Agent, Says McKeldin

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2 (AP) — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin said tonight that a well-fed, well-clothed and well-paid serviceman who might create envy abroad is the United States' best agent against Communism.

"I would hazard the guess," the Governor said in a speech here, "that the good solid leather in a pair of American Army shoes, viewed by a soldier of Communist China, carries more conviction than all the propaganda pamphlets he ever saw.

"Wherever American forces are stationed, they impress the populace with their kindness to children, their help to the needy," McKeldin told a national convention of the Quartermaster Association.

"The people of these lands cannot help thinking: 'What a country that America must be ....'"

McKeldin noted that "the timid among us" have lamented the comparatively high pay of American servicemen in comparison to those of other nations and have said it creates envy and is bad for America.

"I say: Let it create envy. It is not bad for America. It is good. Let us show the world—not just boast idly as the Russians do — that we have the resources, skill, know-how, will and initiative to produce for our armed services, for our great and growing civilian population, and for trade with our friends in the free world," he added.

$150,000 Fire Hits Denton

DENTON, Md., Oct. 2 (AP) — A $150,000 fire swept through the Willis and Covell Company's big grain and feed mill on the east edge of Denton today, destroying its main building.

Volunteer firemen from Depton and half a dozen other communities pumped water from a fish pond and kept the flames from spreading to three large silos filled with corn, a drying shed, two outdoor corn shellers, and the adjoining buildings of the Nuttle Lumber Co.

Edward Covell, partner in the grain and feed firm, made the $150,000 damage estimated. He said the business will continue in operation but it will not be able to buy any more corn until next week.

Four Men Draw Jail Terms For Unemployment Frauds

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2 (AP)—A judge imposed 90-day jail terms today on each of four Baltimore Negroes accused of drawing unemployment benefits from the state when they were not entitled to them.

Circuit Judge Joseph L. Carter had announced previously he would resort to jail sentences, rather than fines and restitution, in an attempt to break up unemployment frauds.

The four defendants had collected benefits on the basis they were out of work, but evidence showed each had lined up at least some part time work.

The roll:

Jacob McCants, fined $500 in addition to the jail sentence for obtaining $575 in benefits while earning approximately the same on part-time jobs.

Ben Waddell, 52, fined $500, for obtaining $500 in benefits although he had obtained a new job shortly after applying for relief.

Joseph A. Stepney, 49, fined $100 for getting $400 in benefits.

Herman Johnson, 31, fined $217 for getting a like amount.

In imposing the sentences, Judge Carter said:

"Benefits set by law are for those who deserve them, they are not designed to give something for nothing. This is equivalent to stealing from the State of Maryland. That is what it really amounts to."

The breast muscles of a bird, in proportion to size, are about 100 times more powerful than those of a man.

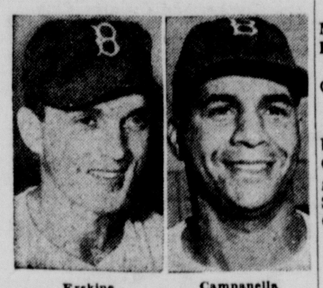
Erskine Fans 14 Yanks As Dodgers Win Third Game, 3-2

Campanella's Homer In 8th Beats Raschi

Mantle And Collins Strikeout 4 Times, Ehmke Mark Broken

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2 (AP)—Trim Carl Erskine, a handsome Hoosier righthander, shattered Howard Ehmke's 1929 World Series strikeout record today by fanning 14 New York Yankees for Brooklyn's first victory, 3-2, in a brilliant comeback. The Yanks still lead in the series, 2-1.



Erskine Campanella

Yanked from the box after a disastrous four-run first inning in the opener, the 26-year-old Dodger bounced back to restore Dodger confidence after two shocking defeats.

Campanella Hits Homer

Roy Campanella, playing with a painfully puffed right hand, blasted an eighth-inning home run that gave the soft-spoken Erskine his greatest triumph.

As Erskine gathered in Joe Collins' soft tap to the mound and threw to Gil Hodges for the final out, the entire Dodger bench erupted onto the field to slap the back and wring the accomplished right hand of their pitcher.

Ehmke's record, set for the Philadelphia A's against the Chicato Cubs, Oct. 8, 1929 when he was Connie Mack's surprise choice to pitch the opener, had endured for 24 long years until Erskine came swinging down the pike.

On the way he struck out Mickey Mantle and Joe Collins four times each, only one short of a series record. Going to the ninth inning with 12, just one short of the Ehmke high, he whizzed third strikes past the swinging bats of pinch-hitters Don Bollweg and Johnny Mize. Then he walked pinch-hitter Irv Noren before retiring Collins to put it in the bank.

Drama Mounts Steadily

The drama mounted steadily throughout the bright, summery afternoon with Erskine firing his blazing fast ball and sharp curve past the Yank hitters in a clutch duel with Vic Raschi.

From the moment that Erskine shot a third strike past lead off man Gil McDougald in the first inning, it was obvious he was a far different pitcher from the wild, shaky man who flopped so badly on opening day.

Erskine started out as though he had taken aim at Ehmke's record. He fanned two men in each of the first three innings.

Mantle went down swinging for his second strikeout in the fourth, boosting Erskine's total to seven. Then Collins for his third straight in the fifth, and Mantle once more and Gene Woodling, too, in the sixth for a total of 10.

Erskine didn't whiff a man in the seventh but picked up again in the eighth to get Collins and Mantle for the fourth time with a brilliant display of clutch work. Pinch-hitters Bollweg and Mize finally sent him over the top with his final total of 14.

Despite Erskine's spell, the Yanks managed to get out front in the fifth on three infield singles, none of which ever reached the outfield grass.

Raschi Commits Balk

Raschi was as much to blame for the Dodgers tying run in the fifth as anybody in the park. With one out, Jackie Robinson hit a double off the right-field screen, about six feet short of a home run.

While pitching to Billy Cox, Raschi committed a balk. That advanced Robinson to third. The veteran righthander started to fake a pickoff throw to second but forgot to back off the rubber.

With Robinson on third and one out, Manager Chuck Dressen crossed up the Yanks by having Cox lay down a perfect squeeze bunt. Billy Martin handled the ball cleanly and threw to the plate, too late to get Robinson.

Robinson, his pride wounded by being dropped to No. 7 spot in the batting order, put the Brooks out front in the sixth with a sharp single to left. The hit followed a single by Duke Snider and a walk to Hodges. There were two out at the time.

Woodling Delivers Run

Gene Woodling delivered a sharp single to center that scored Bauer with the tying run and it was 2-2 going to the last of the eighth.

It was then that Campanella got revenge for the ball that Allie Reynolds threw, injuring his hand, in the opener.

Assured that the Yanks could not possibly close it out in a clean sweep, Dressen named Billy Loes (14-8), a 23-year-old righthander to work tomorrow's fourth game at Ebbets Field. He will be opposed by lefthanded Whitey Ford (18-6), the Yanks top winner.

Irish Meet Purdue; Terps At Clemson

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP) — Most of football's elite take a last fling at intersectional competition this weekend before setting down to a battle for regional mastery while front-running Notre Dame and Michigan State face backyard challenges.

Ohio State and California head the list of three Big Ten-Pacific Coast battles in the NCAA nationwide television game. It's a rematch of the 1950 Rose Bowl game when the Buckeyes won 17-14. Ohio State currently ranks sixth in the nation.

Illini, Stanford Clash

Illinois and Stanford clash for the first time since the Illini ran over the Indians 40-7 in the 1952 Pasadena classic. Iowa is host to Washington State.

Michigan, the team that rang up 50 points against Washington last week, gets a chance to prove it was no fluke when it meets southeastern darkhorse Tulane at Ann Arbor.

In another intersectional engagement Army tangles with Northwestern in the first real test for both.

Oklahoma, No. 8 in the country, visits Pittsburgh. The Panthers are worried about their aerial game which showed one completion in 13 tries in their loss to West Virginia.

Ninth-ranking Georgia Tech, still carrying a 28-game unbeaten string, bumps into a Southern Methodist crew which will be entering its first contest.

Notre Dame, ranked first in the country, carries a heavy favorite's role into a traditional Hoosier state with Purdue on the strength of its 28-21 victory over Oklahoma.

Michigan State's No. 2 Spartans, with a conference triumph already tucked away, pits its pony backfield and faster line against Minnesota's determined band of Gophers and All-America halfback Paul Giel.

Terps Meet Clemson

Maryland, No. 3, plays its first Atlantic Coast Conference game with Clemson while fifth-place UCLA takes on Oregon on the opposite shore.

Penn meets Penn State in their traditional encounter. Tennessee-Duke and Wisconsin-Marquette renew other strong rivalries.

The Blue and Gray clad Rice Owls from Houston invade Ithaca, N. Y., for a test with Cornell. In other intersectional games its Louisiana State and Boston College, Mississippi State and Harvard.

Neighborhood matches include Arkansas-TCU, Auburn-Mississippi Colgate-Holy Cross, Colroado-Missouri, Kansas State - Nebraska, Kansas - Iowa State, Kentucky-Florida, Navy - Dartmouth, North Carolina - Washington and Lee, Princeton - Columbia, Texas - Houston, Vanderbilt - Alabama, Virginia - South Carolina, Washington - Oregon State and Yale-Brown.

Valley High's Black Knights and Flintstone won opening games in the 1953 Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League yesterday.

Valley's new entry, paced by two penalty goals by Randall Brown, turned back the Mt. Savage team 3-1 at Mt. Savage while Flintstone blanked Beall's Mountaineers, 4-0, at Frostburg.

It marked the first time in league play Flintstone has ever defeated a Beall soccer team.

A three-goal outburst in the fourth period iced the game for Coach Orville Jackson's Flintstone eleven as Argyle Wilson started the scoring for the Flintstone team with a 25-yard field goal in the first period. A penalty boot by Thornton Robinette made it 2-0 as the fourth quarter started and two quick goals in the final minutes of the game by Jim Fletcher and Bob Davis completed the job.

Outstanding on the field for Flintstone were Lough, Morris and Wilson. Best for Beall were J. Green and Ken Johnson.

Randall Brown's penalty kick opened the scoring for Valley in the initial stanza at Mt. Savage but a field goal by Ronnie Carter deadlocked the score in the same period and the two teams battled to a 1-1 halftime tie.

Jack Mungold's field goal in the third gave Valley a lead it never relinquished and Brown added his second penalty boot in the final quarter. Brown also missed two other attempts on penalty kicks.

Chester Devore, Dick Robeson and Ronnie Carter were Mt. Savage's best players while Richard Waddell, Tom Robertson and John Wilson played best for the Knights. The lineups:

The finals in men's doubles and mixed doubles in the County tennis tournament will be played this weekend.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock on the Dingle courts Jack Dorsey of Keyser and Joe Calhoun of Moorefield will meet Bob Pence and Norman Sell. The winner will play Bernstein and Day tomorrow afternoon on the Country Club courts.

At the same time Middlekamp and Van Sant will play LaNeve and Sykes. The winners of these two matches will play the finals.

U. S. Foursomes Win 3 Matches In Ryder Play

Snead, Mangrum Lead International Series

VIRGINIA WATER, England, Oct. 2 (AP) — America's Ryder Cup golf forces, spearheaded by Capt. Lloyd Mangrum and Sam Snead, won three of four Scotch foursome matches today to take a commanding 3-1 lead over the British in the first day of the international series.

The United States players need only to split the eight singles matches tomorrow to clinch the cup, and the way they toured the 6,700-yard Wentworth Course today victory seems in the bag.

Britain's only crumb came from Ireland as Harry Bradshaw and Fred Daly scrambled to win 1-up from Carey Middlecoff of Memphils, Tenn. and Walter Burkemo of Detroit in 36 holes. They were the last of the foursomes to come in, after the U.S. had rolled up a 3-0 advantage.

Not in 20 year of this war-interrupted series have the British won the cup, a 6-5 decision in 1933, with one match halved.

After the American team captain and Snead set out with an 8 and 7 drubbing of Eric Brown and John Panton, Jack Burke of Houston, Tex. and Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y. had almost as easy a time turning back Jimmy Adams and Bernard Hunt, 7 and 5.

Victory No. 3 was a little harder, but Porky Oliver of Palm Springs, Calif. and Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., turned the trick over Harry Wettman and Peter Allis 2 and 1.

In the scotch foursome, each pair uses one ball, playing alternate shots, and what the Yanks did to Wentworth left a crowd of some 9,000 speechless. This was the "weak" American team as described by London golf writers.

They drove, putted, chipped and hit better fairway shots, and still were not up to their usual form.

Although America has won seven of nine previous cup matches, few teams could show up with a better pair than Snead and Mangrum. They held an unbeatable eight up lead after the morning round, and coasted in the afternoon.

Bruce Booters Beat Northern

WMI Champs Blank Cove Eleven 4-0

Bruce High's Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League champs, opening their season with a non-league engagement, blanked Northern High of the Cove yesterday by a 4-0 score on the latter's field.

Bruce opened the scoring with a field goal by Kip Montgomery in the first period and then added another point on Harry Foreman's goal in the third stanza.

The Westernport crew iced the contest with two quick goals in the final three minutes of the game when Mike Nofsinger and Jim Burke booted home tallies for Coach Augie Eichhorn's eleven.

Northern, kept from the scoring zone by an alert Bruce defense, had two penalty kick chances but failed to convert either of them. The lineups:

Bill Veeck Resigns From Orioles Post

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Baltimore Sun said tonight Bill Veeck has resigned from the Baltimore Orioles of the American League. Veeck was president of the St. Louis Browns which Baltimore purchased.

The Sun said Clarence W. Miles, head of the group which bought the Browns, announced Veeck's resignation after an hour-long conference with him at a New York hotel and said he accepted it with "real regret."

Cats To Face G-W Jayvees

Battle Is Set For Keyser Today At 2

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 3 — A spirit of anticipation on the Potomac State Campus precedes the big football game between the Catamounts and George Washington Junior Varsity, which will get under way at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The Cats finished a hard weeks work with a light drill, the huge George Washington team arrived by special bus last evening, and the Potomac State students held a thuse. The Upper Potomac Shrine Club completed an advance sale of tickets, the Bankers Association, which will attend the game in body are arriving in town, and the erection of new bleachers on Stayman Field has been completed.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough would make no prediction over the outcome of the game except to say that the Catamounts will be greatly outweighed, and will be up against real class, but the team has been improving each week and may, with luck, pull an upset. Probable lineups:

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Oct. 2—Romney High's Pioneers chalked up their fourth straight win of the season and second in the Potomac Valley Conference here today by turning back the Moorefield Yellowjackets, 13-0.

Two touchdowns in the second half gave the Pioneers the victory and handed Moorefield its first defeat of the season, although the Jackets have been tied twice.

The Jackets made a goal line stand in the second period to half the first Romney threat on the 1-foot line but in the third stanza Romney broke the ice when Hobart Shanholtz raced 25 yards around end for the first score. The play had been set up by 59 yard march featured by runs of 10 and 20 yards by Fullback Roger Parker.

Michael Coleman, Romney end, intercepted a Moorefield pass deep in the Jackets territory in the fourth period and raced the pigskin back 12 yards for the final touchdown. A pass from Ed Hartman to Sam Lyons produced the extra point.

In the last moments of the game Romney again threatened when the Pioneers recovered a Moorefield fumble and marched to the Jackets' one-yard line but the game ended before the scoring play could be made. The lineups:

State Refuses Hunting Ban; Woods Are Dry

Season Opens Monday Despite Warning By Sportsmen Groups

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2 (AP)—The State Game and Inland Fish Commission, in the face of tinder-dry woodlands and the urging of Western Maryland sportsmen, orchardists and politicians to call off the hunting season, stood its ground today.

"We don't want to take any drastic steps, such as banning hunting, until we are advised that the situation is dangerous and warrants action," said Ernest Vaughn, executive secretary of the commission.

Maryland's hunting season on squirrels, jack snipe and woodcocks opens Monday throughout the state. Wild turkeys become legal game the same day in Washington, Allegany and Garrett Counties only.

West Virginia Closed

West Virginia has closed its forests to hunters, picnickers and all others for the duration of the forest fire threat. Near Uniontown, Pa., three fires destroyed 250 acres of Fayette County woodland yesterday and foresters were on the alert for new outbreaks.

"The woods are a vertible tinderbox," R. Samuel Dillon, one of the largest orchardists in Western Maryland, said in a telegram to Vaughn. Dillon called the dryness the second worst in his memory and said hunters would only increase the danger. He urged the commission to cancel the hunting season.

State Sen. D. K. McLaughlin (R-Washington) said he would appeal to the commission to ban hunting.

D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, said he felt the hunting season should be postponed. "The hot weather forecast is not going to help," he added.

Today was the 11th without rain in Maryland and the Weather Bureau, in its five-day forecast, saw no rain through next Wednesday.

No Rain Since Sept. 21

Maryland has been without a good rain since Sept. 5 and no rain has fallen anywhere in the state since Sept. 21.

The state's season on upland birds, which annually draws thousands to the woods to shoot at quail, ruffled grouse, ring necked pheasant and rabbits, does not open until Nov. 15.

Old Germans Host To Westvaco For Playoff Today

Cumberland's Old Germans will attempt to end the best-of-five Bi-State League playoff series today when they host the Westvaco Papermakers at Penn Avenue field at 2:30 p. m.

The Cumberlanders lead in the series 2-1, having won 11-6 and 10-9, after losing the opening game to Westvaco 4-2.

The Papermakers will probably have Hubert Nicol, who registered the initial victory, on the mound today while Cumberland will counter with Ronnie Sisk or Norman Geatz.

In other league playoffs tomorrow Keyser Ridge will cross bats with Wellersburg at Mt. Savage in the Pen-Mar League while Franklin is at Romney in the South Branch Valley League series.

Sixth Inning Dodgers

Snider singled. Hodges walked. Campanella popped to Raschi. Furillo was called out on strikes. Robinson singled scoring Snider, Hodges stopping at second. Cox struck out.

One run, two hits, no errors, two left.

Seventh Inning Yankees

Reese threw out Rizzuto. He also threw out Raschi. Cox made a fine pickup of McDougald's grounder to throw him out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Seventh Inning Dodgers

Erskine flied out to Martin. Gilliam flied to Mantle. Reese singled. Rizzuto took care of Snider's high pop.

Eighth Inning Yankees

Collins struck out. Bauer hit a single. Berra was hit on the back by a pitched ball. Mantle struck out. Woodling singled scoring Bauer. Gilliam got Martin's slow bounder and tossed him out.

One run, two hits, no errors, two left.

Eighth Inning Dodgers

Hodges bounced out. Campanella hammered a home run into the lower left field stands. McDougald threw out Furillo. Robinson singled. Cox fouled to Martin.

One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

Ninth Inning Yankees

Don Bollweg batted for Rizzuto and struck out. Mize missed a curve for Erskine's 14th strikeout, a new World Series mark. Irv Noren batted for McDougald. Noren walked. Collins bounced to Erskine who threw to Hodges for the final out.

Erskine Fans 14 Yanks As Dodgers Win Third Game, 3-2

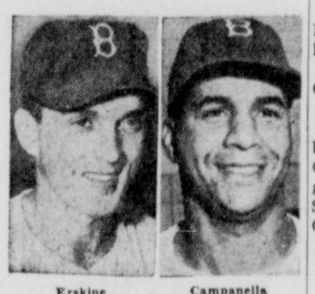
Mantle And Collins Strikeout 4 Times, Ehmke Mark Broken

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2 (AP)—Trim Carl Erskine, a handsome Hoosier righthander, shattered Howard Ehmke's 1929 World Series strikeout record today by fanning 14 New York Yankees for Brooklyn's first victory, 3-2, in a brilliant comeback. The Yanks still lead in the series, 2-1.



Erskine Campanella

Yanked from the box after a disastrous four-run first inning in the opener, the 26-year-old Dodger bounced back to restore Dodger confidence after two shocking defeats.

Campanella Hits Homer

Roy Campanella, playing with a painfully puffed right hand, blasted an eighth-inning home run that gave the soft-spoken Erskine his greatest triumph.

As Erskine gathered in Joe Collins' soft tap to the mound and threw to Gil Hodges for the final out, the entire Dodger bench erupted onto the field to slap the back and wring the accomplished right hand of their pitcher.

Ehmke's record, set for the Philadelphia A's against the Chicato Cubs, Oct. 8, 1929 when he was Connie Mack's surprise choice to pitch the opener, had endured for 24 long years until Erskine came swinging down the pike.

On the way he struck out Mickey Mantle and Joe Collins four times each, only one short of a series record. Going to the ninth inning with 12, just one short of the Ehmke high, he whizzed third strikes past the swinging bats of pinch-hitters Don Bollweg and Johnny Mize. Then he walked pinch-hitter Irv Noren before retiring Collins to put it in the bank.

Drama Mounts Steadily

The drama mounted steadily throughout the bright, summery afternoon with Erskine firing his blazing fast ball and sharp curve past the Yank hitters in a clutch duel with Vic Raschi.

From the moment that Erskine shot a third strike past lead off man Gil McDougald in the first inning, it was obvious he was a far different pitcher from the wild, shaky man who flopped so badly on opening day.

Erskine started out as though he had taken aim at Ehmke's record. He fanned two men in each of the first three innings.

Mantle went down swinging for his second strikeout in the fourth, boosting Erskine's total to seven. Then Collins for his third straight in the fifth, and Mantle once more and Gene Woodling, too, in the sixth for a total of 10.

Erskine didn't whiff a man in the seventh but picked up again in the eighth to get Collins and Mantle for the fourth time with a brilliant display of clutch work. Pinch-hitters Bollweg and Mize finally sent him over the top with his final total of 14.

Despite Erskine's spell, the Yanks managed to get out front in the fifth on three infield singles, none of which ever reached the outfield grass.

Raschi Commits Balk

Raschi was as much to blame for the Dodgers tying run in the fifth as anybody in the park. With one out, Jackie Robinson hit a double off the right-field screen, about six feet short of a home run.

While pitching to Billy Cox, Raschi committed a balk. That advanced Robinson to third. The veteran righthander started to fake a pickoff throw to second but forgot to back off the rubber.

With Robinson on third and one out, Manager Chuck Dressen crossed up the Yanks by having Cox lay down a perfect squeeze bunt. Billy Martin handled the ball cleanly and threw to the plate, too late to get Robinson.

Robinson, his pride wounded by being dropped to No. 7 spot in the batting order, put the Brooks out front in the sixth with a sharp single to left. The hit followed a single by Duke Snider and a walk to Hodges. There were two out at the time.

Woodling Delivers Run

Gene Woodling delivered a sharp single to center that scored Bauer with the tying run and it was 2-2 going to the last of the eighth.

It was then that Campanella got revenge for the ball that Allie Reynolds threw, injuring his hand, in the opener.

Assured that the Yanks could not possibly close it out in a clean sweep, Dressen named Billy Loes (14-8), a 23-year-old righthander to work tomorrow's fourth game at Ebbets Field. He will be opposed by lefthanded Whitey Ford (18-6), the Yanks top winner.

Irish Meet Purdue; Terps At Clemson

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP) — Most of football's elite take a last fling at intersectional competition this weekend before setting down to a battle for regional mastery while front-running Notre Dame and Michigan State face backyard challenges.

Ohio State and California head the list of three Big Ten-Pacific Coast battles in the NCAA nationwide television game. It's a rematch of the 1950 Rose Bowl game when the Buckeyes won 17-14. Ohio State currently ranks sixth in the nation.

Illini, Stanford Clash

Illinois and Stanford clash for the first time since the Illini ran over the Indians 40-7 in the 1952 Pasadena classic. Iowa is host to Washington State.

Michigan, the team that rang up 50 points against Washington last week, gets a chance to prove it was no fluke when it meets southeastern darkhorse Tulane at Ann Arbor.

In another intersectional engagement Army tangles with Northwestern in the first real test for both.

Oklahoma, No. 8 in the country, visits Pittsburgh. The Panthers are worried about their aerial game which showed one completion in 13 tries in their loss to West Virginia.

Ninth-ranking Georgia Tech, still carrying a 28-game unbeaten string, bumps into a Southern Methodist crew which will be entering its first contest.

Notre Dame, ranked first in the country, carries a heavy favorite's role into a traditional Hoosier state with Purdue on the strength of its 28-21 victory over Oklahoma.

Michigan State's No. 2 Spartans, with a conference triumph already tucked away, pits its pony backfield and faster line against Minnesota's determined band of Gophers and All-America halfback Paul Giel.

Terps Meet Clemson

Maryland, No. 3, plays its first Atlantic Coast Conference game with Clemson while fifth-place UCLA takes on Oregon on the opposite shore.

Penn meets Penn State in their traditional encounter. Tennessee-Duke and Wisconsin-Marquette renew other strong rivalries.

The Blue and Gray clad Rice Owls from Houston invade Ithaca, N. Y., for a test with Cornell. In other intersectional games its Louisiana State and Boston College, Mississippi State and Harvard.

Neighborhood matches include Arkansas-TCU, Auburn-Mississippi Colgate-Holy Cross, Colroado-Missouri, Kansas State - Nebraska, Kansas - Iowa State, Kentucky-Florida, Navy - Dartmouth, North Carolina - Washington and Lee, Princeton - Columbia, Texas - Houston, Vanderbilt - Alabama, Virginia - South Carolina, Washington - Oregon State and Yale-Brown.

Valley High's Black Knights and Flintstone won opening games in the 1953 Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League yesterday.

Valley's new entry, paced by two penalty goals by Randall Brown, turned back the Mt. Savage team 3-1 at Mt. Savage while Flintstone blanked Beall's Mountaineers, 4-0, at Frostburg.

It marked the first time in league play Flintstone has ever defeated a Beall soccer team.

A three-goal outburst in the fourth period iced the game for Coach Orville Jackson's Flintstone eleven as Argyle Wilson started the scoring for the Flintstone team with a 25-yard field goal in the first period. A penalty boot by Thornton Robinette made it 2-0 as the fourth quarter started and two quick goals in the final minutes of the game by Jim Fletcher and Bob Davis completed the job.

Outstanding on the field for Flintstone were Lough, Morris and Wilson. Best for Beall were J. Green and Ken Johnson.

Randall Brown's penalty kick opened the scoring for Valley in the initial stanza at Mt. Savage but a field goal by Ronnie Carter deadlocked the score in the same period and the two teams battled to a 1-1 halftime tie.

Jack Mungold's field goal in the third gave Valley a lead it never relinquished and Brown added his second penalty boot in the final quarter. Brown also missed two other attempts on penalty kicks.

Chester Devore, Dick Robeson and Ronnie Carter were Mt. Savage's best players while Richard Waddell, Tom Robertson and John Wilson played best for the Knights. The lineups:

The finals in men's doubles and mixed doubles in the County tennis tournament will be played this weekend.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock on the Dingle courts Jack Dorsey of Keyser and Joe Calhoun of Moorefield will meet Bob Pence and Norman Sell. The winner will play Bernstein and Day tomorrow afternoon on the Country Club courts.

At the same time Middlekamp and Van Sant will play LaNeve and Syckes. The winners of these two matches will play the finals.

U. S. Foursomes Win 3 Matches In Ryder Play

Snead, Mangrum Lead International Series

VIRGINIA WATER, England, Oct. 2 (AP) — America's Ryder Cup golf forces, spearheaded by Capt. Lloyd Mangrum and Sam Snead, won three of four Scotch foursome matches today to take a commanding 3-1 lead over the British in the first day of the international series.

The United States players need only to split the eight singles matches tomorrow to clinch the cup, and the way they toured the 6,700-yard Wentworth Course today victory seems in the bag.

Britain's only crumb came from Ireland as Harry Bradshaw and Fred Daly scrambled to win 1-up from Carey Middlecoff of Memphils, Tenn. and Walter Burkemo of Detroit in 36 holes. They were the last of the foursomes to come in, after the U.S. had rolled up a 3-0 advantage.

Not in 20 year of this war-interrupted series have the British won the cup, a 6-5 decision in 1933, with one match halved.

After the American team captain and Snead set out with an 8 and 7 drubbing of Eric Brown and John Panton, Jack Burke of Houston, Tex. and Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y. had almost as easy a time turning back Jimmy Adams and Bernard Hunt, 7 and 5.

Victory No. 3 was a little harder, but Porky Oliver of Palm Springs, Calif. and Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., turned the trick over Harry Wettman and Peter Allis 2 and 1.

For strange reasons, British nonplaying captain Henry Cotton left out of today's play Max Faulkner and Dai Rees, England's best two match play golfers.

In the scotch foursome, each pair uses one ball, playing alternate shots, and what the Yanks did to Wentworth left a crowd of some 9,000 speechless. This was the "weak" American team as described by London golf writers.

They drove, putted, chipped and hit better fairway shots, and still were not up to their usual form.

Although America has won seven of nine previous cup matches, few teams could show up with a better pair than Snead and Mangrum. They held an unbeatable eight up lead after the morning round, and coasted in the afternoon.

Bruce Booters Beat Northern

WMI Champs Blank Cove Eleven 4-0

Bruce High's Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League champs, opening their season with a non-league engagement, blanked Northern High of the Cove yesterday by a 4-0 score on the latter's field.

Bruce opened the scoring with a field goal by Kip Montgomery in the first period and then added another point on Harry Foreman's goal in the third stanza.

The Westernport crew iced the contest with two quick goals in the final three minutes of the game when Mike Nofsinger and Jim Burke booted home tallies for Coach Augie Eichhorn's eleven.

Northern, kept from the scoring zone by an alert Bruce defense, had two penalty kick chances but failed to convert either of them. The lineups:

Bill Veeck Resigns From Orioles Post

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Baltimore Sun said tonight Bill Veeck has resigned from the Baltimore Orioles of the American League. Veeck was president of the St. Louis Browns which Baltimore purchased.

The Sun said Clarence W. Miles, head of the group which bought the Browns, announced Veeck's resignation after an hour-long conference with him at a New York hotel and said he accepted it with "real regret."

Cats To Face G-W Jayvees

Battle Is Set For Keyser Today At 2

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 3 — A spirit of anticipation on the Potomac State Campus precedes the big football game between the Catamounts and George Washington Junior Varsity, which will get under way at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The Cats finished a hard weeks work with a light drill, the huge George Washington team arrived by special bus last evening, and the Potomac State students held a thuse. The Upper Potomac Shrine Club completed an advance sale of tickets, the Bankers Association, which will attend the game in body are arriving in town, and the erection of new bleachers on Stayman Field has been completed.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough would make no prediction over the outcome of the game except to say that the Catamounts will be greatly outweighed, and will be up against real class, but the team has been improving each week and may, with luck, pull an upset. Probable lineups:

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Oct. 2—Romney High's Pioneers chalked up their fourth straight win of the season and second in the Potomac Valley Conference here today by turning back the Moorefield Yellowjackets, 13-0.

Two touchdowns in the second half gave the Pioneers the victory and handed Moorefield its first defeat of the season, although the Jackets have been tied twice.

The Jackets made a goal line stand in the second period to half the first Romney threat on the 1-foot line but in the third stanza Romney broke the ice when Hobart Shanholtz raced 25 yards around end for the first score. The play had been set up by 59 yard march featured by runs of 10 and 20 yards by Fullback Roger Parker.

Michael Coleman, Romney end, intercepted a Moorefield pass deep in the Jackets territory in the fourth period and raced the pigskin back 12 yards for the final touchdown. A pass from Ed Hartman to Sam Lyons produced the extra point.

In the last moments of the game Romney again threatened when the Pioneers recovered a Moorefield fumble and marched to the Jackets' one-yard line but the game ended before the scoring play could be made. The lineups:

State Refuses Hunting Ban; Woods Are Dry

Season Opens Monday Despite Warning By Sportsmen Groups

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2 (AP)—The State Game and Inland Fish Commission, in the face of tinder-dry woodlands and the urging of Western Maryland sportsmen, orchardists and politicians to call off the hunting season, stood its ground today.

"We don't want to take any drastic steps, such as banning hunting, until we are advised that the situation is dangerous and warrants action," said Ernest Vaughn, executive secretary of the commission.

Maryland's hunting season on squirrels, jack snipe and woodcocks opens Monday throughout the state. Wild turkeys become legal game the same day in Washington, Allegany and Garrett Counties only.

West Virginia Closed

West Virginia has closed its forests to hunters, picnickers and all others for the duration of the forest fire threat. Near Uniontown, Pa., three fires destroyed 250 acres of Fayette County woodland yesterday and foresters were on the alert for new outbreaks.

"The woods are a vertible tinderbox," R. Samuel Dillon, one of the largest orchardists in Western Maryland, said in a telegram to Vaughn. Dillon called the dryness the second worst in his memory and said hunters would only increase the danger. He urged the commission to cancel the hunting season.

State Sen. D. K. McLaughlin (R-Washington) said he would appeal to the commission to ban hunting.

D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, said he felt the hunting season should be postponed. "The hot weather forecast is not going to help," he added.

Today was the 11th without rain in Maryland and the Weather Bureau, in its five-day forecast, saw no rain through next Wednesday.

No Rain Since Sept. 21

Maryland has been without a good rain since Sept. 5 and no rain has fallen anywhere in the state since Sept. 21.

The state's season on upland birds, which annually draws thousands to the woods to shoot at quail, ruffled grouse, ring necked pheasant and rabbits, does not open until Nov. 15.

Old Germans Host To Westvaco For Playoff Today

Cumberland's Old Germans will attempt to end the best-of-five Bi-State League playoff series today when they host the Westvaco Papermakers at Penn Avenue field at 2:30 p. m.

The Cumberlanders lead in the series 2-1, having won 11-6 and 10-9, after losing the opening game to Westvaco 4-2.

The Papermakers will probably have Hubert Nicol, who registered the initial victory, on the mound today while Cumberland will counter with Ronnie Sisk or Norman Geatz.

In other league playoffs tomorrow Keyser Ridge will cross bats with Wellersburg at Mt. Savage in the Pen-Mar League while Franklin is at Romney in the South Branch Valley League series.

Donald "Bucky" Rice, lightweight scatback for the Allegany High School Campers, tallied two touchdowns last night as he led his teammates to a 20-6 decision over the Hagerstown Maroons in the Washington County city.

The win marked the first in four years for the Campers over a Mel Henry-coached Hagerstown eleven and was the second straight victory for Roy Lester's charges.

Rice Thrills Large Crowd

Rice thrilled the large crowd, which saw Hagerstown lose its third game in four starts this year, when he returned a Tom Hughes punt 55 yards for Allegany's second touchdown in the first quarter. The scintillating run was made possible by a key block by End Bob Reiber who took out two safety men to enable Rice to go all the way.

Allegany opened the scoring when the Campers marched 75 yards early in the initial stanza, tallying when Dick Rank circled end for seven yards and the score. The march was featured by a 20-yard pass from Jim Hoffman to Vernon Lowery and a 35 yard runback of a punt by Eddie Joyce.

Allegany twice held Hagerstown inside the Campers' 15 yard line in the second period after a penalty and a poor 15 yard kick by Hoffman put the Lestermen deep in their own territory.

A pickup of a fumbled ball by End Joe Giffin resulted in the lanky end racing 75 yards for Hagerstown's only score as the third period got underway.

Rank Trown Out

Following the kickoff, Allegany returned to the 34. Here Rank was thrown out of the game for unsportsmanlike conduct in a fracas with a Hagerstown player.

After an exchange of punts put the Campers on their own six the visitors reeled off three first downs and a short pass from Hoffman to the 29 and when Hagerstown stiffened Harry Hixenbaugh's attempted field goal was short.

Later a 25-yard run by Joyce to the Maroons 25 set up the final score which Rice took over on a pitchout from the five. The lineups:

Clerk Is Held In $50,000 Gem Theft

SPOKANE, Oct. 2 (AP)—A 38-year-old hotel night clerk was arrested by FBI agents last night and jailed on charges of stealing 2,700 diamonds from a San Francisco hotel vault.

The FBI identified him as William Hubbs Isted but said he was working here under the name of Eric C. Wolff. He admitted his real name was Isted and offered no resistance, agents said.

He is accused of taking a salesman's diamond box from the safe. It was valued at more than $50,000.

The FBI said the diamonds were mailed to Isted's estranged wife in New York and have been recovered.

Keyser High's Golden Tornado, defending champions in the Potomac Valley Conference, opened the 1953 PVC season with a resounding 42-0 defeat of the Ridgeley Blackhawks yesterday on the Ridgeley field.

The Hawks, who had won three straight, suffered their first loss as Keyser coach Fred Clark cleared his bench and the heavier and more experienced visitors romped to their third win in four starts and first in the conference.

Ernie Courrier, who scored two of the Keyser six-pointers along with Dick Morris, raced around end from the 12 for the first score in the initial period.

Then after a Ridgeley fumble halted a Hawk drive in Keyser territory the Tornado turned on the steam. Morris and Courrier each crossed the double stripe in the second stanza and Keyser led 21-0 at halftime.

Another brace of scores in the third on a 20-yard run by Morris and a 35-yard pass from Scott Ward to End Bob McIllwee. The final Keyser six-pointer came when Joe Harber, substitute halfback, went over from the three in the late stages of the game.

Best players for Keyser were Courrier, Morris, Jack Landes and Dave Blackburn. Fritz Showers was Ridgeley's best. The lineups:

By TED TROXELL

Coach Bill Hahn's Fort Hill Sentinels rolled to their third straight triumph of the season last night as they sent the Martinsburg Bulldogs to their third loss, 20-0, at Fort Hill Stadium.

Despite the victory, Sentinel spirits were dampened late in the third quarter when backfield ace Bob Andrews was carried from the field on a stretcher. Andrews was taken to Memorial Hospital with a dislocated left elbow.

It was Andrews who carried the ball into paydirt for the Sentinels' first score, early in the second period. A pass interception by Tom Grove gave the Sentinels the ball on the Martinsburg 30-yard line. From there they drove to the five, where Andrews took a pitchout from Quarterback Paul Reitmeier, and the Sentinel record for consecutive game scoring was extended to 64 games. Cookerly added the extra point and Fort Hill led, 7-0.

Sentinel Drive Opens

The Sentinels started their second touchdown drive midway in the third period, when Andrews returned Dickie Lewis' punt to the Martinsburg 33. Andrews picked up six yards on first down, but on the next play, the Hahnmen were offsides and the ball was placed back on the Bulldog's 32.

Successive carries by Andrews and Reitmeier put the Sentinels inches short of a first down. Andrews then made his way to the Martinsburg 20 for a first down, but he was hit hard, and it was at this point, with approximately a minute remaining in the third period, that the Sentinel workhorse was carried from the field.

Attack Continues

The loss failed to slow the Hilltopper's attack, however, as moments later, Reitmeier scored from the one on a keep play. Weber's kick split the uprights, and the Sentinel's widened the margin to 14-0.

A pass play from Reitmeier to End Dick Bittner accounted for the South Ender's final T.D., after they had gained possession on a punt return. Ronnie Rice returned Frank Hawkins' boot to the Martinsburg 34-yard line. Teets and Reitmeier then moved the ball to the 30, where Reitmeier uncorked a long heave, taken by Bittner on the 18. The big end went all the way. Weber's kick was wide to the left, and the game ended with Fort Hill on the long end of the score, 20-0.

Lewis Plays Top Form

The Orange and Black gridders found themselves stifled by the Fort Hill defense, as they were able to gain a mere 23 yards on the ground, while hitting on two of eight passes for 19 yards. The Cobournites weren't able to pick up a first down until early in the third period, when Lewis' pass to end Dick Holbrunner was good for 14 yards and a first.

However, the inability to move the yard markers could have been more disastrous, except for the fine punting of triple threat quarterback Dickie Lewis. The 162-pound junior kicked seven times, and averaged a total of 40 yards per kick.

Reitmeier and Andrews were the offensive standouts for the Sentinels, while Dick Bittner and Ed Cookerly were particularly effective on the forward wall. Lewis and Kershner were the outstanding backs for the West Virginians, while Holbruner, Smallwood and Latham Flanagan were standouts on the line.

Losers To Pay

The losers will pay upon the completion of all Scotch foursome matches at the Cumberland Country Club and the tentative date for the dinner is Oct. 21 at the club. Fourteen matches have been completed and all others pending are urged to be completed before the dinner date, Carroll Boggs, pro, added. Players are asked to call Boggs at the club to complete arrangements for matches.

Moving Up

HIGHLY-PROMISING bantam Baby Moe Mario of Reno, Nev., is expected to get a return shot at Yoshio Shirai's flyweight crown. Mario, who has had 27 pro fights and never has been knocked down, recently lost a close decision to Shirai. (International)

Pimlico Stables Posing Problem

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2 (AP) — An opposition leader to letting Pimlico race track build stables on nearby land was worried today that it might result in closing the historic plant and he suggested another compromise talk.

But Ben Cohen, one of the principal Pimlico owners, wasn't interested.

"We would meet with them if there were any rhyme or reason to it," Cohen said.

He added he couldn't see any reason, since the move had been the subject of several meetings without agreement.

Fred Weisgal, attorney for a group of area residents who opposed the stables, expressed concern over a statement by the Maryland Racing Commission that hinted Pimlico might close if it couldn't expand.

Martinez Stops D'Andrea In 5th

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J. stopped game but inept Vinnie D'Andrea, of New York, in 1:58 of the fifth round of a telecast 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena tonight. Martinez, a 1-4 favorite, weighed 149¾ to D'Andrea's 153½.

Belmont Futurity Has 14 Entries

64th Running Of Classic Set Today

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—A battle royal of 12 colts and two fillies looms for the 64th running of the Belmont Futurity tomorrow, with the winner dragging down the richest purse since 1931 in this 2-year-old championship classic.

If all 14 start in the six and one half furlong dash down the Widener straight course, the gross value will be $117,575 with $92,875 to the winner.

Opinions were a dime a dozen as to the probable favorite, for this will be the first meeting of many of the contenders. The race will be televised (CBS) 4-4:30 p.m. EST.

Odds-makers were inclined to make the unbeaten filly, Evening Out, owned by Mrs. George D. Widener, the probable choice at 3 to 1.

Donald "Bucky" Rice, lightweight scatback for the Allegany High School Campers, tallied two touchdowns last night as he led his teammates to a 20-6 decision over the Hagerstown Maroons in the Washington County city.

The win marked the first in four years for the Campers over a Mel Henry-coached Hagerstown eleven and was the second straight victory for Roy Lester's charges.

Rice Thrills Large Crowd

Rice thrilled the large crowd, which saw Hagerstown lose its third game in four starts this year, when he returned a Tom Hughes punt 55 yards for Allegany's second touchdown in the first quarter. The scintillating run was made possible by a key block by End Bob Reiber who took out two safety men to enable Rice to go all the way.

Allegany opened the scoring when the Campers marched 75 yards early in the initial stanza, tallying when Dick Rank circled end for seven yards and the score. The march was featured by a 20-yard pass from Jim Hoffman to Vernon Lowery and a 35 yard runback of a punt by Eddie Joyce.

Allegany twice held Hagerstown inside the Campers' 15 yard line in the second period after a penalty and a poor 15 yard kick by Hoffman put the Lestermen deep in their own territory.

A pickup of a fumbled ball by End Joe Giffin resulted in the lanky end racing 75 yards for Hagerstown's only score as the third period got underway.

Rank Trown Out

Following the kickoff, Allegany returned to the 34. Here Rank was thrown out of the game for unsportsmanlike conduct in a fracas with a Hagerstown player.

After an exchange of punts put the Campers on their own six the visitors reeled off three first downs and a short pass from Hoffman to the 29 and when Hagerstown stiffened Harry Hixenbaugh's attempted field goal was short.

Later a 25-yard run by Joyce to the Maroons 25 set up the final score which Rice took over on a pitchout from the five. The lineups:

Clerk Is Held In $50,000 Gem Theft

SPOKANE, Oct. 2 (AP)—A 38-year-old hotel night clerk was arrested by FBI agents last night and jailed on charges of stealing 2,700 diamonds from a San Francisco hotel vault.

The FBI identified him as William Hubbs Isted but said he was working here under the name of Eric C. Wolff. He admitted his real name was Isted and offered no resistance, agents said.

He is accused of taking a salesman's diamond box from the safe. It was valued at more than $50,000.

The FBI said the diamonds were mailed to Isted's estranged wife in New York and have been recovered.

Keyser High's Golden Tornado, defending champions in the Potomac Valley Conference, opened the 1953 PVC season with a resounding 42-0 defeat of the Ridgeley Blackhawks yesterday on the Ridgeley field.

The Hawks, who had won three straight, suffered their first loss as Keyser coach Fred Clark cleared his bench and the heavier and more experienced visitors romped to their third win in four starts and first in the conference.

Ernie Courrier, who scored two of the Keyser six-pointers along with Dick Morris, raced around end from the 12 for the first score in the initial period.

Then after a Ridgeley fumble halted a Hawk drive in Keyser territory the Tornado turned on the steam. Morris and Courrier each crossed the double stripe in the second stanza and Keyser led 21-0 at halftime.

Another brace of scores in the third on a 20-yard run by Morris and a 35-yard pass from Scott Ward to End Bob McIllwee. The final Keyser six-pointer came when Joe Harber, substitute halfback, went over from the three in the late stages of the game.

Best players for Keyser were Courrier, Morris, Jack Landes and Dave Blackburn. Fritz Showers was Ridgeley's best. The lineups:

By TED TROXELL

Coach Bill Hahn's Fort Hill Sentinels rolled to their third straight triumph of the season last night as they sent the Martinsburg Bulldogs to their third loss, 20-0, at Fort Hill Stadium.

Despite the victory, Sentinel spirits were dampened late in the third quarter when backfield ace Bob Andrews was carried from the field on a stretcher. Andrews was taken to Memorial Hospital with a dislocated left elbow.

It was Andrews who carried the ball into paydirt for the Sentinels' first score, early in the second period. A pass interception by Tom Grove gave the Sentinels the ball on the Martinsburg 30-yard line. From there they drove to the five, where Andrews took a pitchout from Quarterback Paul Reitmeier, and the Sentinel record for consecutive game scoring was extended to 64 games. Cookerly added the extra point and Fort Hill led, 7-0.

Sentinel Drive Opens

The Sentinels started their second touchdown drive midway in the third period, when Andrews returned Dickie Lewis' punt to the Martinsburg 33. Andrews picked up six yards on first down, but on the next play, the Hahnmen were offsides and the ball was placed back on the Bulldog's 32.

Successive carries by Andrews and Reitmeier put the Sentinels inches short of a first down. Andrews then made his way to the Martinsburg 20 for a first down, but he was hit hard, and it was at this point, with approximately a minute remaining in the third period, that the Sentinel workhorse was carried from the field.

Attack Continues

The loss failed to slow the Hilltopper's attack, however, as moments later, Reitmeier scored from the one on a keep play. Weber's kick split the uprights, and the Sentinel's widened the margin to 14-0.

A pass play from Reitmeier to End Dick Bittner accounted for the South Ender's final T.D., after they had gained possession on a punt return. Ronnie Rice returned Frank Hawkins' boot to the Martinsburg 34-yard line. Teets and Reitmeier then moved the ball to the 30, where Reitmeier uncorked a long heave, taken by Bittner on the 18. The big end went all the way. Weber's kick was wide to the left, and the game ended with Fort Hill on the long end of the score, 20-0.

Lewis Plays Top Form

The Orange and Black gridders found themselves stifled by the Fort Hill defense, as they were able to gain a mere 23 yards on the ground, while hitting on two of eight passes for 19 yards. The Cobournites weren't able to pick up a first down until early in the third period, when Lewis' pass to end Dick Holbrunner was good for 14 yards and a first.

However, the inability to move the yard markers could have been more disastrous, except for the fine punting of triple threat quarterback Dickie Lewis. The 162-pound junior kicked seven times, and averaged a total of 40 yards per kick.

Reitmeier and Andrews were the offensive standouts for the Sentinels, while Dick Bittner and Ed Cookerly were particularly effective on the forward wall. Lewis and Kershner were the outstanding backs for the West Virginians, while Holbruner, Smallwood and Latham Flanagan were standouts on the line.

Losers To Pay

The losers will pay upon the completion of all Scotch foursome matches at the Cumberland Country Club and the tentative date for the dinner is Oct. 21 at the club. Fourteen matches have been completed and all others pending are urged to be completed before the dinner date, Carroll Boggs, pro, added. Players are asked to call Boggs at the club to complete arrangements for matches.

Moving Up

HIGHLY-PROMISING bantam Baby Moe Mario of Reno, Nev., is expected to get a return shot at Yoshio Shiral's flyweight crown. Mario, who has had 27 pro fights and never has been knocked down, recently lost a close decision to Shiral. (International)

Pimlico Stables Posing Problem

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2 (AP) — An opposition leader to letting Pimlico race track build stables on nearby land was worried today that it might result in closing the historic plant and he suggested another compromise talk.

But Ben Cohen, one of the principal Pimlico owners, wasn't interested.

"We would meet with them if there were any rhyme or reason to it," Cohen said.

He added he couldn't see any reason, since the move had been the subject of several meetings without agreement.

Fred Weisgal, attorney for a group of area residents who opposed the stables, expressed concern over a statement by the Maryland Racing Commission that hinted Pimlico might close if it couldn't expand.

Martinez Stops D'Andrea In 5th

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J. stopped game but inept Vinnie D'Andrea, of New York, in 1:58 of the fifth round of a telecast 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena tonight. Martinez, a 1-4 favorite, weighed 149¾ to D'Andrea's 153½.

Belmont Futurity Has 14 Entries

64th Running Of Classic Set Today

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—A battle royal of 12 colts and two fillies looms for the 64th running of the Belmont Futurity tomorrow, with the winner dragging down the richest purse since 1931 in this 2-year-old championship classic.

If all 14 start in the six and one half furlong dash down the Widener straight course, the gross value will be $117,575 with $92,875 to the winner.

Opinions were a dime a dozen as to the probable favorite, for this will be the first meeting of many of the contenders. The race will be televised (CBS) 4-4:30 p.m. EST.

Odds-makers were inclined to make the unbeaten filly, Evening Out, owned by Mrs. George D. Widener, the probable choice at 3 to 1.

The Hasty House Farm's Hasty Road, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Allie Reubens of Toledo, O.; C. V. Whitney's Fisherman, and Porterhouse, from the

SUPPER FOR THREE

Three men ate supper together one night in the little town of Emmaus, near Jerusalem.

Two of them were sorrowing disciples whose Master had been crucified.

The third was the risen Christ, Himself, though His dejected companions had not recognized Him.

At the table Jesus broke bread as He had in the Upper Room. Suddenly, the eyes of the disciples were opened. They beheld their Master!

Next Sunday is WORLD COMMUNION SUNDAY. Christians the world over will gather in their churches to celebrate the Lord's Supper. Again in the breaking of bread men will realize that Christ lives—that He stands in our midst today.

And the joy of the disciples at Emmaus will be multiplied a millionfold in every city cathedral, every village chapel.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SUPPER FOR THREE

Three men ate supper together one night in the little town of Emmaus, near Jerusalem.

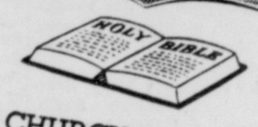
Two of them were sorrowing disciples whose Master had been crucified.

The third was the risen Christ, Himself, though His dejected companions had not recognized Him.

At the table Jesus broke bread as He had in the Upper Room. Suddenly, the eyes of the disciples were opened. They beheld their Master!

Next Sunday is WORLD COMMUNION SUNDAY. Christians the world over will gather in their churches to celebrate the Lord's Supper. Again in the breaking of bread men will realize that Christ lives—that He stands in our midst today.

And the joy of the disciples at Emmaus will be multiplied a millionfold in every city cathedral, every village chapel.



THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Methodist Youth Presenting Fair In Piedmont

PIEDMONT — Methodist youth here are ending a three-day fair this evening in the recreation hall of Trinity Methodist Church.

Exhibits, movies and other forms of entertainment are being provided.

Sporting goods, photographic supplies, office supplies, church banquet table decorations are being displayed. The Boy Scouts have an exhibit of articles from the National Jamboree at the Irvine Ranch in California. The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has a display used in New York last year.

Scrapbooks, old guns and books, needlecraft and other hobbies are exhibited.

Items for sale include food stuffs, glassware figurines, pen and pencil sets. Rummage and white elephant sales are being held. There also is a fish pond.

Movies borrowed from the West Virginia University Library are shown each evening at various times. Games will be indulged and Friday evening will feature a spelling bee.

A slide projector will reflect religious scenes on the wall of the chapel on the first floor, which will be open to those who wish to spend a few minutes there in quiet.

The Youth Fellowship is sponsoring the affair to raise funds to contribute to the church budget.

Officers elected are president, Thomas S. Smouse, and secretary, Miss Sally Stanton. There were 37 present.

Mineral County Pupils Refuse To Leave School Buses At Unsafe Rural Bridges

The problem of weak structures bridging some Mineral County streams has been brought to a point where authorities say it may be necessary to have parents served with warrants if their children persist in refusing to get off buses at the bridges, which the State Road Commission says are unsafe for the buses to cross.

At the beginning of the school term, the SRC issued a warning of the unsafe condition, but offered no move to aid in building supports beneath the bridges.

On Tuesday morning, a bus en route to school in Keyser from the Burlington area had the first difficulty.

Since school opened, buses crossing the bridges, considered dangerous, have stopped at the bridges, and the students got off and walked to the other side and then got into the bus there, but on Tuesday, 17 of the students refused to leave the bus before crossing New Creek on Rt. 220. Others got off and crossed the bridge.

Another bus following, bringing another load of students, stopped, and the students waiting at the bridge boarded it and continued on to the Keyser school. The 17 who refused to leave the bus were returned to their homes.

School officials said there was no trouble Wednesday, as the principal of the school talked to the students and gave them a warning of possible results.

Hanen L. Idleman, school superintendent, telephoned Governor William C. Marland in Charleston and told him the circumstances, and asked if something might be done toward strengthening the under structure of the several bridges declared unsafe at the time of opening the school. The governor said that he would make an investigation to see if something can be done.

The school bus, on which the students failed to get off and walk, weighs 15,000 pounds empty, which is half a ton heavier than the maximum safe weight declared by the road commission for the bridge.

Parents in the rural area, whose children must attend schools and who must ride the buses to and from schools, are asking why the road commission has not strengthened the unsafe bridges and why nothing was said until it was time for the opening of school this fall. The matter is getting a full airing in the rural communities, but to date no steps have been made to strengthen the bridges by placing supports beneath, or in doing some other work other than issuing a statement they are unsafe.

Mineral Grand Jury Is Drawn For Oct. Term

KEYSER—Grand jurors and the petit jury panel was drawn Thursday for the October term of Circuit Court in Mineral County, which opens on Tuesday, October 20, for presentations to the grand jury by the county prosecutor, Vernon E. (Pat) Rankin.

There will be two weeks intervening between the day the grand jury meets until the court session is opened. This is Monday, November 2, when the court docket will be called and cases will be set for trial during the term.

Mineral County Court has not had a jury trial since the October 1952 term, and the last court action was taken in January past, with Judge Harlan Calhoun, sitting in the absence of Judge Ernest A. See, regular jurist in this court district, who was ill and in the hospital where he underwent a serious operation.

He did not report for court duties until mid-year, and as the summer vacation was on, he has attended to only chancery matters in the meantime.

Judge See will again be on the bench when the October term opens on the 21st.

Methodist Youth Presenting Fair In Piedmont

PIEDMONT — Methodist youth here are ending a three-day fair this evening in the recreation hall of Trinity Methodist Church.

Exhibits, movies and other forms of entertainment are being provided.

Sporting goods, photographic supplies, office supplies, church banquet table decorations are being displayed. The Boy Scouts have an exhibit of articles from the National Jamboree at the Irvine Ranch in California. The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has a display used in New York last year.

Scrapbooks, old guns and books, needlecraft and other hobbies are exhibited.

Items for sale include food stuffs, glassware figurines, pen and pencil sets. Rummage and white elephant sales are being held. There also is a fish pond.

Movies borrowed from the West Virginia University Library are shown each evening at various times. Games will be indulged and Friday evening will feature a spelling bee.

A slide projector will reflect religious scenes on the wall of the chapel on the first floor, which will be open to those who wish to spend a few minutes there in quiet.

The Youth Fellowship is sponsoring the affair to raise funds to contribute to the church budget.

The matter is getting a full airing in the rural communities, but to date no steps have been made to strengthen the bridges by placing supports beneath, or in doing some other work other than issuing a statement they are unsafe.

Keyser Kiwanis Has Meeting At Waxler Church

KEYSER—The Keyser Kiwanis Club held its weekly dinner meeting at Waxler Church on Waxler Road, Wednesday evening. They will continue to meet there in October, and until winter weather interferes with making the trip.

The club heard a report on results of the Kids' Day program to help children to have hot lunches at the schools here.

The Potomac State College Circle K Club president and vice president were guests. Through the school year two members of the club will be guests of Kiwanians at regular meetings. They are: Gary Van Meter, Petersburg, president, and Gene Kessel, Moorefield, vice president. John Catlett, purchasing agent for Kelley Springfield Tire Company, also was a guest of the club.

The next meeting will be held next Wednesday at McCoole, where dinner will be served by the McCoole Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association and a program will follow. It will give the club members opportunity to visit the new addition to the school, erected during the summer vacation.

Mineral Co. Temperature Peak Is 94

KEYSER—David Arnold, weather observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau at Knobley Mountain station at the junction of U. S. Rt. 50 and Cutoff of U. S. Rt. 220, reports that the highest temperature recorded there in September was 94 degrees, during the first five days of the month.

He added that September 30, was also a hot day when 90 degrees was recorded, law in comparison with the high temperatures, close to the 100 degree mark in the valleys.

Arnold said also that the low point reached was 38 degrees, when frost was seen, not only on the mountain but a trace of it was reported in the valleys. There were 18 fair days, he said, six clody and six partly cloudy.

Rain was almost absent as shown at the observer's station. The rainfall for the month was 1:47 inch, and it fell prior to September 10. The month's average rainfall is 2.81 inches.

Cattle Judgers Travel To Iowa

The 4-H'ers, who will compete against top dairy teams from approximately 28 states this Monday are: Glen Patterson, 17, of McDonogh, Baltimore county; John Nicolai, Jr., 17, Ellicott City, Howard county; Dick Hough, 19, Route 5, Mount Airy Howard county; and Roscoe Harbough, 19, of New Midway, Frederick county.

The team qualified for national competition when they placed in the top eight dairy cattle judges at the Maryland State Fair earlier this month. Enroute to Waterloo the team made practice-workouts in dairy judging at farms in Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa.

Accompanying the team are William M. Buckel, assistant county agent, Baltimore county, and John L. Morris, Extension dairyman, University of Maryland.

Visits Her Sister

KEYSER—Mrs. J. W. Raines, St. Petersburg, Fla., is visiting her sister, Mrs. George R. Barker, South Main Street.

BOUND FOR GERMANY—Mrs. Sarah M. Titus and her daughter, Ruth, Frostburg, will leave October 9 to join Mrs. Titus' husband, Captain Joseph W. Titus, at Hahn Air Force Base in Germany. Mrs. Titus and Ruth, 14, have been residing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snyder, parents of Mrs. Titus, at 19 East Main Street, Frostburg, since Capt. Titus left for Germany this summer. They will go to Fort Hamilton, N. Y., next Friday to sail for Germany with a group of dependents of servicemen.

Government Buys Beef To Boost Cattle Prices

The United States Department of Agriculture has now bought more than 110 million pounds of beef in an effort to firm up farm prices for beef cattle.

George J. Martin, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee, explained that nearly all the beef went to the school lunch program or for institutional use. The rest was for export to Germany and Greece.

Beef consumption per person in this country will reach an all-time high this year, Martin said. Total livestock slaughtered will probably exceed all peace-time records, bested only by two wartime years. Total consumption of meat per person is expected to be the third largest in peacetime over a 40 year period.

The Commodity Credit Corporation has bought storage bins to handle more than 96 million bushels of government-owned corn. Bins purchased this fall will be located in nine midwestern states, but will generally help ease storage space for government-owned corn in the rest of the nation, according to Martin.

Purchase and erection of the bins is one of a number of steps the Department of Agriculture has taken this year to make price supports to farmers more effective through helping them find adequate storage space for their crops, Martin said.

"The government has encouraged farm storage whenever possible, the PMA chairman said. The government offers farmers four-year loans at 4 percent interest on amounts up to 80 percent of the cost of farm storage structures. Similar loans are available for purchase of grain drying equipment.

WHAT IS HE UP TO?

WHENEVER you see a defender lead right into the dummy's powerful side suit, you should be able to figure out what he is up to. Except in the rarest of situations, he is bent on one or more ruffs of that suit for his side. Either he has so many cards of it that he thinks his partner will be able to ruff that trick or the next, or else—which is more likely—he is short in the suit himself and expects to use one or more of his trumps for that purpose. If you deduce that, it is up to you to work on the trump suit as soon as you can.

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Dbl
Rdbl	1 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Dbl

North's jump all the way to game was not wholly unjustified. His extreme distribution, combined with the fact that South bid when released from responsibility by the redouble, made game seem extremely likely if South had even one or two low honors in the black suits. Even with no useful honors at all, South might have made the contract except for defensive ruffing of hearts.

West opened the heart A and, even after seeing that huge suit in dummy, repeated with the 9. South decided to take that in dummy and discard a low club—bad bridge. Next he followed up that initial error by leading a third heart and ruffing with the spade 5 to get into his own hand, so he could lead trumps. West, however, over-ruffed that with the spade 10 and then led the club 2 to the A. East of course returned a fourth heart, so that South's spade 9 was over-ruffed by the Q. With four tricks in, the spade A was sure to give the defense a fifth one, setting the contract two.

South should have limited his loss to down one by ruffing the second heart, then leading a spade. West could have come in with the A and led to the club A. East would have returned a heart to give West one ruff, but there would have been no way to get two by the defense.

Your Weekend Question

What difference in policy should there be between rubber and tournament play regarding a safety play to help assure the contract, perhaps at the sacrifice of a possible extra trick?

Keyser Kiwanis Has Meeting At Waxler Church

KEYSER—The Keyser Kiwanis Club held its weekly dinner meeting at Waxler Church on Waxler Road, Wednesday evening. They will continue to meet there in October, and until winter weather interferes with making the trip.

The club heard a report on results of the Kids' Day program to help children to have hot lunches at the schools here.

The Potomac State College Circle K Club president and vice president were guests. Through the school year two members of the club will be guests of Kiwanians at regular meetings. They are: Gary Van Meter, Petersburg, president, and Gene Kessel, Moorefield, vice president. John Catlett, purchasing agent for Kelley Springfield Tire Company, also was a guest of the club.

The next meeting will be held next Wednesday at McCoole, where dinner will be served by the McCoole Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association and a program will follow. It will give the club members opportunity to visit the new addition to the school, erected during the summer vacation.

Mineral Co. Temperature Peak Is 94

KEYSER—David Arnold, weather observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau at Knobley Mountain station at the junction of U. S. Rt. 50 and Cutoff of U. S. Rt. 220, reports that the highest temperature recorded there in September was 94 degrees, during the first five days of the month.

He added that September 30, was also a hot day when 90 degrees was recorded, law in comparison with the high temperatures, close to the 100 degree mark in the valleys.

Arnold said also that the low point reached was 38 degrees, when frost was seen, not only on the mountain but a trace of it was reported in the valleys. There were 18 fair days, he said, six clody and six partly cloudy.

Rain was almost absent as shown at the observer's station. The rainfall for the month was 1:47 inch, and it fell prior to September 10. The month's average rainfall is 2.81 inches.

Cattle Judgers • Travel To Iowa

The 4-H'ers, who will compete against top dairy teams from approximately 28 states this Monday are: Glen Patterson, 17, of McDonogh, Baltimore county; John Nicolai, Jr., 17, Ellicott City, Howard county; Dick Hough, 19, Route 5, Mount Airy Howard county; and Roscoe Harbough, 19, of New Midway, Frederick county.

The team qualified for national competition when they placed in the top eight dairy cattle judges at the Maryland State Fair earlier this month. Enroute to Waterloo the team made practice-workouts in dairy judging at farms in Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa.

Accompanying the team are William M. Buckel, assistant county agent, Baltimore county, and John L. Morris, Extension dairyman, University of Maryland.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 2 (INS)—The most daring producer when it comes to casting is Hal Wallis. He never, for five minutes, believes in choosing true to type actors. For instance, he put Burt Lancaster opposite Shirley Booth in "Come Back, Little Sheba" and gave Burt an entirely foreign role to any character he had ever played.

Now he's signed Robert Ryan to play the male lead of the government official in "About Mrs. Leslie"—again with Shirley Booth.

Shirley arrived in town Wednesday, bringing with her the same little dog for whom she turned on the television when she won the Academy Award—she wanted the dog to see her.

Tragic word has just come to Hollywood that Anthony Kelly, assistant director of "Duel in the Jungle" was drowned in the Zambesi River in Africa.

Producer Tony Owen, who sends back the news, says Dana Andrews was doing a canoe scene in which he was to come perilously close to dangerous rapids. Kelly went on ahead to scout the rapids and was swept over them. Jeanne Crain, who is also in the picture, was a horrified onlooker.

After this tragedy Director George Marshall called off shooting. Kelly leaves a wife and child.

Chatter in Hollywood:

Donald O'Connor, who was supposed to be out of town on a vacation, walked into the Bandbox night club for Buddy Hackett's opening with RKO Starlet Phyllis Applegate on his arm.

A few minutes later, in came Don's ex, Gwenn O'Connor, all by herself. She sat down with Don and Phyllis and the place was agog.

Also in to see Buddy were Janet Leigh, Tony Curtis and Jeff Chandler. Buddy was in "Walking My Baby Back Home" with Don and Janet.

So glad to have Jane Wyman telephone me to say she is back from Lake Arrowhead and is now finishing "Magnificent Obsession" at the U-I studios.

I wanted to tell her what a really fine performance she gives in "So Big." This is the third time Warner Brothers have made a picture of Edna Ferber's novel, and for my money this is the best.

Jane hasn't done anything as good since "Johnny Belinda," and we can put her name righ down now for Academy consideration when voting time comes 'round.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Cornel Wilde and Jean Wallace with children and dogs arrive tomorrow after a year or more in Europe. While there Cornel made two pictures.

A romance very intriguing in our town is that of Director Vincente Minnelli and Actress Dodie Heatn. Hear tell Vincente, who was once married to Judy Garland, is about to wed Dodie.

Met Ella Logan and she indignantly denied that she is carrying a torch for Freddie Finklehoffe. She says her heart is elsewhere.

George Sidney has a budget of three million dollars for "New Faces," his next picture, so he's going to New York to look over the shows for new talent.

Vic Damone will do six TV shows with Milton Berle and one for Eddie Cantor. MGM says okay.

Maggie Whiting was the only girl on the platform at the A S C A P meeting. Millions of dollars worth of talent in the room with so many composers of big hits present. Went with Mrs. Wolfie Gilbert and Wolfie introduced me. Sorry my only songs are on the typewriter.

Sat next to Gene Kelly at the luncheon for Prince Akihito, and we talked at length about Ireland. Gene was in Europe 20 months and says his daughter speaks French like a native. He loves Dublin.

Congratulations to Helen Ferguson on becoming a great-aunt for the second time. Her niece, Mrs. Harry Cresmann (daughter of the Norman Brodines) welcomed a baby girl in London.

Joseph Schenck, who went to New York to meet Mike Todd on Mike's return from Italy, says he won't be back until next week. Big business is keeping him there.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

A woman never looks better dressed than in a suit that is well proportioned for her figure!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Any suit is a challenge to any woman's figure. Since it is a two-piece costume, it is sure to broaden the hips and shorten height. Yet, a woman never looks better dressed than in a suit that is properly-proportioned and well-fitted to her figure. And every woman longs to see herself smartly suited. That, of course, is a matter of matching your figure to the right type of suit. With just a bit of knowledge, you can make an excellent selection this season because styles are so varied.

Suiting Your Figure

Let's consider some figure types and the suits designed for them:

The tall and slim: The long-jacketed, softly detailed suit with a widely gored skirt or the new boxy styles with slim skirt compliment these proportions perfectly.

The short figure: The new short-jacket suit, contoured and shaped to the figure with slim skirt, gives the illusion of height. Avoid strong colors — search out the darks and the blurred versions.

The heavy figure: Suits with interest in the neckline, collar and upper-sleeves will tend to detract from the weight of the rest of the figure. Narrow stripes, plain colors, longer skirts with a slight flair — all will foster the impression of a more willowy line.

The full-busted figure: A dark-colored, striped jacket contrasted with a light colored plain skirt immediately acts as a balancing factor. Let your jacket extend to long length and your skirt flare to longer than average hemline. You'll capture the image you are after!

The average figure — or the long-legged type. For both of you, anything goes! For the biggest bargain, choose the classic that is sure to enhance your personal presentation for the longest period of time — in fact, until the suit wears out! For fashion leadership, try the new bloused or belted jacket styles.

High-fashion Details

And now, just a few general comments: A fur-trimmed suit is top fashion. Black broadcloth makes a suit a preferred "after-five" costume. In big metropolitan areas, black broadcloth is the smartest suit at any hour.

Make sure that the suit you choose is definitely soft and feminine in line. The man-tailored look is decidedly out of fashion. But the hand-finished and stitched look gives you the subtle contouring and draping that is ultra not only right now but assuredly as long as lovely materials are woven!

"My Favorite Husband" is a pretty sweeping title. The avocation — I think that's what it is — of husband is the most widely practised thing anywhere on television these days. In fact, if all the professional TV husbands were gathered together in one room, it might be a very good thing.

John Crosby

The husband and wife domestic comedy teams, who are growing rapidly into one of the world's largest industries, include Lucy and Desi, George and Gracie, the Erwins, William Bendix and Marjorie Reynolds in "The Life of Riley," Barbara Britton and Richard Denning, Pam and Jerry North, Joan Davis and Jim Backus in "I Married Joan," Ozzie and Harriet, Ray Milland and Phyllis Avery in "Meet Mr. McNutley," "Ethel and Albert" (Peg Lynch and Alan Bunce), Paul Hartman and Fay Wray (Gosh, it's been years since I saw that girl) in "Pride of the Family" and—well, I tell you, kid, it's big business. The Arnaz's are being paid something like $8,000,000 for it, just to give you an idea.

I'm delighted that domestic felicity is such a huge commercial success. I'm not sure that you find so much of it in the amateur ranks as you do among the pros. In fact, professional marriage does not in any way resemble marriage among the amateurs I know. Domestic life with the Erwins and the Burnses and the Norths is a succession of calamities, ranging from murder in the case of the Norths to chronic amnesia in the case of the McNutleys.

Not all these wives and not all these husbands are exactly alike but one thing is constant, so far as I know, in all of these shows. The husband always lose. The wives invariably outwit them, though in the case of the feather-brained ones like Gracie or Joan Davis you might more properly say they unwit them. In any case, outwit or unwit, the husbands lose.

I don't think this is especially healthy propaganda to spread out ever so many hours on ever so many networks. "You've got to stop thinking of George as a man," says one character to Joan Caulfield in "My Favorite Husband." "Maybe he was a man when you married him but you've worked hard on him for five years and now he's only a husband."

This might be held up as the philosophy of every one of these programs and I'm not sure it's a proper one. "My Favorite Husband" started out life as Isabel Scott Rerick's amusing "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat" stories. Since then it's been a movie and undergone a great many mutations to satisfy the requirements of television. Actually, this is a very slick production as these things go. Miss Caul-

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

S F J J V X F W F J ' J B U E Z X V J G U X V S U P Z K S X F W .... C V V J D N C V C B J O X P Q X F P Q J K Q N B K Q ' U W C P J— Q J B I J B P.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: THE SPIRIT-WORLD AROUND THIS WORLD OF SENSE FLOATS LIKE AN ATMOSPHERE—LONGFELLOW.

Did you know luxury could be so cheap?
1951 PLYMOUTH 4 Door Sedan. Here is a beauty. The like-new chrome on this car really makes the gleaming black finish stand out. The spotless light gray interior is contrasted with new green and white seat covers over airfloam seats. The equipment includes all-weather heater, defroster, Signal lights, arm rests and the floor mats are like new. The tires still have deep-grooved tread. All the mechanical parts are in good working condition and it is still another Potomac Motors Below-book Value Special . . .
$1,195
1949 CHRYSLER New Yorker 4 Door Sedan. The former 1-owner was a Celanese executive and only drove 13,000 miles a year. He really kept this one in condition, with regular check-ups and garaged every night. This gleaming light gray finish car is contrasted by like-new chrome. You have all the safe driving devices like signal lights, backup lights, 4 speed Fluidamatic transmission with step down gear for passing on hills. The powerful 8 cylinder engine is in A-1 condition. The rest of the equipment includes Heater, defroster, 8-tube radio, airfloam seats, arm rests, plastic seat covers and the tires are new. It will not last long at . . .

Special
Did you know luxury could be so cheap?
1951 PLYMOUTH 4 Door Sedan. Here is a beauty. The like-new chrome on this car really makes the gleaming black finish stand out. The spotless light gray interior is contrasted with new green and white seat covers over airfloam seats. The equipment includes all-weather heater, defroster, Signal lights, arm rests and the floor mats are like new. The tires still have deep-grooved tread. All the mechanical parts are in good working condition and it is still another Potomac Motors Below-book Value Special . . .
$1,195
1949 CHRYSLER New Yorker 4 Door Sedan. The former 1-owner was a Celanese executive and only drove 13,000 miles a year. He really kept this one in condition, with regular check-ups and garaged every night. This gleaming light gray finish car is contrasted by like-new chrome. You have all the safe driving devices like signal lights, backup lights, 4 speed Fluidamatic transmission with step down gear for passing on hills. The powerful 8 cylinder engine is in A-1 condition. The rest of the equipment includes Heater, defroster, 8-tube radio, airfloam seats, arm rests, plastic seat covers and the tires are new. It will not last long at . . .

FOR SALE

I have available the best buy in a thoroughly modern home in this community. There are 8 rooms, 2 baths and lavatory on two floors. Third floor and basement finished. Permanent asbestos-cement shingles, sides and roof. Four inch batt insulation on sides, 8" between rafters. Automatic forced hot air furnace, gas fired. Winter air conditioning installed. Summer air conditioning available but not installed as heavy insulation makes further cooling unwanted. Winter gas heat $60.00 for all 4 floors. Price upon application. Inspection of 836 Windsor Road, Dingle by appointment.

Tax Collections In City Pass $1/4 Million Mark

Interest Deadline Will Be Oct. 26

Over a fourth of the 1953-54 tax levy has been collected, Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan announced yesterday.

Cash registers at the City Tax Office have seldom had a chance to cool down this week and by 3 p. m. yesterday had recorded total collections of $254,677.77 in new taxes.

Except for about $50,0000 of 1953-54 taxes paid by corporations virtually all of the funds have been collected since last Friday, according to George E. Davis, city collector.

The total tax levy for the current fiscal year is $984,900, up $88,700 from last year.

Tax bills were mailed to some 13,400 taxpayers late last week, and deliveries by postmen set off the annual rush at the tax office.

Bills may be settled without paying interest until October 26, at midnight.

The statements list the interest deadline as October 24, but the time will be extended until the following Monday since the 24th falls on Saturday, when the office is not open.

City taxes which are not paid during the 30-day period after bills are mailed bear interest at the rate of one-half of one per cent. But those who pay from October 27 to November 24 will be charged one per cent interest, since the penalty time goes back to August 24, the date the new levy is set.

15,000 Expected To Visit Fair

SANDY POINT, Oct. 2 (AP)—Some 15,000 persons were expected to visit Anne Arundel County's first fair before the gates close tonight.

The grounds were crowded throughout the day, with the hot, sunny weather bringing them out in shirtsleeves. Cars were backed up three-quarters of a mile from the gate at one time.

Fair President Folger M. Ridout reported an attendance of 2,400 yesterday and nearly 1,500 on Wednesday, opening day. The fair closes tomorrow night.

The high attendance today was attributed to Children's Day and this morning's livestock judging.

This afternoon the Annapolis, Bates, Glen Burnie and Arundel High School bands supplied the entertainment.

Gov. McKeldin is expected to attend tomorrow's festivities, which include a pony show in the morning, a jousting tournament in the afternoon, a firemen's parade in the evening and a talent show at night.

Rockville Lawyer, Legislator Dies

ROCKVILLE, Md., Oct. 2 (AP)—Clifford H. Robertson, 76, Rockville lawyer since 1898 and member of the Maryland House of Delegates in 1902, died Wednesday at his home.

He had been in active practice and an auditor of the Montgomery County Circuit Court until last May when he suffered a heart attack.

Officer Hospitalized

Stock Market Goes Ahead Slightly In Quiet Trading

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP) — The Stock Market managed to maintain slight forward motion today in quiet trading.

Among late prices were Bethlehem Steel off ¼ at 46¾, Chrysler up ⅜ at 64½, Boeing up ½ at 44, Radio Corp. off ⅜ at 23¾, American Telephone unchanged at 154½, Du Pont up 2 at 102¼, General Electric up ⅞ at 75⅛, New York Central unchanged at 20, and Standard Oil (NJ) up ⅜ at 69⅝.

Among stocks advancing were General Motors, Goodyear, American Smelting, Union Carbide, Willys-Overland, American Can, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Texas Co.

Lower were Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn L. Martin, Philco, Homestake Mining, American TOBACCO, Southern Railway, and Sinclair Oil.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(Distributed By INS)

The Triple Pun

At that time Stone was even more polished and debonair than adolph Menjou. Almost every picture had him as the banker, the diplomat, the family friend or the girl's influential uncle.

Radio And Television

field is a cute chick who looks as if she might outwit a reasonably stupid husband. Barry Nelson is reasonably stupid as the husband and a little heavy for my taste. The minor roles, a gold mine of good comedy in this sort of series, are very aptly played.

But what they're up to is another matter. The most recent one concerned a bit of blackmail aimed at procuring a new dress for Miss Caulfield in exchange for letting her husband go off duck shooting a couple of days. This, we're told, is standard operating procedure in suburban circles and maybe it is. The blackmail plan: the wife volunteers to go along. Husbands — we're told — will pay any amount of money to keep a woman out of a duck blind. My own experience contradicts this considerably. Women, I've found, will pay almost any amount of money to stay out of duck blinds. They don't understand blinds.

Anyhow, Mr. Nelson and his companions, intent on relaxation, are stuck with a woman in the woods which leads to any number of comical situations. One of them, a woman in a poker game, has been done before on "I Love Lucy" and, for all I know, on all the others. Come to think of it, there isn't a situation you can think of that all these shows is not going to exploit some time or other.

Wedded bliss is a splendid thing to promulgate on television but too much of it is going to wear. Sooner or later it'll drive the rest of us to the divorce courts out of sheer ennui with al this bliss. Whatever happened to my favorite married couple, the Bickersons? They loathed each other and, I thought, they were terribly funny.

Average Wholesale Price Down Slightly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Average wholesale prices as measured by the Bureau of Labor Statistics declined one-tenth of one per cent during the week ended Sept. 29.

Tax Collections In City Pass $1/4 Million Mark

Interest Deadline Will Be Oct. 26

Over a fourth of the 1953-54 tax levy has been collected, Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan announced yesterday.

Cash registers at the City Tax Office have seldom had a chance to cool down this week and by 3 p. m. yesterday had recorded total collections of $254,677.77 in new taxes.

Except for about $50,0000 of 1953-54 taxes paid by corporations virtually all of the funds have been collected since last Friday, according to George E. Davis, city collector.

The total tax levy for the current fiscal year is $984,900, up $88,700 from last year.

Bills may be settled without paying interest until October 26, at midnight.

The statements list the interest deadline as October 24, but the time will be extended until the following Monday since the 24th falls on Saturday, when the office is not open.

City taxes which are not paid during the 30-day period after bills are mailed bear interest at the rate of one-half of one per cent. But those who pay from October 27 to November 24 will be charged one per cent interest, since the penalty time goes back to August 24, the date the new levy is set.

15,000 Expected To Visit Fair

SANDY POINT, Oct. 2 (AP)—Some 15,000 persons were expected to visit Anne Arundel County's first fair before the gates close tonight.

The grounds were crowded throughout the day, with the hot, sunny weather bringing them out in shirtsleeves. Cars were backed up three-quarters of a mile from the gate at one time.

Fair President Folger M. Ridout reported an attendance of 2,400 yesterday and nearly 1,500 on Wednesday, opening day. The fair closes tomorrow night.

The high attendance today was attributed to Children's Day and this morning's livestock judging.

This afternoon the Annapolis, Bates, Glen Burnie and Arundel High School bands supplied the entertainment.

Gov. McKeldin is expected to attend tomorrow's festivities, which include a pony show in the morning, a jousting tournament in the afternoon, a firemen's parade in the evening and a talent show at night.

Rockville Lawyer, Legislator Dies

ROCKVILLE, Md., Oct. 2 (AP)—Clifford H. Robertson, 76, Rockville lawyer since 1898 and member of the Maryland House of Delegates in 1902, died Wednesday at his home.

He had been in active practice and an auditor of the Montgomery County Circuit Court until last May when he suffered a heart attack.

Officer Hospitalized

Stock Market Goes Ahead Slightly In Quiet Trading

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP) — The Stock Market managed to maintain slight forward motion today in quiet trading.

Among late prices were Bethlehem Steel off ¼ at 46¾, Chrysler up ⅜ at 64½, Boeing up ½ at 44, Radio Corp. off ⅜ at 23¾, American Telephone unchanged at 154½, Du Pont up 2 at 102¼, General Electric up ⅞ at 75⅛, New York Central unchanged at 20, and Standard Oil (NJ) up ⅜ at 69⅝.

Today's advance put the market ahead for the week, the second straight weekly advance after six declines.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 30 cents at $103.70, up nearly $4 from the low of the year touched about three weeks ago.

Among stocks advancing were General Motors, Goodyear, American Smelting, Union Carbide, Willys-Overland, American Can, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Texas Co.

Lower were Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn L. Martin, Philco, Homestake Mining, American TOBACCO, Southern Railway, and Sinclair Oil.

Baering Down On The News

The Triple Pun

We are waiting action on our earth-buttering plan to make plebiscites more exclusive.

When Byrnes was gumming up the Oriental details we won the sultan's prize for the first American citizen to perpetrate a triple pun.

The Carnegie Foundation for Marginal Errata states that was the first since the London punchline, "It's a plain case of the tale dogging the wag."

But we beat that 20 years ago with a tag line for a Henry Major caricature of the distinguished actor, Lewis Stone.

At that time Stone was even more polished and debonair than adolph Menjou. Almost every picture had him as the banker, the diplomat, the family friend or the girl's influential uncle.

Radio And Television

field is a cute chick who looks as if she might outwit a reasonably stupid husband. Barry Nelson is reasonably stupid as the husband and a little heavy for my taste. The minor roles, a gold mine of good comedy in this sort of series, are very aptly played.

But what they're up to is another matter. The most recent one concerned a bit of blackmail aimed at procuring a new dress for Miss Caulfield in exchange for letting her husband go off duck shooting a couple of days. This, we're told, is standard operating procedure in suburban circles and maybe it is. The blackmail plan: the wife volunteers to go along. Husbands — we're told — will pay any amount of money to keep a woman out of a duck blind. My own experience contradicts this considerably. Women, I've found, will pay almost any amount of money to stay out of duck blinds. They don't understand blinds.

Anyhow, Mr. Nelson and his companions, intent on relaxation, are stuck with a woman in the woods which leads to any number of comical situations. One of them, a woman in a poker game, has been done before on "I Love Lucy" and, for all I know, on all the others. Come to think of it, there isn't a situation you can think of that all these shows is not going to exploit some time or other.

Wedded bliss is a splendid thing to promulgate on television but too much of it is going to wear. Sooner or later it'll drive the rest of us to the divorce courts out of sheer ennui with al this bliss. Whatever happened to my favorite married couple, the Bickersons? They loathed each other and, I thought, they were terribly funny.

Average Wholesale Price Down Slightly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Average wholesale prices as measured by the Bureau of Labor Statistics declined one-tenth of one per cent during the week ended Sept. 29.

The bureau said its index declined to 110.6 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

Generally lower prices for meats were largely responsible for the decrease in processed foods. The Bureau said the average prices for farm products and other commodities remained unchanged.

Council Asks New Briefing On Flood Job

Cost Of Property Presents Problem

City officials will ask the Corps of Engineers to brief them on plans for the final stages of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection program.

Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday asked City Attorney Thomas B. Finan to contact the Corps of Engineers and ask when such a conference could be held in Washington.

Finan earlier had reported that officials of the corps are anxious for progress on land acquisition and rights of ways needed for future work in the Potomac River.

He added, however, that officials of the Corps of Engineers are working on a number of urgent projects and might not be able to come to Cumberland soon to confer with the city. He added the meeting might be arranged sooner if it were held in Washington.

Finan pointed out that the city should determine whether it wants to ask the Corps of Engineers for a change in plans due to the financial burden of acquiring the property, or to make some effort to save some of the homes.

Commissioner Keegan pointed out he would like to have a briefing from the Corps of Engineers on the rest of the plan since he was not in touch with progress during the term he was out of the council.

One of the problems is that after construction chargable to the city—$375,000, plus about $600,000 for the rebuilding three brides across Wills Creek, is spent, only about $15,000 would be left for land acquisition.

About $1,500,000 of the $2,500,000 raised by the city and county for flood control has been expended.

Firemen Burn Mortgage

James C. Nicely Found Dead In Rooming House

Was Assistant Police Chief Here Years Ago

James C. Nicely, onetime assistant chief of City Police, was found dead yesterday morning in a Polk Street rooming house where he lived. He was 75.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy medical examiner for Allegany County, said death apparently was due to a heart condition.

Mr. Nicely was found at about 10 a.m. yesterday by a friend who had gone to visit him. When Nicely failed to answer a knock at his door, his visitor became worried. The landlady said she had last seen Mr. Nicely the previous evening. They forced the door and found him dead.

A native of Virginia, Mr. Nicely was born May 22, 1878, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Nicely.

He spent most of his life in Cumberland. He was for several years a motorman on the Potomac Edison Company's trolley system, which was abanodned a number of years ago.

During the period immediately preceding World War I, Mr. Nicely was for several years assistant police chief.

In recent years he had been a part-time elevator operator at Schwarzenbach and Son men's clothing store. He had not been working for the past week because of illness.

He was a member of the Knights of Pythias.

Surviving is one daughter, Mrs. Russell Miller, Newark, N. J.

A funeral service will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m. at the Stein Funeral Home by Rev. Howard M. Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

PE Supervisor Named President Of State Group

Lee W. Morgan, Potomac Edison System Lighting Supervisor, has been elected president of the Maryland section of the nation-wide Illuminating Engineering Society.

Morgan has been an active member of the IES for 20 years and has held the chairmanship of several committees including the program committee for the 1953 regional IES conference.

For the past 12 years he has been the local IES representative for Western Maryland.

Succeeding Morgan as local representative will be another Hagerstown man, Howard Conrad, Tri-State Electrical Supply Company's industrial engineer. Conrad is also an IES veteran and has held active posts with several Society committees.

The Illuminating Engineering Society is composed of over 7,500 members from every state in the union, Canada and Mexico. Its purpose is to disseminate information pertaining to theory and practice of illuminating engineering and makes this information available to scientific, professional and technical organizations and various electrical and other industry groups concerned with lighting.

Zoning Board To Act On Occupancy Permits

Two applications for occupancy permits were referred yesterday to the Board of Zoning Appeals.

James F. Hamilton asked to occupy the first floor of 130 South Lee as a grocery store. The building is in a Residential B district. It was formerly used as a store but has since been used as a residence.

Robert E. Shelley asked to use a building in the rear of 412 Seymour Street as a grocery storehouse. The building is in a Residential B area and was formerly used as a garage.

Holy Name Will Receive Members

The Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Catholic Church will conduct a reception ceremony for nearly a hundred student members Sunday night at the church.

Seventy-five Holy Name Juniors will be received into the Society, and a number of seniors also will become members of the senior unit. Student members range in age from eight to 18.

Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenney, pastor of the church, will officiate at the ceremony at 7:30 p. m.

Officers of the Society will give responses for the boys. Participating will be Norman Fearnow, president; Joseph A. Madden, secretary, and James W. Reinhart, marshal.

Refreshments will be served in the school social center following the reception ceremony.

Kentucky And West Virginia Win Mine Rescue Contests

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 2 (AP)—Kentucky won two firsts and West Virginia one in the 15th National First Aid and Mine Rescue Contest.

The winners:

Mine rescue — First, Wisconsin No. 2 Mine, International Harvester Co., Benham, Ky.; Second, Hendri Mine, Consolidation Coal Co., Jenkins, Ky.; Third, Stone Mines 4 and 8, Eastern Coal Corp., Stone, Ky.

First Aid — First, Bergoo No 4 Mine, Pardee & Curtain Lumber Co., Bergoo, W. Va.; Second, National No. 3 Mine, U. S. Steel Corp. Muse, Pa.; Third, Kyle-Collier Mines, U.S. Steel Corp., Uniontown, Pa.

Combination — First, Mine No. 204, Consolidation Coal Co., Jenkins, Ky.; Second, No. 2 Team of Dun Glen No. 11 Mine, Hanna Coal Co., Dun Glen, Ohio; Third, Jamison No. 9 Mine, Jamison Coal & Coke Co., Farmington, W. Va.

Other results in the first aid division included:

Fifth, No. 1 Team, U.S. Steel Corp., Gary, W. Va.; Eighth, Jamison No. 11 Mine, South Union Coal Co., Edna, W. Va.; Tenth, Mine No. 32, Consolidation Coal Co., Fairmont, W. Va.

The crack Kitzmiller Mine Rescue Team, which won the national championship last year, was presented with a banner for its contribution to the contest.

The Bureau of Mines, he said, is proud of the Kitzmiller team and grateful to all of those who sponsored the unit.

Today's Local Chuckle!

The main aisle was partly blocked by two matronly shoppers who had stopped to look at a display.

He tried to worm through the remaining space, but his trouser cuff caught the base of a wire display rack dumping an assortment of jigsaw puzzles to the floor.

'Oh, look, Vera!" she exclaimed. "They've got games here!"

New Equipment To Speed Long Distance Calls

Improvement in the telephone service of Cumberland and Ridgeley subscribers is expected as a result of the installation of seven new switchboard positions in the toll operating room in Cumberland.

The addition will bring the total toll switchboard positions, used exclusively for long distance calls, up to 28. The new units will be put in service at midnight Saturday.

As of Sunday, October 4, all calls to places other than the Cumberland and Ridgeley area will be handled by the long distance operator. Subscribers wishing to call outside of Cumberland and Ridgeley will ask for the "long distance" operator. This will allow local operators to devote their attention exclusively to calls within Cumberland and Ridgeley.

Subscribers wishing to call Flintstone will ask for the "long distance" operator even though no toll charges apply.

No calls to places outside of Cumberland and Ridgeley will be handled by the local operators.

Installation of this new equipment took two months and the cost was $63,000.

Another addition to the Cumberland central office is the new long distance dialing equipment. This will enable operators to dial to and through Pittsburgh. Formerly, they could dial only calls to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

12,000 County Voters Now Have Their Cards

This week 2,448 were mailed out to voters in Election Districts 5-3, North End; 6-1, 6-3 and 6-4, all in the West Side.

Irvin J. Neat and C. William McDermott, registrars, stressed that any voter whose address has been changed since he registered should write a request for change of address, return the incorrect card and then will be sent a correct one. They may come to the office in the Court House basement in person with their old cards and will receive new ones.

Byrd Promises To Give Facts In Election Bid

Unusual Campaign To Be Conducted

SANDY POINT, Md., Oct. 2 (AP)—Dr. H. C. Byrd, University of Maryland president, said today he will conduct "an unusual campaign" in his bid for the governor's office.

"The people are tired of hearing malarkey," Byrd said.

"They want the facts, and that's what I'm going to give them. If that's politics, all right," he told reporters.

"I'm going to see if it works," he said. He did not elaborate.

Byrd, who has yet to officially announce for the Democratic nomination, kept away from politics when congratulating backers of Anne Arundel County's first fair at a luncheon.

He was called "a symbol of the University of Maryland" by toastmaster Carroll Lee, Anne Arundel farmer, who later said:

"Next year when we extend an invitation to you, I hope you won't have so far to travel." The governor's mansion is only a few miles away in Annapolis.

Fair President Folger M. Ridout already is calling the endeavor a financial success.

The fair closes Saturday night after afternoon jousting tournament, a firemen's parade and a talent show.

Philadelphia Mayor To Address League

Mayor Joseph S. Clark of Philadelphia will address the Maryland Municipal League at its sixth annual convention in Baltimore November 13.

The announcement came from Mayor Herbert W. Reichelt, of Mt. Rainier, league president. Mayor Clark is a vice-president of the American Municipal Association, the national organization of the state municipal leagues. He is in his first term as mayor of the nation's third largest city after previously having served as city controller for two years.

The Weather

October treated Western Maryland to its second consecutive day of idyllic Indian Summer weather yesterday, and more pleasant weather is expected today. The official high was 81, the low, 39, and humidity at 6 p. m. was a comfortable 30 per cent. Highest reading today is expected to be somewhere between 80 and 85 degrees.

Red Cross Wants Nurses For Polio

The American Red Cross is now seeking experienced nurses to care for polio patients in the 16 states of the Northeastern United States, acording to Mrs. Lee Witherup, executive-secretary of the Allegany County Chapter.

Mrs. Witherup yesterday said the Red Cross has an immediate need for 19 nurses in Rochester, N. Y. and Akron, Ohio.

Registered, professional nurses with special training or previous polio experience are preferred, Mrs. Witherup added. The nurses are recruited when a hospital has more polio patients than its nurses can care for and the Red Cross through the local polio nursing committee, is requested to seek such qualified nurses.

These nurses, though recruited by the Red Cross, become employes of the hospitals to which they are assigned and must agree to serve at least three calendar months.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Witherup in the chapter office on the third floor of the Post Office building.

Ridgeley Is Host To Legion Meet

The fourth annual West Virginia Tenth District motor caravan will make its initial visit to Ridgeley tomorrow with Knobley Mountain Post 136 as host.

The caravan, with representatives from the 16 district posts, is expected to arrive about noon at the intersection of Knobley Street and W. Va. Route 28. The autos will be escorted to Ridgeley by State Police.

A parade is being planned through Ridgeley and will go from Route 28 to Blocher Street to Mineral to Knobley to Second where it will disband at the post home. In the line of march will be the color guard of the district posts, and the drum and bugle corps of Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW and Fulton Myers Post 153, American Legion.

A luncheon will be served at the post home from noon until 1:30 p. m. and at 2 p. m. a business meeting will be held at the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club.

Three Forest Fires Start As Danger Mounts

Narrows Blaze Under Control

With no promise of much-needed rain, foresters in the area were keeping their fingers crossed and hoping that citizens of the Tri-State area will exercise care in the woods to keep fires from starting in the bone-dry timberland.

Although the fire in the Narrows on Wills Mountain was still smoldering last night, District Forester William H. Johnson said it had been brought under control and was in no danger of spreading.

Scrub Pines Smolder

Most of the smoldering was among scrub pines which have managed to grow amidst rocks on the steep cliff. The fire was not spreading but was simply burning itself out, observers said.

Senior Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin, three other employes of the State Department of Forests and Parks and eight Baltimore and Ohio Railroad workers formed the crew which battled to see that the Narrows fire got no farther than the 12 to 15 acres burned Thursday afternoon and evening shortly after the blaze began.

Meanwhile, in neighboring West Virginia, District Forester Tilden Norris at Romney reported three fires in his district, two of them still out of control in Pendleton County and one controlled in Grant County.

Smokes Out Squirrel

Despite the fact that West Virginia has placed a ban on hunting a Grant County fire was started near Petersburg by an illegal hunter smoking out a squirrel. This burned three acres before being brought under control.

Norris said that one of the Pendleton County blazes had been burning for two days in an area near Franklin. Both fires in that county were believed to have been the work of incendiaries but no one has been apprehended.

The West Virginia forester said that several days of rain would be needed to remove the critical fire danger now prevailing.

Two Youths Face Burglary Counts In Court Here

Criminal informations charging two young men with statutory burglary in two unrelated crimes were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

One accuses Eugene Jeffries of Frostburg of breaking into the tavern of Louis "Big Lou" Riley in Frostburg July 14 and stealing $150 from a money box there. Jeffries' attorney, Milton Gerson, Monday filed a petition for an immediate trial for his client who waived his right to indictment by the grand jury.

The other charges Floyd Gilbert Flanagan of Cresaptown of breaking into Allen J. Grant's Silver Lane Bowling Alley in Cresaptown August 15 and stealing one case of beer valued at $3 and a quantity of potatoe chips, candy bars, cheese crackers and cookies valued at a total of $2.15.

Both Jeffries and Flanagan are expected to be tried in Circuit Court today.

Thomas B. Sarver, also of Cresaptown, pleaded guilty Tuesday to breaking into the same Cresaptown bowling alley at a later date, September 6. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris has said he will pass sentence at 10 o'clock this morning.

LULU W. BOUCHER

Lulu W. Boucher, GOP Lawmaker Dies In Hospital

Served 16 Years In House Of Delegates

Mrs. Lulu W. Boucher, first Republican woman ever to be elected to the Maryland House of Delegates, died late last night at a local hospital, where she had been a patient since last November. She was 82.

She was born July 4, 1871 at Barton, a daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. Joseph D. Wilson. She was married to Dr. S. A. Boucher, who died in December 1945.

Active in poltics from her youth, Mrs. Boucher was the first Republican woman to serve in the Maryland legislature.

She served four four-year terms, representing the people of Allegany County at eight regular sessions and five special sessions.

After having served on numerous legislative committees, Mrs. Boucher was honored with appointment as chairman of the library committee.

The first minority member ever to head the committee, she was in charge of the 112,000 volumes and many invaluable historical archives then in the state library at Annapolis.

A devout Presbyterian, Mrs. Boucher was for many years active in Masonic organizations. She once served as worthy grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star in Maryland, and held several other offices in state and local units.

Pastor Is Named For Missions

James D. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hall, Pocomoke City, will assume charge of the Bowman's Addition Baptist Mission and the Bedford Road Baptist Mission.

Rev. Mr. Hall was recently ordained a minister and has attended Mars Hill College, Mars Hill, N. C., where he was president of the Eu and an associate director of the Training Union.

He is now enrolled at Frostburg State Teachers College. He did summer work in Maryland the past year and also youth missionary work in South America.

The missions at Bowman's Addition and Bedford Road are sponsored by the First and Second Baptist Churches of this city.

Cumberlander Studies At Mars Hill College

William Miller, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, 345 Bedford Street, is a sophomore at Mars Hill College, Mars Hill, N. C.

A graduate of Allegany High School, young Miller is enrolled in the Reserve Officers Corps program at Mars Hill. His father is a printer for the Cumberland News. Seventeen Marylanders are included among the 820 students at the college.

Ice Box Safety Ordinance Is Planned By City

Action Is Slated At Meeting Monday

An ordinance designed to protect the children of this city from suffocation in abandoned ice boxes and air-tight containers will be presented to the Mayor and Council on Monday morning.

The ordinance was prepared by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan at the request of Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan. It was discussed briefly yesterday at a pre-council meeting held in City Hall.

Urges Adoption

Urging adoption of the ordinance when it comes up for action Monday, Commissioner Keegan cited the toll of deaths throughout the country in recent months.

The ordinance will prohibit abandoning ice boxes and refrigerators in places accessible to children and provide penalties for violations.

Instances have been reported in other cities, the ordinance points out, of death due to suffocation of children in abandoned, unattended ice boxes, refrigerators and other containers which have air tight doors that cannot be opened from the inside, and that such hazards constitute a menace to the safety of the children of Cumberland.

Fines Are Provided

The ordinance would make it unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to leave outside of any building or dwelling in a place accessible to children, any such containers which have air-tight doors, or locks which may not be released from the inside, without first removing the snap lock or doors from the container.

Violators of the ordinance are subject to a fine of from $5 to $25.

Free disposition will be arranged by the city at the request of any citizen. Details will be announced later, officials said.

Two Celanese Employes Given Service Awards

Mrs. Helen Laughlin Smith, 110 Potomac Street, Westernport, and Shepherd W. Gatrell, RFD 2, Williams Road, were honored yesterday their 25th anniversary at Amcelle by R. Finley Thompson, plant manager, who presented each a gold watch as a remembrance of long association with Celanese.

Mrs. Smith is a stenographer in the Production Planning Department. She has been in this department for the past 15 years, having worked for 10 years in the Cellulose Acetate Department as a stenographer prior to her present position.

Born in Westernport, she graduated from St. Peter's High School there and Catherman's Business School in Cumberland.

Gatrell is a supervisor in the Bobbin Stores Section of Spinning. He has been on the supervisory staff since 1937 and in the Bobbin Stores Department for his entire 25 years at Amcelle.

Well known in amateur radio circles, he is president of the Mountain Amateur Radio Club. Since 1949, he has held a "ham" license whose call letters are "W3 PMQ." He is affiliated with the Maryland Civil Defense Communications Service of Allegany County. In emergencies this communication network will be manned by licensed amateurs who will maintain vitally necessary contact with the rest of the county and state.

In addition to his hobby of electronics and amateur radio, he also enjoys hunting. He is also a member of Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Byron O. Waite and John Bestwick, superintendent of Textile and Spinning, joined in honoring these employes within their departments by awarding each the traditional 5-star Celanese service emblem and certificate.

Army Begins Streamlined Training System

A streamlined system for converting civilian into soldier goes into effect today throughout the seven-state Second Army area.

Under the new method inductees will eventually by-pass the old style reception center and go directly from the induction station to the nearest training center. There they will be given clothing, innoculations, qualification and aptitude tests and other necessary processing concurrent with their training.

Previously, selection for specialized Army training was made during the first three days of military service. Now such selection will not be made until the fourth week of the 8-week basic infantry combat course. This will permit a better evaluation of the soldier's potentialities.

Upon completion of the first eight weeks of basic training, the soldier will be given 14 days leave. Previously only seven days leave was granted after completion of the entire 16 week course.

At the end of the two-week leave period the majority of the trainees will return to the same installation where they took the eight-week basic course. They will continue with another eight weeks of advanced individual training. Others, selected for specialized training, will be sent to installations where the technical services will continue their military education.

In either case, during this last eight-week period, the men will be placed in units of platoon or company size. The officers and noncommissioned officers who are their instructors will then remain with the unit regardless of whether it is eventually assigned to duty in the United States or sent overseas.

Those assigned overseas will move in groups directly to overseas replacement stations and, where appropriate, in so-called "Carrier Companies" composed of four-man "buddy" teams. In some instances the entire platoon or company will be maintained as a unit.

Increased morale, greater teamwork and a return to the "pride of organization" idea are among those assets it is hoped will be gained through this new system.

At present five installations have been designated as training centers in the Second Army area. They are Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., Fort Knox, Ky., and Fort Eustis, Fort Lee and Camp Pickett in Virginia.

547 Telephone Workers Get Defense Training

J. H. Cromwell, former manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company office here, who is defense coordinator for the company reports that training in Civil Defense rescue work is being given 547 telephone workers throughout Maryland.

The training program is under the direction of B. L. Dickerson, C. & P. construction foreman, who was recently graduated from the F.C.D.A. Staff College, at Olney.

The initial phase of the program covers the training of 118 squad leaders who in turn will be responsible for training 429 rescue workers. Training of "light" rescue squads began September 9, 1953, at the Company's Plant School, 2631 Sisson Street, Baltimore.

Among observers at the "light" training course was Colonel Frank Milani, Baltimore Civil Defense Director, and various County Civil Defense officers. Training of "light" rescue squads is scheduled to be completed October 8. The program for "light" rescue work covers 16 hours instruction and includes such subjects as lashing injured personnel to litters, use of ladders and fire extinguishers, ropes, knots and rescue reconnaissance with emphasis on safety first.

The program for "heavy" rescue work will get under way October 12, at the Baltimore County Civil Defense Training Site, near Timonium.

In addition to subjects covered in the "light" rescue training, the program for "heavy" rescue training includes such matters as lowering injured personnel from heights, shoring and bracing, reconnaissance and debris removal, fire fighting, etc. This phase of the training program is expected to be completed by December 18.

The 547 telephone employes being trained will serve on 43 "light" and 69 "heavy" rescue squads.

The former are responsible for rescue work in the building in which they work, whereas the latter, consisting of outside construction people, will be available for rescue work in any telephone building in the area. This training program is designed to equip telephone workers for rescue work in connection with peace time disasters, as well as in the event of an enemy attack.

Council Asks New Briefing On Flood Job

Cost Of Property Presents Problem

City officials will ask the Corps of Engineers to brief them on plans for the final stages of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection program.

Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday asked City Attorney Thomas B. Finan to contact the Corps of Engineers and ask when such a conference could be held in Washington.

Finan earlier had reported that officials of the corps are anxious for progress on land acquisition and rights of ways needed for future work in the Potomac River.

He added, however, that officials of the Corps of Engineers are working on a number of urgent projects and might not be able to come to Cumberland soon to confer with the city. He added the meeting might be arranged sooner if it were held in Washington.

Some 60 dwellings, 21 of them in Cumberland and 43 in Ridgeley, must be acquired under present plans for channel work on the Potomac River.

Finan pointed out that the city should determine whether it wants to ask the Corps of Engineers for a change in plans due to the financial burden of acquiring the property, or to make some effort to save some of the homes.

Commissioner Keegan pointed out he would like to have a briefing from the Corps of Engineers on the rest of the plan since he was not in touch with progress during the term he was out of the council.

One of the problems is that after construction chargable to the city—$375,000, plus about $600,000 for the rebuilding three brides across Wills Creek, is spent, only about $15,000 would be left for land acquisition.

About $1,500,000 of the $2,500,000 raised by the city and county for flood control has been expended.

Firemen Burn Mortgage

The audio-visual education committee includes Winfield Adam and Rabbi Schimelman while the sermonette committee includes Rev. J. H. Snyder and Adam.

Rev. Grim, Rev. George T. C. Bell, Captain Daniel Biggs, Rev. H. W. Richardson, Rabbi Schimelman and Rev. C. F. Frith are on the brotherhood committee. On the youth advisory committee are Adam, Rev. Voll and Rev. Raymond Crowe.

The library committee includes Rev. Crates S. Johnson, Rev. Amoss and Rev. Eckert. Rev. Milton Robinson is in charge of the hospital committee while Rev. Amoss and Rev. Ralph Illingsworth are on membership.

The sunrise service committee includes Rev. Grove, Rev. Allen Pugh, Rev. H. E. Heckert, Rev. Johnson, and Rev. J. H. Snyder while Rev. Randolph Keefe, Rev. B. F. Hartman, Rev. Carl Clapp, Rev. H. W. Patterson, Rev. Eckert and Rev. Crowe are one the program committee.

Rev. Snyder Rev. C. Herman Bailey and Rev. Hammersla are on the summer union services committee and Rev. Grove, Captain Biggs, Rev. H. W. Peters and Rabbi Umen are on the family relations committee.

The radio committee includes Rev. John Bayley Jones, Rabbi Umen, Rev. Robinson, Rev. Faulds and Rev. J. F. Zimmerman.

The civil defense committee includes Rabbi Schimelman, Rev. Faulds and Rev. Patterson.

Three Forest Fires Start As Danger Mounts

Narrows Blaze Under Control

With no promise of much-needed rain, foresters in the area were keeping their fingers crossed and hoping that citizens of the Tri-State area will exercise care in the woods to keep fires from starting in the bone-dry timberland.

Although the fire in the Narrows on Wills Mountain was still smoldering last night, District Forester William H. Johnson said it had been brought under control and was in no danger of spreading.

Scrub Pines Smolder

Most of the smoldering was among scrub pines which have managed to grow amidst rocks on the steep cliff. The fire was not spreading but was simply burning itself out, observers said.

Senior Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin, three other employes of the State Department of Forests and Parks and eight Baltimore and Ohio Railroad workers formed the crew which battled to see that the Narrows fire got no farther than the 12 to 15 acres burned Thursday afternoon and evening shortly after the blaze began.

Meanwhile, in neighboring West Virginia, District Forester Tilden Norris at Romney reported three fires in his district, two of them still out of control in Pendleton County and one controlled in Grant County.

Smokes Out Squirrel

Despite the fact that West Virginia has placed a ban on hunting a Grant County fire was started near Petersburg by an illegal hunter smoking out a squirrel. This burned three acres before being brought under control.

Norris said that one of the Pendleton County blazes had been burning for two days in an area near Franklin. Both fires in that county were believed to have been the work of incendiaries but no one has been apprehended.

The West Virginia forester said that several days of rain would be needed to remove the critical fire danger now prevailing.

Ice Box Safety Ordinance Is Planned By City

Action Is Slated At Meeting Monday

An ordinance designed to protect the children of this city from suffocation in abandoned ice boxes and air-tight containers will be presented to the Mayor and Council on Monday morning.

The ordinance was prepared by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan at the request of Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan. It was discussed briefly yesterday at a pre-council meeting held in City Hall.

Urges Adoption

Urging adoption of the ordinance when it comes up for action Monday, Commissioner Keegan cited the toll of deaths throughout the country in recent months.

James C. Nicely Found Dead In Rooming House

Was Assistant Police Chief Here Years Ago

James C. Nicely, onetime assistant chief of City Police, was found dead yesterday morning in a Polk Street rooming house where he lived. He was 75.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy medical examiner for Allegany County, said death apparently was due to a heart condition.

Mr. Nicely was found at about 10 a.m. yesterday by a friend who had gone to visit him. When Nicely failed to answer a knock at his door, his visitor became worried. The landlady said she had last seen Mr. Nicely the previous evening. They forced the door and found him dead.

A native of Virginia, Mr. Nicely was born May 22, 1878, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Nicely.

He spent most of his life in Cumberland. He was for several years a motorman on the Potomac Edison Company's trolley system, which was abanodned a number of years ago.

During the period immediately preceding World War I, Mr. Nicely was for several years assistant police chief.

In recent years he had been a part-time elevator operator at Schwarzenbach and Son men's clothing store. He had not been working for the past week because of illness.

He was a member of the Knights of Pythias.

Surviving is one daughter, Mrs. Russell Miller, Newark, N. J.

A funeral service will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m. at the Stein Funeral Home by Rev. Howard M. Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Today's Local Chuckle!

The young man stepped away from the soda fountain of a busy downtown drugstore last evening and hurried toward the door.

The main aisle was partly blocked by two matronly shoppers who had stopped to look at a display.

He tried to worm through the remaining space, but his trouser cuff caught the base of a wire display rack dumping an assortment of jigsaw puzzles to the floor.

As he stooped to pick up the puzzles and to nurse an aching shin, one of the women peered over his shoulder.

Byrd Promises To Give Facts In Election Bid

Unusual Campaign To Be Conducted

SANDY POINT, Md., Oct. 2 (AP)—Dr. H. C. Byrd, University of Maryland president, said today he will conduct "an unusual campaign" in his bid for the governor's office.

"The people are tired of hearing malarkey," Byrd said.

"They want the facts, and that's what I'm going to give them. If that's politics, all right," he told reporters.

"I'm going to see if it works," he said. He did not elaborate.

Byrd, who has yet to officially announce for the Democratic nomination, kept away from politics when congratulating backers of Anne Arundel County's first fair at a luncheon.

In his speech, he praised the farmers for their work, "on which practically our whole economy depends."

Byrd's talk was another in a series of appearances before state farm groups, considered among his strongest political supporters.

He was called "a symbol of the University of Maryland" by toastmaster Carroll Lee, Anne Arundel farmer, who later said:

"Next year when we extend an invitation to you, I hope you won't have so far to travel." The governor's mansion is only a few miles away in Annapolis.

The official luncheon was the highlight of fair's second day program.

Fair President Folger M. Ridout already is calling the endeavor a financial success.

Red Cross Wants Nurses For Polio

The American Red Cross is now seeking experienced nurses to care for polio patients in the 16 states of the Northeastern United States, acording to Mrs. Lee Witherup, executive-secretary of the Allegany County Chapter.

Mrs. Witherup yesterday said the Red Cross has an immediate need for 19 nurses in Rochester, N. Y. and Akron, Ohio.

Registered, professional nurses with special training or previous polio experience are preferred, Mrs. Witherup added. The nurses are recruited when a hospital has more polio patients than its nurses can care for and the Red Cross through the local polio nursing committee, is requested to seek such qualified nurses.

These nurses, though recruited by the Red Cross, become employes of the hospitals to which they are assigned and must agree to serve at least three calendar months.

Two Youths Face Burglary Counts In Court Here

Criminal informations charging two young men with statutory burglary in two unrelated crimes were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

One accuses Eugene Jeffries of Frostburg of breaking into the tavern of Louis "Big Lou" Riley in Frostburg July 14 and stealing $150 from a money box there. Jeffries' attorney, Milton Gerson, Monday filed a petition for an immediate trial for his client who waived his right to indictment by the grand jury.

The other charges Floyd Gilbert Flanagan of Cresaptown of breaking into Allen J. Grant's Silver Lane Bowling Alley in Cresaptown August 15 and stealing one case of beer valued at $3 and a quantity of potatoe chips, candy bars, cheese crackers and cookies valued at a total of $2.15.

Both Jeffries and Flanagan are expected to be tried in Circuit Court today.

Thomas B. Sarver, also of Cresaptown, pleaded guilty Tuesday to breaking into the same Cresaptown bowling alley at a later date, September 6. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris has said he will pass sentence at 10 o'clock this morning.

PE Supervisor Named President Of State Group

Lee W. Morgan, Potomac Edison System Lighting Supervisor, has been elected president of the Maryland section of the nationwide Illuminating Engineering Society.

Morgan has been an active member of the IES for 20 years and has held the chairmanship of several committees including the program committee for the 1953 regional IES conference.

For the past 12 years he has been the local IES representative for Western Maryland.

Succeeding Morgan as local representative will be another Hagerstown man, Howard Conrad, Tri-State Electrical Supply Company's industrial engineer. Conrad is also an IES veteran and has held active posts with several Society committees.

The Illuminating Engineering Society is composed of over 7,500 members from every state in the union, Canada and Mexico. Its purpose is to disseminate information pertaining to theory and practice of illuminating engineering and makes this information available to scientific, professional and technical organizations and various electrical and other industry groups concerned with lighting.

Holy Name Will Receive Members

The Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Catholic Church will conduct a reception ceremony for nearly a hundred student members Sunday night at the church.

Seventy-five Holy Name Juniors will be received into the Society, and a number of seniors also will become members of the senior unit. Student members range in age from eight to 18.

Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenney, pastor of the church, will officiate at the ceremony at 7:30 p. m.

Officers of the Society will give responses for the boys. Participating will be Norman Fearnow, president; Joseph A. Madden, secretary, and James W. Reinhart, marshal.

Refreshments will be served in the school social center following the reception ceremony.

New Equipment To Speed Long Distance Calls

Improvement in the telephone service of Cumberland and Ridgeley subscribers is expected as a result of the installation of seven new switchboard positions in the toll operating room in Cumberland.

The addition will bring the total toll switchboard positions, used exclusively for long distance calls, up to 28. The new units will be put in service at midnight Saturday.

As of Sunday, October 4, all calls to places other than the Cumberland and Ridgeley area will be handled by the long distance operator. Subscribers wishing to call outside of Cumberland and Ridgeley will ask for the "long distance" operator. This will allow local operators to devote their attention exclusively to calls within Cumberland and Ridgeley.

Subscribers wishing to call Flintstone will ask for the "long distance" operator even though no toll charges apply.

No calls to places outside of Cumberland and Ridgeley will be handled by the local operators.

Installation of this new equipment took two months and the cost was $63,000.

Another addition to the Cumberland central office is the new long distance dialing equipment. This will enable operators to dial to and through Pittsburgh. Formerly, they could dial only calls to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

Philadelphia Mayor To Address League

Mayor Joseph S. Clark of Philadelphia will address the Maryland Municipal League at its sixth annual convention in Baltimore November 13.

The announcement came from Mayor Herbert W. Reichelt, of Mt. Rainier, league president. Mayor Clark is a vice-president of the American Municipal Association, the national organization of the state municipal leagues. He is in his first term as mayor of the nation's third largest city after previously having served as city controller for two years.

12,000 County Voters Now Have Their Cards

More than 12,000 Allegany County voters now have received their registration cards, the County Board of Election Supervisors reports.

This week 2,448 were mailed out to voters in Election Districts 5-3, North End; 6-1, 6-3 and 6-4, all in the West Side.

Irvin J. Neat and C. William McDermott, registrars, stressed that any voter whose address has been changed since he registered should write a request for change of address, return the incorrect card and then will be sent a correct one. They may come to the office in the Court House basement in person with their old cards and will receive new ones.

The Weather

October treated Western Maryland to its second consecutive day of idyllic Indian Summer weather yesterday, and more pleasant weather is expected today. The official high was 81, the low, 39, and humidity at 6 p. m. was a comfortable 30 per cent. Highest reading today is expected to be somewhere between 80 and 85 degrees.

Ridgeley Is Host To Legion Meet

The fourth annual West Virginia Tenth District motor caravan will make its initial visit to Ridgeley tomorrow with Knobley Mountain Post 136 as host.

The caravan, with representatives from the 16 district posts, is expected to arrive about noon at the intersection of Knobley Street and W. Va. Route 28. The autos will be escorted to Ridgeley by State Police.

A parade is being planned through Ridgeley and will go from Route 28 to Blocher Street to Mineral to Knobley to Second where it will disband at the post home. In the line of march will be the color guard of the district posts, and the drum and bugle corps of Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW and Fulton Myers Post 153, American Legion.

A luncheon will be served at the post home from noon until 1:30 p. m. and at 2 p. m. a business meeting will be held at the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club.

Frank Powers, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, declared the Maryland team made a fine showing in the contest.

The Bureau of Mines, he said, is proud of the Kitzmiller team and grateful to all of those who sponsored the unit.

Army Begins Streamlined Training System

Under the new method inductees will eventually by-pass the old style reception center and go directly from the induction station to the nearest training center. There they will be given clothing, innoculations, qualification and aptitude tests and other necessary processing concurrent with their training.

Previously, selection for specialized Army training was made during the first three days of military service. Now such selection will not be made until the fourth week of the 8-week basic infantry combat course. This will permit a better evaluation of the soldier's potentialities.

Upon completion of the first eight weeks of basic training, the soldier will be given 14 days leave. Previously only seven days leave was granted after completion of the entire 16 week course.

At the end of the two-week leave period the majority of the trainees will return to the same installation where they took the eight-week basic course. They will continue with another eight weeks of advanced individual training. Others, selected for specialized training, will be sent to installations where the technical services will continue their military education.

In either case, during this last eight-week period, the men will be placed in units of platoon or company size. The officers and noncommissioned officers who are their instructors will then remain with the unit regardless of whether it is eventually assigned to duty in the United States or sent overseas.

Those assigned overseas will move in groups directly to overseas replacement stations and, where appropriate, in so-called "Carrier Companies" composed of four-man "buddy" teams. In some instances the entire platoon or company will be maintained as a unit.

Increased morale, greater teamwork and a return to the "pride of organization" idea are among those assets it is hoped will be gained through this new system.

At present five installations have been designated as training centers in the Second Army area. They are Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., Fort Knox, Ky., and Fort Eustis, Fort Lee and Camp Pickett in Virginia.

547 Telephone Workers Get Defense Training

J. H. Cromwell, former manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company office here, who is defense coordinator for the company reports that training in Civil Defense rescue work is being given 547 telephone workers throughout Maryland.

The training program is under the direction of B. L. Dickerson, C. & P. construction foreman, who was recently graduated from the F.C.D.A. Staff College, at Olney.

The initial phase of the program covers the training of 118 squad leaders who in turn will be responsible for training 429 rescue workers. Training of "light" rescue squads began September 9, 1953, at the Company's Plant School, 2631 Sisson Street, Baltimore.

Among observers at the "light" training course was Colonel Frank Milani, Baltimore Civil Defense Director, and various County Civil Defense officers. Training of "light" rescue squads is scheduled to be completed October 8. The program for "light" rescue work covers 16 hours instruction and includes such subjects as lashing injured personnel to litters, use of ladders and fire extinguishers, ropes, knots and rescue reconnaissance with emphasis on safety first.

The program for "heavy" rescue work will get under way October 12, at the Baltimore County Civil Defense Training Site, near Timonium.

In addition to subjects covered in the "light" rescue training, the program for "heavy" rescue training includes such matters as lowering injured personnel from heights, shoring and bracing, reconnaissance and debris removal, fire fighting, etc. This phase of the training program is expected to be completed by December 18.

The 547 telephone employes being trained will serve on 43 "light" and 69 "heavy" rescue squads.

The former are responsible for rescue work in the building in which they work, whereas the latter, consisting of outside construction people, will be available for rescue work in any telephone building in the area. This training program is designed to equip telephone workers for rescue work in connection with peace time disasters, as well as in the event of an enemy attack.
